ROOSEVELT SON GETS CREDIT FOR LOBBY VICTORY

Law to Fix Prices Is Biggest Success.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Crowning exploit of the price fixing lobby up to date was the enactment of the Tydings-Miller bill to exempt interstate contracts to maintain fixed resale prices on trade-marked articles from application of the federal anti-trust laws.

Brilliant strategy and shrewd manipulations in the right place at the right time enabled the lobby to snatch victory from defeat both in congress and at the White House. Although he had blocked passage of the bill six months before as a monopoly scheme to break down the anti-trust laws, President Roosevelt eventually signed the measure as a "rider" on the District of Columbia revenue bill of 1937.

Thanked for Assistance.

To smooth the path of the project at a time when the President's opposition made the outlook dark, the lobbyists enlisted the services of the President's son and secretary, James. So well pleased were the lobbyists after the President signed the bill that they adopted a resolution thanking Jimmy for his assistance. Questioned today on the character of his services Jimmy denied that he had done any lobbying for the bill.

At the beginning of the 1937 session of congress the wholesale and retail druggists' associations and the grocers launched their campaign for the federal legislation necessary to complete their control of resale prices. At that time they had lobbied through the legislatures of more than thirty states laws requiring retailers to sell trade marked articles at the prices fixed by the manufacturers thereof. This legislation was enacted in the guise of "fair price" measures to protect independent retailers from cutthroat competition by the chain stores and other concerns that got the business by cutting prices.

Many States Pass Laws.

This was one of the most gigantic lobbying operations in history. Eventually more than forty states passed these laws enabling the manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers to maintain fixed prices within individual states and thereby to insure 50 per cent profits on retail sales, as the lobby promised would be the result. What was not known at the time was that the lobby was financed not only by the retailers seeking to boost their profits by fiat but by the wholesalers, like McKesson & Robbins, whose motive was to protect their customers from competition with the chain stores that purchase directly from the manufacturers.

The weakness of the price fixing lobby's position was that only intrastate resale price maintenance contracts were validated by the state laws. A manufacturer in one state and dealers in other states who entered into contracts to maintain fixed resale prices would be liable to prosecution for violation of the Sherman anti-trust and Clayton acts.

Start Fight for Exemption.

So the price fixing lobby set out to procure exemption of such interstate price maintenance contracts from the federal anti-trust laws. The bill providing such exemption was introduced in the house by Representative [now senator] John E. Miller [D., Ark.], and in the senate by Senator Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.]. At that time Senator Tydings' law partner, Herbert Levy of Baltimore, was counsel for the National Retail Druggists association.

No sooner, however, was the project launched than it suffered a staggering blow dealt by the President. Mr. Roosevelt wrote a letter to Vice President Garner as president of the senate, inclosing an adverse report on the bill by the Federal Trade commission.

"The present hazard of undue advances in prices with a resultant rise in the cost of living," Mr. Roosevelt wrote, "makes it most untimely to legalize any competitive or marketing practice calculated to facilitate increases in the cost of numerous and important articles which American householders, and consumers generally, buy."

With respect to the argument that the sort of price cutting known as

REBELS CRACK LOYALIST LINES GUARDING CITY

Capture Ten Towns, Many Prisoners.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], Dec. 25.—(AP)—Spanish rebels reported today their northern armies had driven two spearheads deep into government territory in an offensive aimed at Barcelona.

In the third day of a major battle in which there was no Christmas respite, Generalissimo Francisco Franco's field headquarters said a combined land and air attack had broken defense lines guarding strategic river fortifications in two separated sectors. The rebels announced the capture of ten towns, many prisoners, and large stores of war materials.

Rebels said the offensive was gaining momentum with all the northern columns pressing their advance which had gained from three to five miles.

Driven Over Icy Trails.

In the mountainous area south of Tremp, they said, Moroccan troops forced the defenders back over icy trails and captured four villages east of the Noguera Pallaresa river.

The fighting about twenty miles south of Tremp apparently was localized. The rebels said they first took the towns of Figuerola and Penalda, then forced Catalan militiamen to retire eastward to Vilanova de Meya through Fontllonga.

The weather benefited the campaign which began on Friday in blizzards and subzero cold. The snow had ceased and the temperature had risen.

Large Army Massed.

Both sides pinned great importance on Franco's long awaited drive, the success or failure of which they agreed might be decisive in the war. Arrayed on the snow whitened front were an estimated half a million men in both armies, one of the largest concentrations for a single battle in the more than twenty-nine months of strife.

The broader advance was reported from the region between the wide southerly bend of the Ebro river and the junction of the Lerida, Tarragona and Huesca province borders.

The rebel attack, with war planes, tanks, artillery and troops, swept a front more than thirty miles long. Franco's commanders said they had taken a chain of towns along the whole length of the sector from Almatret to Sarroca.

Win Half Dozen Towns.

Rebel headquarters at Saragossa reported the occupation of six towns on the Segre river front by the Almatret-Sarroca spearhead. The towns captured were named as Granadella, Granena de las Garrigas, Aspa, Alfes, Alcano and Almatret.

In addition, troops advanced to the outskirts of the important government communications center of Pobla de la Granadella and encircled and dominated Cogull, a rebel communique asserted.

Government advices acknowledged there was heavy fighting in the Ebro sector but denied the extent of the rebels' reported gains. They said that in the Tremp sector the rebels had heavy losses.

Barcelona communiques said "Italian troops realized only several advantages which cost them heavy losses" on the Segre river front.

Rebels Enlarge Bridgehead.

Although they acknowledged that Franco's troops had enlarged their Segre bridgehead, they declared the new positions were in isolated, roadless flats and were not dangerous.

Rebel reports said more than 300 tanks participated in the Segre action after artillery had pounded the government lines and large numbers of planes had bombed government troop concentrations and fortifications.

Both sides claimed mastery of the air. Rebels said they had downed twenty-three government planes in two spectacular air battles near Lerida on Saturday. Government communiques said four rebel planes had been shot down.

Rebels Observe Christmas.

BURGOS, Spain, Dec. 25.—(AP)—Tens of thousands of persons crowded snow covered cathedrals in rebel Spain today to celebrate the Nativity and pray for an early peace in the civil war. At the fronts and in hospitals special Christmas dinners were given for the rebel fighters. At many points along the snow filled trenches priests administered communion.

WINTER'S FIRST COLD WAVE MOVES ON CITY; ZERO BLAST EXPECTED

Forecaster J. R. Lloyd warned last night that the first cold wave of the winter was moving swiftly toward Chicago from the northwest. It will spread over northwestern Illinois this afternoon, he said, and the rest of Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan tonight and tomorrow.

The weather man said Chicago's temperature will fall to between zero and 5 above tomorrow morning. Indications are that the rest of the week will be cold.

Mr. Lloyd said he was expecting more snow today. but added there was little likelihood that it will be heavy.

Outdoor enthusiasts enjoyed tobogganing yesterday in the forest preserve.

Gov. Earle and 3 Hurt in His 14th Air Crash

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Gov. George H. Earle, piloting a state-owned airplane, crashed today on Wings field, eighteen miles northwest of Philadelphia—his fourteenth accident in three years of flying. Earle, his wife, and two guests were injured.

The governor incurred a severe leg injury and some cuts. Mrs. Earle had a deep cut on her jaw and lesser cuts on her knees. James McKenzie of Hopkinsville, Ky., a cousin of Mrs. Earle, suffered a broken nose and was treated in Riverview hospital for probable brain concussion. Miss Dixie Moore of Louisville, Ky., McKenzie's fiancée, suffered a deep scalp cut. Both are federal job holders in Washington. They were on a trip from Harrisburg to Philadelphia for a Christmas dinner with the governor's mother.

Landing Speed Blamed.

Gov. Earle's son, George, saw the crash from another plane. Employés of Wings field said the governor probably was out of flying practice and tried to land the three-wheeled Waco cabin plane at too high a speed.

The crash broke off the front wheel of the tricycle landing gear and drove the propeller blade deep into the ground. Earle's son, however, attributed the crash to an attempt to land too slowly.

Bystander Prevents Fire.

Fire after the crash was avoided when a bystander rushed to the plane and shut off the ignition.

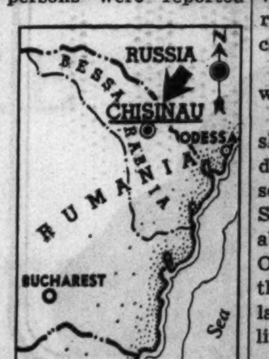
Gov. Earle was grounded for two weeks last July after he had taken a plane aloft in a fog against the orders of Col. Camille Vinet, chief of the state aeronautics bureau, and then crashed in a forced landing near Newton Square.

Packed Bags Stolen; Gets Them Back by Train Time

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 25.—(AP)—While Professor Emeritus Albert Bushnell Hart, 84 years old, Harvard historian, was calling a taxicab to take him to a train for a trip to Chicago tonight three traveling bags were stolen from in front of his apartment near the Harvard yard. Calling the police at Harvard Square, the veteran historian went to the station. Two policemen assigned to the case remembered seeing two men descend into the subway a few moments before carrying traveling bags. The policemen ran downstairs, captured the pair, sped to the station, and Prof. Hart left on time with his baggage.

2 CHRISTMAS TRAINS CRASH IN RUMANIA; 80 KILLED, 150 INJURED

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 25.—(AP)—Eighty persons were reported killed and 150 injured today in a collision of passenger trains in Bessarabia, south of Chisinau [Kishinev].



Arrow locates region where collision happened.

With communications reduced because of the Christmas holiday, railway officials were unable to obtain details of the disaster immediately. They dispatched special train of doctors, nurses, and salvaging equipment from Bucharest, however.

The collision was reported to have occurred on a single track line near Etulea. The trains, both locals, were crowded with persons making Christmas visits from village to village. Officials said it was improbable any foreigners were passengers.

SELL STOWAWAYS TRIPS ON LINER TO U. S. FOR $25

LE HAVRE, Dec. 25.—Two sailors have been arrested and three others are being held for questioning following the discovery of an organization selling "De Luxe stowaway passages" to the United States on French line boats.

A preliminary investigation revealed that the fare "tickets," costing $25 and upward, were good only aboard the Normandie due to complicity among certain members of the crew. Nine stowaways were caught aboard the Normandie after the liner's Dec. 3 sailing had been canceled due to a strike. They included central European refugees and Italians. They were hidden near the tourist class dining room and provided with mattresses and food.

Farmer Wiggins Is Hopeful Next Yule Will Be Better

Huntsville, Ark., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Farmer John Wiggins hopes for a happier holiday season next year. Fire destroyed his home. Wiggins and his family escaped just in time. There was no insurance. Then Wiggins lost a wallet containing $89 and one of his fat hogs escaped from its pen, wandered up to a wire fence and was killed by lightning.

20 Shipwreck Victims Tell of Heroic Rescue

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Rescue of two women and the crew of eighteen men from the sinking Norwegian freighter Smaragd, 500 miles southeast of New York, was described as a miracle by Capt. Bernard W. Larsen when the party was landed today in New York.

The rescue was made by a lifeboat crew from the American freighter Schodack. It was carried out at daybreak Friday in a 60-mile gale with seas running 40 feet high. Not a life was lost and even Capt. Larsen's dog and a puppy were saved.

Officers of the two freighters and Capt. Larsen's daughter, Svanhilde, 18 years old, told of the dangerous exploit. The Norwegians praised the crew of the Schodack and its captain, Clifton Smith, who was rescued in 1916 when the transport he commanded was sunk by a submarine.

Storm Opens Seams.

The Smaragd was leaking slightly when it left Norfolk on Dec. 15 for European ports. When the Atlantic storm was encountered last Thursday, the seams opened wider and the ship began to fill with water.

As the daylight hours passed, the crew was driven out of the hold to the deck and finally to the captain's cabin, where Miss Larsen sang to keep up the courage of her parents and the crew.

Ingwald Tindelund, second officer of the Smaragd, tied rags to a long pole, soaked them with kerosene and made a flare that finally attracted the attention of the Schodack's lookout. The Schodack was far off its usual course or the Smaragd never would have been sighted.

Communicate With Flashers.

J. A. Quinlan, radio officer of the Schodack, flashed his Morse light as soon as the flares were sighted. The Smaragd's signals were unintelligible and the ship was without radio. Then a flashlight began to make dim dots and dashes of the Morse code. The signal was repeated several times before Quinlan was able to make out:

"We are leaking badly. Our engines are broken down. We need assistance."

Quinlan signaled the distressed ship that Capt. Smith would like to wait for daybreak to attempt the rescue, and asked if the Smaragd could hold out.

"We will try; please stand close," was the reply.

The Schodack circled the sinking ship for the rest of the night and dumped 350 barrels of oil into the sea to calm the waters. Then the Schodack stood in at a distance of about 300 yards from the Smaragd. Only one lifeboat remained aboard the sinking craft, and this was launched. Seven men risked their lives to jump into the boat.

Battle Sea to Safety.

The tiny craft fought the sea and finally drew alongside the Schodack, where the occupants were pulled aboard.

Capt. Larsen had refused to allow his wife and daughter to leave the ship aboard the tiny lifeboat, fearing it would be smashed. As soon as the seven crew members were safely aboard the Schodack, Carl Bentson, the Schodack's second officer, and a volunteer crew launched one of the Schodack's boats.

When rescue of the Larsens and the ten remaining members of the crew was completed, the Schodack resumed its course toward New York.

Capt. Larsen and his family went to a New York hotel today for Christmas dinner after thanking Capt. Smith and his crew. The Larsens will live in Brooklyn until the skipper has found another berth. The Smaragd crew had Christmas dinner in the Norwegian Seamen's home.

G. O. P. EXPECTS TO GAIN 10 SEATS IN CITY COUNCIL

Optimism Based on Vote Analysis.

BY PARKE BROWN.

In at least ten of Chicago's fifty wards Republican leaders expect to wrest city council seats from the Democrats in the aldermanic elections of Feb. 28 and April 4.

The calculations are based on results of the Nov. 8 state and county election and comparison of these returns with the party figures recorded in the presidential and governorship election of 1936. The ten wards under scrutiny either jumped from the Democratic column of 1936 to the Republican column of 1938 or came so close to it that a moderate continuation of the trend shown would put them into the Republican list on the next balloting.

Party Labels Absent.

Chicago aldermanic elections are on a nonpartisan basis. That is, there are no party labels on the candidates on the ballot. But it is always a party ward organization that elects the winner in each ward. Having a greater proportion of independents than the Democrats, the G. O. P. has been less successful in the past in putting over its aldermanic candidates. But there is an abnormally strong tendency this year among Republican ward units to play the straight sort of party politics.

The leaders have been encouraged because the total party vote increased in the wards under discussion and because the straight Republican vote rose to an even greater degree. This is accepted as proof that the swing is not one between candidates, but from one party to the other.

Material in support of the argument is encountered in a survey of the various wards. It also is clearly set forth in results of the voting in the city as a whole. In 1936 the straight ballots constituted 69.41 per cent of the entire vote. In 1938 the percentage jumped to 71.9 per cent.

Change in Straight Ballots.

The total Democratic straights in 1936 was 798,672, or 67.28 per cent of all straight ballots cast. In 1938 the total of Democratic straights fell to 643,836, or 62.49 per cent. The actual Democrat decrease in straight ballots was 154,836.

Applying the same analysis to the G. O. P., it was found that the total of Republican straights in 1936 was 388,312, or 32.72 of all the straight ballots cast. The 1938 figures showed that the Republicans cast 386,308 straights, or 37.51 per cent. The shift from the Democratic to Republican side amounted to 4.79 per cent of all the straight votes cast.

It was found that the Democratic straight vote in 1936 was 46.35 per cent of the entire vote cast; that it dropped in 1938 to 44.94 per cent. On the other hand, the Republican straight vote was 22.69 per cent of the entire vote cast in 1936 and 26.96 in 1938. Democratic straights dropped 1.41 per cent and Republican straights rose 4.27 per cent.

Independent Wards Switch.

That most of this increase occurred in politically independent wards accounts for the Republican optimism. There may be other wards where, for local reasons, the same thing may occur, but in the ten wards discussed, the G. O. P. chances are considered first class because of the figures alone.

Eight council seats are now listed as Republican. One of them is the vacancy in the 4th ward created by the death of Ald. B. A. Cronson. Another is the 6th ward place held by Ald. John F. Healy, who, although he ran for the council originally as a Republican, is considered as owing continued possession of it to Democratic support.

Five of these eight places are from south side wards, and the other three are scattered in the west, northwest, and north sides.

Analyze Vote in Ten Wards.

In numerical order, the ten wards considered the most favorable, with an analysis of the 1936 and 1938 voting records, are the following:

Eighth—Ald. M. F. Mulcahy incumbent. Went Democratic by 5,583 in 1936 and Republican by 2,063 in 1938. In 1936 the ward cast 14,489 straight Democratic ballots and only 9,067 in 1938. In the former year the Democratic straight ballots exceeded the Republicans' by 2,347, and last month there were 2,028 more Republican than Democratic straights.

Seventeenth—Ald. William T. Murphy, incumbent. Democrats carried the ward for Roosevelt in 1936 by 5,722 and on last Nov. 8 carried it for Scott W. Lucas for senator by only 359. In straight votes the Democrats lost 3,543 and the Republican straight count dropped only 1,040.

Nineteenth—Ald. John J. Duffy incumbent. Republican by only 2,714 in 1936 but by 5,575 last month. There was little change in the ratio of straight ballots, indicating that the independent vote had swung back to the Republicans, where it used to be.

Thirty-sixth—Ald. George W. Robinson incumbent. For Roosevelt by 11,230 majority two years ago but gave Congressman Lucas a lead of only 1,026 this year. Cast 6,552 more straight Democratic than straight Republican votes in 1936 but this year the Democratic lead in straights fell to 1,716.

Thirty-seventh—Ald. Roger J. Kiley incumbent. Carried by Roosevelt by 6,251 but gave Richard J. Lyons, the 1938 candidate for United States senator, a lead of 1,315. There were 4,283 more straight Democratic votes than Republican straights in 1936 but the Democratic advantage this year dropped to 831. The voters who scratched their ballots went Republican.

Democratic Lead Cut.

Thirty-eighth—Ald. P. J. Cullerton incumbent. A 1936 lead for Roosevelt of 11,192 was cut to 877 last November. The Democratic lead in straight votes fell from 6,899 to 2,029. The Republican straight vote total increased from 9,727 to 11,432. The Democratic total of straights dropped from 16,626 to 13,461.

Forty-first—Ald. William J. Cowhey incumbent. Plurality for Roosevelt by 6,964 but last month went Republican by 2,100, a difference of more than 9,000 votes. Total Democratic straights fell from 13,042 to 10,718. Republican straights increased from 9,858 to 10,974, giving the G. O. P. a lead of 176.

Forty-seventh — Ald. Albert F. Schulz, incumbent. Roosevelt's majority was 5,363 two years ago, but this year Senatorial Candidate Lyons had a lead of 4,208. In 1936 there were 2,967 more straight Democratic than straight Republican votes. On Nov. 8 there were 1,836 more straight Republican ballots than there were straight Democratic.

Hopeful in 49th, 50th.

Forty-ninth—Ald. Frank Keenan, incumbent. Democratic in 1936 by 3,451 and Republican in 1938 by 2,482. Two years ago the Democratic straights beat the Republican straights by 3,867. This year the Republicans cast 1,116 more straights than the Democrats.

Fiftieth—Ald. James R. Quinn, incumbent. Democratic in 1936 by 1,517 and Republican this year by 5,044. Two years ago there were 290 more straight Democratic votes than there were Republican. This year there were 2,601 more straight Republican ballots than there were Democratic.

The two additional wards in which Republican leaders think there is a chance for their party are the thirty-ninth, now represented by Ald. H. L. Brody, and the forty-sixth, of which James F. Young is the present alderman. The 1936 Democratic lead of 9,709 in the thirty-ninth was cut to 1,759 this year. The forty-sixth in 1936 went Democratic by 9,814 and this year by only 1,635.

GREEN FOR MAYOR OFFICE OPENS IN LOOP TOMORROW

Plan Sectional Headquarters for Every Ward.

Central headquarters for the candidacy of Dwight H. Green, regular Republican organization choice for the mayoralty nomination, will be opened in the La Salle hotel tomorrow. During the week sectional headquarters will be opened in each of the city's fifty wards. Regular Republican ward committeemen will be in charge of forty-eight of the headquarters.

Mr. Green will spend a busy week making plans for his active campaign, which will start immediately after the New Year holiday. In addition to the regular divisions the central headquarters will contain two special groups interested in Green's candidacy.

Veterans Support Him.

One of these groups will include war veterans and flyers who are anxious to support one of their members. Mr. Green is a former army pilot and flying instructor and is the first war veteran and also the first flyer to be a candidate for mayor.

The other group will include members of the legal profession. Green is a member and active leader in the Chicago, Illinois, and American bar associations. He is also a member of the Federal Bar association, the Law Club of Chicago and the Phi Alpha Delta law fraternity.

Plans Kansas City Trip.

One of the highlights of the candidate's busy week will be a trip to Kansas City where he will preside as supreme justice at the national convention of Phi Alpha Delta. This will keep him away from the city Thursday and Friday.

Mr. Green said yesterday that he expected his campaign will be going at mid-February speed before the end of next week. A routine of ward meetings, it was said, also will be started on his return from the law fraternity convention.

The Republican candidate spent yesterday with his family. Many friends called to wish him success.

Jugo-Slavia Expects Visit by Italian Foreign Minister

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Dec. 25.—Well informed political circles say Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano will visit this capital in mid-January. The projected visit is interpreted as an Italian effort to establish relations similar to those existing between Rome and Budapest.

Rebels Crack Barcelona Defense

Two rebel spearheads yesterday plunged deep into loyalist territory on the third day of a drive aimed at Barcelona. The rebels reported the capture of four towns in the Tremp sector and six more south of Lerida. The rebels also seized many prisoners and much war material.

MODERN APE MEN ENDANGER WORLD, SCIENTISTS FEAR

Richmond, Va., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—The American Association for the Advancement of Science, largest scientific body of its kind in the world, which convenes here Tuesday for its 103d meeting, will be concerned with the danger that modern ape men will wreck civilization with its own inventions.

Among the inner councils of the leading scientists gathered here a feeling is observed, because of world events during the last few months that the intellectual and moral forces of the world face a race against time. They believe heroic measures must be taken by men of science, who have forged the very weapons that now threaten to destroy man.

For instance the airplane, scientists here observe ruefully, signaled one of man's greatest triumphs, yet the airplane is now threatening to wipe out whole cities and populations, and the radio is utilized as a weapon for spreading hate and bitterness among the peoples of the earth. As one scientist put it: "The superman has created the airplane and the radio, the ape man has got a hold on them.

Japan Negotiates for Five American Cargo Vessels

TOKIO, Dec. 25.—(AP)—The newspaper Yomiuri reported today that a Japanese shipping firm, which it did not name, was negotiating for the purchase of five American freighters to bolster Japan's merchant marine, particularly for transportation of military supplies and industrial machinery to China.

JAP PLANES BOMB CHINESE TOWNS OVER WIDE AREA

SHANGHAI, Dec. 25.—(AP)—Japanese bombers systematically raided important Chinese cities today in three provinces. At Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi province, 100 houses were destroyed and a direct hit demolished a dugout on the grounds of the Baptist church.

Wuchow, a strategic defense point blocking Japanese invasion of Kwangsi province in South China, again was bombarded from the air. Frequent air raids have caused at least half of the Wuchow civilian population to migrate inland up the West river. Two persons were killed, seven others wounded and ten houses destroyed in an air raid on Sian, capital of Shensi province, straddling the main trade route between China and soviet Russia.

Changteh, in Hunan province, also was raided.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

REVISED RELIEF PLAN DEMANDED BY VANDENBERG

Senator Will Seek to Cut Cost of Program.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] today put forward his personal program for the approaching 76th congress.

Vandenberg listed the following as his special interests in the session which convenes Jan. 3:

1. Reorganization of the relief system to provide more relief for less money by returning administrative responsibilities to the states.

2. Revision of the social security act to eliminate the full reserve fund provision for old age benefit payments. He said he wanted to "eliminate the possibility the reserve may reach the nonsensical total of 47 billion dollars by 1980."

Opposes Tax on Thrift.

3. Elimination of "the last vestige of the iniquitous undistributed profits tax on thrift."

4. Reasonable experimentation with "the new idea of incentive taxation" to encourage business men to try profit-sharing or other desired policies.

5. Recapture by congress of powers delegated to the President under various emergency acts.

6. Keeping the United States out of foreign wars.

"If the President asks congress to permit him to identify aggressor nations and apply American sanctions," said Vandenberg, "I'll try to see he doesn't get what he asks." Vandenberg is a member of the senate foreign relations committee.

Seeks Balanced Budget.

As a member also of the senate finance committee, Vandenberg said he was interested in a balanced budget and pledged himself to vote for all economy measures which might be submitted by the administration.

"I'm anxious to see the budget balanced before my grandson grows old and dies," he said.

He agreed with Minority Leader Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.] that it was not the business of congress to go on record against a third term for the President. If the senate was asked to vote on the question, Vandenberg said, he would oppose a third term. But he added: "I certainly won't raise the question."

Vandenberg, a member of the social security board's advisory committee, fought last session for a smaller reserve for old age payments. The committee considered his proposal in its recent meetings.

Proposal Brushed Aside.

"When, two years ago, I presented 71 heads of life insurance concerns who said the reserve required by the social security act was not necessary, the exhibit was brushed aside as an annoyance," Vandenberg asserted.

"But now that the official administrative council on social security has vindicated my position, I would expect some degree of reality to percolate through the situation."

Vandenberg declined to discuss proposals for revision of the labor relations act. Last session he suggested its amendment to permit appeal to the labor board by employers embroiled in labor disputes.

He concluded by saying that Senator-elect Robert A. Taft [R., O.] would be a good choice for Republican Presidential candidate in 1940. Taft recently described Vandenberg as in the lead in the field of potential candidates.

Dancer-Evangelist

Dorothy Young, age 27, former night club dancer turned evangelist. Her father is a retired Methodist minister.

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Dorothy Young, a professional dancer for eight years, has given up night club entertainment for a career in the paths of her father, the Rev. Dr. Robert Young, a Methodist minister. She will start shortly on a tour of the United States to conduct revival meetings.

When 16 years old Miss Young overcame her father's objection and entered a Pittsburgh ballet school. She ran away from the school to attend a chorus training school in New York. When 19 she was dancing in the movies. Then came parts in several New York shows. Next she teamed with a male partner and they toured the country.

A year ago Miss Young told Gilbert Kiamie, her partner, that she was through with dancing. She returned to her father's home in Allenhurst, N. Y., and told him she wanted to help him supervise the Elim Home for Missionaries. Now, at 27, Miss Young is ready to devote her life to religion. "I have found myself through evangelism," she said today. Miss Young divorced her husband a few years ago. She has a son 8 years old.

TOWN PRESENTS EARL WITH LEG FOR CHRISTMAS

Coatesville, Pa., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Earl Baker, 11 years old, found a new leg in his Christmas stocking today—an artificial one. The gift of sympathetic friends in this community, it replaces the right leg Earl lost eight months ago when he took a dare to hop a moving freight train.

A stranger told Earl shortly after his accident that if he would collect 50,000 match box covers he could exchange them for an artificial limb. So Earl started gathering the covers. Then came disillusioning news. The stranger's tale was a hoax.

Earl's mother, a widow with eight other children, could not afford to spend $250 for an artificial leg. But Earl's story reached sympathetic ears. Mayor A. R. Bergstrom announced municipal offices were open for the collection of funds to buy Earl a leg. Within a week the fund was oversubscribed by nearly $150. The surplus will be kept in a trust fund, administered by city officials, for repairs and replacement of the leg.

Joseph Urbanski, 49 years old, an unemployed butcher, was found hanged yesterday in the living room of his home at 1034 West 47th place.

TROOPS PATROL PLANT; WORKERS CELEBRATE YULE

Tulsa, Okla., Dec. 25.—(AP)—National Guardsmen today patroled the strike bound West Tulsa refinery of the Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation.

The troops took charge on arrival last night, a few hours after Gov. E. W. Marland issued a mobilization order. Outward quiet prevailed through the holiday, with pickets aligned outside the zone under martial law.

For an estimated 300 other employes, however, the coming of the militia meant they would see their families and Christmas trees. Most of them had been inside the plant since the walkout Thursday. Col. Charles A. Holden, commander of the guard units, announced on his arrival that they were free to go home.

4 Killed and 4 Injured in Automobile Collision

Leon, Ia., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Four persons were killed and four were injured in an automobile collision south of here today. The dead are George Cox, 75 years old; Mrs. Cox, his wife, 69, Leon farmers; Mrs. Fred Harriman, 30, and her daughter, Wanda, 3, of Des Moines.

A DOOR HANDLE LEADS POLICE TO HIT-RUN DRIVER

Youth, 19, Panic Stricken at Death of Victim.

When a hit and run automobile killed an elderly pedestrian in Blue Island last evening, the impact broke a handle off one of the doors. A witness noticed the make of the car although he was too far away to get the license number. In an hour and a half, Policemen William LaMore and Fabian Mitchell had the driver in custody.

He is Paul Jenin, 19 years old, a stock handler in the Fisher Body corporation plant at Lansing, Mich. He was arrested as he was attempting to eat Christmas dinner in the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary Jenin, at 3005 Vermont street, Worth township. Also at the table was Miss Maxine Hedden, 16, of 2220 West 120th street, Blue Island, who was with Jenin at the time of the accident. It happened a quarter of a mile away in the western limits of Blue Island.

Becomes Panic Stricken.

The victim was William Freiberg, 66 years old, of 2338 Olive street in the suburb. Jenin said he turned his car around, stopped to look at the body, then became panic stricken, and sped to his mother's house. A railroad crossing watchman, Emil Suzin, saw the accident from his tower and told Policemen La More and Mitchell it was a distinctive model put out a few years ago.

They knew there were only a few of these in the suburb and that Jenin had one. The broken handle fitted his car and the arrest followed.

Four Chicagoans Die in Crash.

Four Chicagoans were killed yesterday and two injured in an automobile collision on route 20, ten miles east of Angola, Ind.

The dead are William Olshonsky, 30 years old, 4301 Kedzie avenue; his wife, Fay, 24; a relative, Mrs. Sonia Brockstein, 35, and Mrs. Sarah Lerner, 26, of 47 South La Grange road, La Grange. The injured are Mrs. Lerner's husband, Albert, and Mrs. Fay Simon, 2054 North Sawyer avenue. All are in the Angola hospital.

The driver of the other car, Fred McKeen of Detroit, was suffering from shock and was unable to give details of the accident. His wife, mother-in-law, and two children also were hurt. A transport truck driven by Glen Danielson, Detroit, ran into a ditch immediately after the accident to avoid hitting the two cars. Danielson was not hurt.

Howard Lattin, 16 years old, 3206 Enoch avenue, Zion, was killed yesterday when he and two other youths riding on a motorcycle overturned on West 21st street between Jordan and Joppa avenues in the suburb.

Richard Brooks, 26, of 801 West 6th avenue, Gary, Ind., was killed in a headon collision at 105th street and Cicero avenue, Oak Lawn. The driver of the other car, Albert Kozzie, 43, of 3539 Wentworth avenue, a bartender, incurred a broken leg.

Dies of Injuries.

George Blum, 23, of 4841 South Kedvale avenue, died in the County hospital of injuries suffered Saturday when he was struck by a car at Pulaski road and 53d street. The car was driven by Edward Termaat, 34, of 2806 West 59th street.

Adolph Candeli, 48, of 272 North Francisco avenue, died in the same hospital of injuries suffered Friday when he was hit by a car at Washington boulevard and Francisco avenue. Harry Wilson, 31, of 3718½ Douglas boulevard, was the driver.

Killed by Accident Injuries.

Thomas Robinson, 42 years old, died in the Wesley Memorial hospital yesterday of injuries incurred Saturday after he was struck by an automobile at State street and Cermak road. The driver, Mrs. Kathleen Johnson, 2710 Leland avenue, took him to the hospital.

Thomas Durawa, 67, of 2017 McLean avenue, died in St. Elizabeth hospital yesterday of injuries incurred Friday when he was struck by an automobile at Milwaukee avenue and Augusta boulevard. The car was driven by Frank Kolasinski, 36, of 1642 North Wood street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 885 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 679 were killed in Chicago, where 20,226 were injured during the same period.

An Unintended Christmas Loan Repaid with Thanks

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Eight years ago, before she was married, Mrs. Agnes Wright McFarland lost her pay envelope containing $16 at Christmas time. Early today a young man knocked at the door of the McFarland home, asked if Agnes Wright lived there, and handed Mrs. McFarland an envelope containing sixteen one dollar bills and this note: "This amount was found some time ago in your pay envelope. I needed it at the time and I am sending it to you now—Merry Christmas."

Confesses Rape Slaying of Girl in Minneapolis

Spokane, Wash., Dec. 26 [Monday].—(AP)—Police today said that James Leo Smith, 40 years old, a Minnesota laborer, had confessed the rape slaying of Laura Kruse in Minneapolis two years ago. Miss Kruse, who was 18 years old, was a student in a beauty culture school. She was found strangled in the rear of a vacant house after a party.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

LIGHT JUMPING! A COMMON FAULT AND BAD HABIT

Big Factor in Chicago's Trafic Accident Record.

BY HAL FOUST.

Chicago automobile drivers disregard trafic lights. This is a factor in the community's accident record, which is higher than any American city of more than 500,000 population with the single exception of Los Angeles. It is an argument for a proposal to provide for a city-wide trafic patrol in the 1939 budget pending before the council.

The extent of this laxity was illustrated by Harold Moore, engineer for the Chicago Motor club. In observations at nine intersections for a total of 3 hours 58 minutes, he counted forty-one entering and crossing against the red light. This is at a rate of one every 10 minutes. Previously, he obtained similar results in a study of stop sign performance by Chicago drivers.

Jump Amber Lights.

Disobedience of the amber light is even more common than jumping the red. In less than four hours, Moore counted 262 cars continuing illegally through intersections during the amber preceding red. He tallied 145 other drivers for illegally starting through the intersection during the amber preceding the green.

The Chicago trafic code, a standardized ordinance, defines the meanings of these two amber intervals as follows:

"Yellow or caution light, when shown following the green or go light—trafic facing the signal shall stop before entering the nearest cross walk at the intersection unless so close to the intersection that a stop cannot be made in safety.

"Yellow or caution light, when shown following the red or stop light—trafic facing the signal shall remain standing until the green is shown alone."

The amber light is an interval for trafic in one direction to clear the intersection before the cross movement is started. That is the way it operates, for example, in Milwaukee where the motor death rate per 100,000 population is 29 per cent of the Chicago massacre.

In Chicago's unpoliced motoring habits, the amber is commonly interpreted to "go" for trafic in two directions. This accounts for more deaths and injuries than outright disobedience of the red light. Chicago's undermanned accident investigation department reports a twelve months' toll of 11 dead and 273 injured from running the red light.

In the heart of the business district, with a policeman on duty there at the time, Mr. Moore counted three passenger cars and four trucks entering the intersection of Clark and Madison streets after the lights had turned red. This was between 10:03 and 10:34 a. m. During the same 31 minutes, twenty-four vehicles started across the street during the yellow before the green, and nineteen other vehicles continued although they might have been stopped during the amber preceding the red. Ten pedestrians have been hit and there were three right angle vehicular collisions at this crossing in twelve months.

More Trafic Violations.

Observations at outlying intersections produced similar scores, including the following:

Ashland avenue and 35th street—Entered on red, 11; entered illegally on amber, 39; observation time, 32 minutes; year's accidents, 32.

Cermak road and Western avenue—Entered on red, 5; entered illegally on amber, 46; observation time, 17 minutes; year's accidents, 25.

Halsted and 39th streets—Entered on red, 8; entered illegally on amber, 42; observation time, 30 minutes; year's accidents, 18.

Ashland avenue and 48th street—Entered on red, 1; entered illegally on amber, 46; observation time, 14 minutes; year's accidents, 16.

Halsted and 95th streets—Entered on red, 2; entered illegally on amber, 48; observation time, 23 minutes; year's accidents, 32.

Augusta boulevard and Western avenue—Entered on red, 4; entered illegally on amber, 46; observation time, 29 minutes; year's accidents, 29 minutes.

"With efficient policing," said George Barton, safety engineer of the motor club, "Chicago can improve its driving habits. From such an improvement, there should be a reduction in accidents comparable to the 48 per cent cut in fatalities that Detroit has effected this year through a modernization of its enforcement methods."

MRS. MONA ATTERBURY.

Canon City, Colo., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Four recent reports of peeping toms in the residence district of Canon City gave District Attorney M. E. M. Eagleton a theory today that a peeping tom may have strangled Mrs. Mona Atterbury to death last Wednesday. Dr. R. L. Atterbury found his wife dead at the foot of the cellar steps when he returned home from making a call. Mrs. Atterbury was 31 years old. She was prominent in club work and had been married to Dr. Atterbury for eighteen months. A coroner's jury returned an open verdict in her death.

Woman, 64, Dies of Injuries in Crash Fatal to Husband

East St. Louis, Ill., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, 64 years old, of Gillespie, died today of injuries incurred last night in an automobile accident in which her husband, John L. Smith, 73, was killed.

ROOSEVELT SON GETS CREDIT FOR LOBBY VICTORY

Price Fixing Act Ranks as Biggest Success.

"loss leaders" is an economic evil that should be eradicated, the trade commission questioned whether "injury done to the consumers' interests through the elimination of dealer competition with respect to price-maintained articles would be greater than the damage now alleged to be done to the interests of manufacturers and distributors of trade marked nationally advertised brands when they are used as leaders.

Thereafter for months the bill was regarded as dead beyond resurrection. It was pigeonholed in both houses in the belief that it would be vetoed if it should ever reach the White House.

President Signs, Denounces Bill.

The strategy finally adopted was to attach the bill to the District of Columbia tax bill in the closing days of the session in August, 1937. Senator Tydings succeeded in getting this done in the senate. The house accepted the amendment.

The President signed the bill on Aug. 17, issuing at the same time a statement denouncing the attachment of the rider to a major bill in order to procure its acceptance by the executive. He took the position he could not veto the bill without depriving the District of Columbia of revenue for its functions.

This was recognized as a thin excuse. He could have vetoed the entire bill whereupon congress either would have repassed the bill over the veto or have detached the price fixing rider to which the President objected.

"I have decided," said the President, "to sign the bill in the hope that it will not be as harmful as most people predict, and I call attention to the fact that one of the principal objections to the rider is that the departments opposing it believe it will seriously raise the cost of many articles to the consuming public."

It has been rumored for some time that James Roosevelt was giving potent assistance to the price fixing lobby. Corroborative evidence appeared in the shape of the following resolution adopted by the Massachusetts State Pharmaceutical association:

"Whereas, the Massachusetts State Pharmaceutical association, in convention assembled, has learned . . . of the active coöperation of James Roosevelt, son of the President of the United States, on behalf of expediting the passage of the much needed Tydings act. . . .

"Be it therefore resolved: That the secretary convey to James Roosevelt the thanks of the convention for his coöperation in protecting the small merchants."

Asked today the character of the coöperation he gave, James Roosevelt said:

"All I did was to receive a delegation of merchants and transmit to the departments the memorials and certain statistical tables and other figures submitted in support of the legislation."

TELL EVIDENCE ON DRINKING AS ACCIDENT CAUSE

Report Results of Tests to Highway Board.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—New evidence bearing on the relation of drinking to safe driving and the value of so-called tests for accident proneness of drivers was reported to the highway research board at its eighteenth annual meeting here.

The alcohol data came from Lieut. F. M. Kreml of Northwestern university, one of the country's experts in this and other highway safety fields. He found that alcohol in the amount of 0.5 parts of alcohol per 1,000 parts of blood was not "necessarily a significant cause of accidents," but pointed out that data in the study "confirm a self-evident fact that alcohol is a major cause of automobile accidents."

Drivers Involved in Accidents.

His information was based on a study of the drinking of drivers involved in personal injury accidents and of the drinking of drivers in the general population. Two hundred and seventy persons have been studied in the first class and 1,750 in the second.

According to his findings:

The largest number of drinking drivers occurs in the early evening and over the week-end.

The peak age for drinking drivers is from 25 to 30.

Women drink and drive as much as men when the number of women driving at various hours of the day is considered.

Percentage Varies.

The percentage of drinking drivers in the general population varies as does the percentage of drinking drivers in the personal injury accident group, but falls considerably lower at all times.

The percentage or number of drivers involved in personal injury accidents varies as does the percentage or number of drinking drivers.

As the blood alcohol content increases the number of drivers appearing in the personal injury accident group increases out of all proportion over that in the general driving population.

Make Tests in Connecticut.

Percy W. Cobb, a research associate of the Highway Research board, reported some of the results of tests on 3,663 drivers of Connecticut in 1936 and 1937, in connection with the accident rates of 3,161 of the group determined from state records in order to show accident proneness.

"These tests have great potential usefulness," said Prof. Harry M. Johnson of Tulane university.

"An employer of many drivers could profitably use them in selecting applicants for driving jobs. For example, the tests enable one to pick out 27 per cent of the drivers whose accident rates are only 37 per cent, or a little more than one-third as high as the accident rates of the remainder of the group."

KILLED BY A GUN ACCIDENT; BABY IN ARMS UNHURT

Joseph P. Ashknas, 45 years old, a CCC worker, was shot and fatally wounded last evening at 2013 Canalport avenue while holding a 4 month old baby in his arms. Witnesses said he was shot by Albert Brewer, 32, a porter in a tavern at that address. The baby was not injured.

Ashknas, who is assigned to a CCC camp near Grafton, Ill., called on Brewer for the holiday. Together they went to the home of William Clay, a mutual friend, on the second floor. While Ashknas was holding Clay's baby son, Gerald, Brewer dropped a revolver he was examining. The gun was discharged, the bullet striking his friend in the abdomen.

Brewer picked up the weapon and fled. He is being sought by the Maxwell street police. Ashknas died on the way to the County hospital.

Farmer Dies After Cattle Stampede and Crush Him

Rochelle, Ill., Dec. 25.—[Sepcial.]—Edwin G. Dunne, 62 years old, a farmer living near Ashton, died late yesterday at Lincoln hospital of injuries incurred Friday when a herd of cattle stampeded and crushed him against a barn door. His widow and a daughter survive. Funeral services will be held Tuesday.

LORETTA YOUNG AND BUCKNER AT MASS TOGETHER

(Picture on back oage.)

1939 TO BE YEAR OF ADJUSTMENT IN CITY'S SCHOOLS

Johnson Seeks to Smooth Kinks in System.

Superintendent William H. Johnson said yesterday that the Chicago schools have completed a period of innovation and renovation and that 1939 would be devoted to making the educational machine, in its present form, work smoothly.

Three years ago the superintendent started a campaign to make the schools more efficient aids to pupils who did not intend going on to college. To this end many additional facilities for vocational training were added. While there was much criticism, it is Dr. Johnson's belief that the changes have been beneficial.

Believes System Is Fairer.

"We are not trying to dragoon pupils into vocational courses," he said. "There is still ample opportunity for strictly academic work. But we believe the school system is now much more fair to the 90 per cent who do not intend to carry on into college. No rapid changes may be expected next year. We shall devote ourselves to ironing out the kinks that are inevitable when there is a break with tradition."

Dr. Johnson said the board of education planned to spend $6,710,000 for new buildings in 1939, and that this would aid greatly in the campaign to eliminate portable school rooms. A total of eighteen buildings and additions is contemplated.

Vocational classes for elementary school pupils are to be modernized. There are now about 1,200 of these pupils, whose aptitudes for manual training rather than bookish education has been marked.

Tells Results of Plan.

"We do not consider these children as retarded mentally," said Maj. Frank L. Beals, assistant in charge of special schools. "They go where their inclinations and abilities lead them, and many of them, after taking the vocational courses, return to the other classes."

One of the principal objects of these classes will be to rebuild self-respect among the pupils, many of whom are over age.

Maj. Beals said the traditional wood shop course would be turned into a laboratory of industrial processes in which clay, glass and concrete meterials would be used. The attention of the pupils will be directed to useful work in electricity, aeronautics and ceramics. Drawing classes will include show card writing, map making, graphs and blue prints. Girls will be instructed in household purchasing and cooking.

FOUR PRISONERS PUT DEPUTY IN CELL AND FLEE

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Four prisoners shattered Christmas night quiet at the Douglas county jail tonight by dashing to freedom from their sixth floor cells. The prisoners, Marion Brown, Fred J. Roberts, Phil Erwin and Paul Romano, seized and thrust Deputy Joe Rosenbloom into a cell. Then, they slugged Deputy Frank Johnson with an improvised blackjack, tied him up in the jail office and took the elevator down from the cellblock. Leaving the elevator on the third floor, they walked down the rest of the way to the main floor, where Night Watchman Fred Johnson said the fleeing men slugged him. Brown, Erwin, and Roberts are robbers and Romano was convicted as a narcotics peddler.

Robbers Slug Watchman, Bind 1, Take $1,000, Safe

Thomas Calamaris' grocery at 104 North Bluff street, Joliet, was closed yesterday because of the Christmas holiday. But three robbers entered by a window, slugged the watchman, Sam Rufus, then prowled through the store. When Calamaris' son, John, entered to fill a rush order, the men tied him up with an apron. Then they shoved the store safe, containing $1,000, into their automobile and sped away. Rufus, who is 70 years old, was treated for head wounds.

DOES BUSINESS NEED POETS?

By CALEB

"IF THE time has never arrived before, it is coming now, when we will find it not only helpful but vital for us to carry more of the poetic sympathy, sense of justice and humane understanding with us into our business offices. After all, if a little poetry after hours is good for the soul of man, isn't it just as possible that a little more poetry during hours would be good for the soul of business?"

So writes a man of business in a recent business journal going to businessmen readers. And his statements stem from the fact that he has "known men who have sacrificed everything for the sake of money-grabbing, and . . . seen most of them wind up with a mouth full of ashes." Intelligent analysis of his plea discloses both its justice and its timeliness.

Even the average citizen who "has no time for" poetry in his own reading is none the less instinctively aware of the Poet's presence and import in the marketplace. The most indifferent of us sense that it is he, if anyone, who stands for the great yet simple verities like faith, honor, beauty, harmony and truth . . . and is preoccupied with interpreting and emphasizing their worth to his fellowmen. And it is from that point of view that the writer quoted above has felt, and voiced, the need for such an interpreter and emphasizer in Business.

Much unnecessary vagueness attaches to the person we call a poet. He is conceived of as eccentric—apart from normal week-day concerns—a cloud-treader, with mystical eyes, flowing locks, and an air always of absorbed aloofness. Yet the Edna Millays, Sandburgs, Robinsons, Frosts and Masefields of the day are so far unlike such a concept that they could easily be taken, in a crowd, for Smiths, Joneses or Browns . . . certainly not for poets. And in their work is a quality of kin-ness to all things human that lends point to their appropriateness in the commercial scene.

After all, the businessman and poet have tremendously in common a certain creative function—which each fulfills in his own fashion. The executive's "poems" emerge as things: markets, merchandise, operations, products and stockholders' reports. The poet's "business" emerges as thoughts: justice, sympathy, understanding, appreciation; and the activities of both are susceptible of easy alliance. When businesslike poets and poetical businessmen join hands, the world is at once better off—both in the affluence of its business and in the influence of its poetry.

NAVY CONFIDENT OF COPING WITH DEFENSE NEEDS

Unruffled by Roosevelt's Continental Policy.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—The American navy is little concerned with President Roosevelt's shift from national defense to continental defense, under which this nation would bar any attempt at aggression in the new world from the Arctic to the Antarctic.

The promulgation of the new policy created little more than a ripple in the navy department as the navy high command always has felt that it might be called upon to uphold the Monroe Doctrin and built its fleet with an eye to such a call. On the other hand, the army never before has concerned itself with defense of more than continental United States and its possessions.

Expect Atlantic Expansion.

It is expected that there will be some expansion of the recently recreated Atlantic fleet. The fleet would be needed to convoy possible expeditionary forces to Latin America to afford protection against aggression from without the hemisphere. This would make necessary only a relatively small outlay of additional funds.

The navy high command is more concerned over the recent developments in Europe. Many high ranking officers have come to feel that America must not count too heavily upon Great Britain to patrol the Atlantic with her mighty fleet. With Britain backing down before Germany's Adolf Hitler at Munich, many officers feel that serious consideration must be given to maintaining a two fleet navy—one in the Pacific and the other in the Atlantic.

Counts on Joint Alliance.

However, no immediate consideration is being given to the question. The majority of officers hold that to maintain two equal forces would violate all military precepts and would be both impractical and impossible. Nor has such an idea developed within the administration, which is counting on an alliance, written or unwritten, under which Britain would patrol the Atlantic and the United States the Pacific.

Besides the tremendous cost of building two fleets—3 billion for an Atlantic squadron's initial construction—the American shipyards are already crowded with vessels on the ways under the present building and expansion programs. The navy high command believes that an orderly program of some twenty vessels a year will bring superior ships and bring a naval strength second to none in ample time for any emergency.

Foresee Unaltered Status.

The Atlantic squadron is destined, according to naval experts, to remain what it is for many years to come—a relatively small group of ships recently commissioned or out of drydock preparing to join the main fleet. Some over-age vessels probably will be added to the Atlantic squadron from time to time. Naval officers scoff at reports that the Atlantic fleet is to be built up to a dozen superbattleships, two score cruisers, eight aircraft carriers, and a proportionate representation of destroyers and submarines.

The budget Mr. Roosevelt will present to the coming congress will ask for twenty-two combat and several auxiliary ships for the navy. Funds will be asked to lay the keels in 1940 of two battleships, probably of 45,000 tons, the mightiest in the history of the navy; four cruisers of 6,000 tons, eight destroyers, and eight submarines. Plans call for similar construction programs for the years immediately ahead.

15 Battleships in Navy.

There are fifteen battleships in the navy at present, one of which is over-age. Six are under construction. The navy goal is eighteen capital ships, but this will not be reached for many years, as the vessels now in service are now rapidly becoming over-age.

Of aircraft carriers, the navy has four, two are being built, and one is to be laid down within a year. One more is authorized and will be laid down in the near future. This program is of vital importance because none of the aggressor nations except Japan has any of these craft, which are regarded as essential to invasion across the sea. Japan has four over-age carriers. It is not known whether she has any being built.

Believe Invasion Unlikely.

Because Japan, Germany, and Italy lack aircraft carriers, no immediate invasion of the Americas is feared by any of these powers. The aircraft carriers of the American fleet, backed by the rest of the fleet, could play havoc with the fleet of any invader. For, although the question of bombs versus battleships is a delicate one with the army and the navy, it is generally acknowledged that properly placed bombs can cripple the mightiest floating fortress.

The navy has seventeen heavy cruisers in service, with one nearing completion. There are an equal number of light cruisers in service, ten of 6,000 tons and seven of 10,000. Two more of the latter class are under construction and funds already have been appropriated for four more 6,000 ton cruisers.

Plan 6,000 Ton Vessels.

Under the London treaty of 1936, no more cruisers bearing eight inch guns or larger than 8,000 tons may be laid down before 1943, so the remaining American cruisers tonnage, just short of 50,000, will be used up in 6,000 ton vessels.

The navy has a quota of 147 under-age destroyers. Of this quota, 47 are in service, 67 are being built or have been appropriated for, and 68 are to be laid down in future years. The navy has 170 over-age destroyers.

The navy has a quota of 56 submarines. Of these, 20 are in service, 19 are under construction or appropriated for, and 17 are to be laid down in the future.

The navy's greatest immediate need beyond modern ships is adequate bases in the Atlantic, Caribbean, the Pacific, and at Panama. These defects are to be remedied in part under the budget which will be sent to the new congress. Another pressing need is for sufficient auxiliary vessels.

Navy Needs Ammunition.

And like the army, the navy need ammunition and material reserves. Already the government is reopening wartime armor plants to turn out needed armor plate. The ordnance plants are swamped with orders.

In the event of war, the navy would be without powder and shell to defend the American coasts after a few engagements. And industry at home would not be geared up to wartime production so the fleet would lie helpless to a prepared foe.

In the navy's rush toward preparedness, a heavy veil of secrecy has been thrown about its plans. From behind this veil have come disturbing reports of defects in construction and design. High ranking officials have resigned posts of responsibility in protest against recent methods.

However, the program is going forward. And navy officials are convinced they are taking the American navy out of the obsolete class and placing it where it will have an equal footing with any fleet afloat.

[This is the third of a series of stories by Mr. Trohan on national defense.]

Mark Twain said

"Everybody talks about the weather—but nobody does anything about it."

Well, We ARE—and We Don't Mean MAYBE

Even if winter hits hard today, tomorrow, or next week . . . or if we had a guarantee that the North Pole would be unloaded at the Union Station on New Year's Day—it wouldn't change our minds . . . The harm is done. The weather we've had would have been ideal for Palm Beach suits. It hurts to think of what the weather man is making us do to the grandest selection of Fall and Winter clothing we have ever assembled . . . But with us a New Year means "Out with the old, in with the new" even if we have to cut prices to "smithereens." Everything from underwear to overcoats has been marked down, some as low as HALF, for this great event which starts tomorrow at all Benson & Rixon stores . . . Folks, we expect you to come crowding in all day tomorrow and all week from 9 A. M. to closing time, and with good reason, for it's the opportunity of a lifetime to save, at a time when you need it the most . . .

Here's an early bird special (State St. Store Only) . . . 348 all-wool pure worsted $22 suits, sizes to 50 stout, $14 . . . All of our $25 suits, topcoats, overcoats, and tuxedos now $17 . . . and our entire $31 stock of suits, overcoats, tuxedos, tails, frocks, yes, even hand woven Harris Tweed, Worumbo and detachable zipper lined topcoats have been reduced to $21 . . . $36 suits and overcoats now $27 . . . and a value that can't be beat anywhere in the country—$45 and $50 Goodman & Suss, Eagle and Calvert suits for $29.50 . . . Luxurious Worumbo overcoats, $31 . . . and the world's finest custom tailored clothing—$50 and $60 Fruhauf suits and overcoats, $39.50 (Fruhauf clothes State St. Store only) . . . $6, $7, and $8 covert, tweed, and cheviot slacks—also odd worsted trousers from our higher priced suits, values to $10—now $3.95. $10 Bi-Swing suede leather coats, $6.95 . . . $13 campus coats, $8.95 . . . $18 sport coats, $9 . . . $2 & $2.50 shirts, whites, fancies, broadcloths and jacquards, all from America's foremost makers, reduced to $1.39 —3 for $4 . . . Felt hats, famous brands, values to $6, now $2.95 . . . In our Prep department, $22 suits for $14 . . . and so on all through our stores (including women's coats, suits, dresses, furs, and sportswear at the State St. Store) . . . and you may buy on our convenient charge or budget plan.

Because of the drastic price reductions, necessary alterations will be charged at cost.

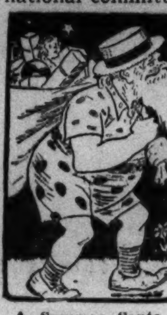
CHILEANS MOVE FOR A SUMMER STYLE CHRISTMAS

All Wintry Effects Would Be Discarded.

BY NORMAN INGREY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 25.—The national committee for Christmas celebrations has enlisted the support of Juana Rosa, wife of newly inaugurated President Pedro Aguirre Cerda, in a campaign to make the festival more Chilean in character.



A Summer Santa.

The aim is to do away with Santa Claus or, if the children won't stand for this, to make him a more summery individual, cooler looking, with no sleigh, reindeer, or snow. It is proposed that all wintry effects be abolished from Christmas decorations and greetings.

Chile's Christmas in Summer.

The Chilean and, to a large extent, South American, argument is this: "Christmas here falls in midsummer so why should we be the victim of the winter customs of North America and Europe, with an atmosphere of cold snow and grippe."

The local friends of the tree society would go as far as banning the importation of artificial snow and wintry like Christmas decorations and enforcing celebrations with the "beautiful flowers, the juicy fruit and the brilliantly clear skies and evenings" of the Chilean summer.

Hope for Ban on Snow.

It is proposed that these summery blossoms, flowers, and fruit take the place of holly and mistletoe when South Americans say "Happy Christmas" to each other at home and through greeting cards in the mail.

The proposals came too late for adoption this Christmas but the committee and supporters are determined that by next Christmas they will have nothing to do with snow, reindeer, holly or robins.

Mrs. Aguirre, with the assistance of the American and other foreign communities, collected 250,000 toys for gifts to poor children this Yuletide.

130 WOMEN TO SERVE IN LEGISLATURES OF 28 STATES IN 1939

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—(AP)—A survey disclosed today that the number of women in state legislatures had decreased from 149 in 38 states ten years ago to 130 who would serve in 28 states in 1939.

The National League of Women Voters, which made the survey, said the findings did not mean that American women had gone backward in the past ten years. Miss Marguerite Wells, president, said women were showing increased awareness to politics and were better prepared to serve their country in public office.

Women in the national congress have dwindled from nine to five in the 10-year period, Miss Wells reported, and the November election reports showed fewer women elected to important state posts.

GIFTS SHOWERED ON LITTLE GIRLS IN TREE TRAGEDY

Elyria, O., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Two little girls received more presents today than they ever dreamed of—but there was little merriment in their Christmas. Their father was killed and their mother was seriously wounded Friday when a farmer shot them after they chopped down a Christmas tree on his farm.

More than thirty presents—dolls, buggy, toy sewing machine, sweets—showered in upon the children, Sarah and Geraldine Rousseau, 8 and 11 years old, at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Dahm.

But tomorrow their father, William Rousseau, 37 years old, will be buried and today their mother, 29, had blood transfusion at the hospital.

The man who shot them, William Case, 84 years old, had a sad Christmas, too, grieving over the attack. His son-in-law, Charles Hale, posted $1,000 bond for the old man on a manslaughter charge and took him to the Hale home for Christmas. Case is known as "Santa Claus" to the children of his neighborhood.

FATHER OF SEVEN LOSES FEET.

Silvie Scott, 45 years old, father of seven children, had both feet amputated yesterday after he fell between a moving freight car in the Glenn yards of the Alton railroad in Stickney township where he is employed as a switchman. He lives at 3117 West 38th street.

Illinois Coal Miner Dies Despite Blood Transfusion

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Joseph Rolando, 47 years old, a coal miner, died today, despite the blood he received as a Christmas present last night from Miss Audrey Clark, a laboratory worker at the Springfield hospital. Miss Clark, the only known person in Springfield with the required type of blood, was routed from her bed to give the transfusion.

THE LAST MILE FINANCIALLY.

Senator Harry Byrd, Democrat, of Virginia has been on a still hunt for over three years in search of the actual facts of governmental expenditures, and he says that "we have at Washington today the most costly, the most wasteful, and the most burocratic form of government this republic has ever known or any other nation has been afflicted with." The conditions are staggering and they will force themselves upon the first session of the 76th congress, convening the third of next month, a congress with a new mandate, which is to stop the destructive forward march of the New Deal. The emergency work of this congress is to save the country before it is too late.

The roots of the trouble are financial. This is the subject which Senator Byrd has studied and upon which recently he reported in a speech in Boston. Most people know that for the last nine years the government has spent more than its income, and that in spite of punitive taxation it has now the largest deficit in peacetime history. For the present fiscal year, ending in June, 1939, the expenditures of all the governments in the United States will be about one-third of the total gross income of the nation. One-third of all the people will make will be spent by their various governments. As Senator Byrd says, this is twice the value of all the products of the farms, the forests, and the mines. Twice the amount which the country gets from its natural resources is being spent by its governmental agencies.

Within five years the public debt has been trebled. Every monetary item in public service is now the largest in the peacetime history of the nation. The federal appropriations for the current year are the largest. Tax collections were the largest. The deficit is the largest, and Senator Byrd says the country is "further away from a balanced budget than at any time since the depression began."

The New Dealers say the rich will pay for it. Senator Byrd shows that if the entire income of all the citizens earning more than $100,000 a year were taken, this expropriation would run the federal government only thirty days and bear the cost of all the combined governments for less than two weeks. With something like despair, Senator Byrd quotes Chairman Eccles of the federal reserve board, which dominates the fiscal policies of the administration, as saying that the only dangerous thing would be to stop this spending.

With such ideas the country can go to ruin—and it will. The government has borrowed money to prime the pump for five years and the unemployment today is three million more than it was a year ago and about the same as it was when the depression began. Senator Byrd says it is fiscal insanity. He finds that the public debt is not disclosed in the treasury statements because they omit the operations of a new form of government which has received its greatest development under the New Deal.

Historically this process of new government is interesting. If the evolution were happening in another country, Americans could study it with less apprehension. The apparently imperative need of the New Deal was to get away from cumbersome departmental restrictions and consequently it fled into the corporative state.

Senator Byrd has studied these great governmental corporations which are conducting so much of the business of the United States. They make and sell electricity and electrical appliances, they buy and sell commodities such as wheat and butter, they are in the mortgage business, and they repair houses. They control crop acreage, make donations to charitable organizations, and are even seriously mixed up in international relations, granting credits to nations at war and supplying war stricken populations with free food supplies. Their political significance is great because they contain more than the germ of the destruction of representative government here. They have destroyed it in Italy. Whenever the Roosevelt administration wants to get away from a democratic restriction it hurries into the corporate form.

Senator Byrd is particularly interested in the financial structure of these great corporations which are autocratic in their conception and dictatorial in their methods. When the New Deal started on its career the national debt was about 16 billion dollars, with no contingent liabilities. On July 1 the nation will have at least 41 billion dollars in direct debt, and it will have a contingent liability. That, as Senator Byrd discovers, is not listed in the financial statements. It must be found in the accounts of the thirty governmental corporations which have authority to issue bonds, debentures, and notes to almost precisely the total amount of the entire national debt when the New Deal took over.

"With much difficulty," says Senator Byrd, "I have ascertained that on June 1 last bonds, debentures, and notes had been issued by these corporations, over three-fourths having been sold to the public, to the amount of 7 billion 940 million dollars, so that our actual debt on July 1 next will approach 50 billion dollars and may be more if the maximum authorization to issue 8 billion dollars of bonds is exercised by these government corporations."

The debt of the governmental corporations will, if it is extended to its authorized limits, in itself be equal to the entire indebtedness of the federal government when the New Deal started out to restore prosperity by bleeding the country white. Senator Byrd proposes that the first thing the new congress do in withdrawing from the peril of national financial collapse is to stop the borrowing of these Fascist organizations. That will only be a beginning along the line of recovery, but it will mean not only the plugging of one of the drains on national resources but it will stop the political trend away from representative government toward a totalitarian state modeled on the form within which the communist, Nazi, and Fascist despotism is contained.

The 76th congress will have greater problems presented to it than the members may care to face, but there they are, and at last the country has withdrawn confidence from the persons who have so cheerfully speculated with national resources and who have so light-mindedly allowed the country to pocket the losses. There is still time to draw back, but the period of grace will not be extended long into the future.

A MOTOR FERRY TO MICHIGAN.

Plank No. 7 at our masthead was adopted three years ago. There has been an increasing popular interest in the proposition to inaugurate a motor ferry service between Chicago and St. Joseph and Benton Harbor. Letters to the Voice of the People indicate a growing desire on the part of the owners of private passenger automobiles for this means of avoiding the slow, tedious, stop-and-go trip over the congested streets and highways of the industrial district around the south end of Lake Michigan through which they must drive to and from Michigan and points east.

The backlog of the revenue that would insure the financial success of such an undertaking seems to be assured by the active interest of trucking companies and motor freight associations which have given the matter serious consideration. Experienced ship owners and operators have enthusiastically indorsed its feasibility. The Michigan state highway commission has not only had experience with highway trafic but with ferry operations as well. Its studies of trafic statistics and motor freight possibilities all point to a profitable cross-lake ferry operation. It has been estimated that the city of Chicago would save upward of three million truck miles per year if such a service were inaugurated.

To insure the financial success of a venture of this kind there are certain fundamental requirements to be met. The vessel must be of a specially designed, high powered, multi-deck type. It must be capable of year around operation under practically all weather conditions and able to make the one way trip in not more than three hours. It must have extremely rapid loading and unloading facilities and ample parking space must be provided for trucks, trailers, and passenger cars at each terminal.

The ferry must have capacity for a peak load of at least 300 vehicles. Its charges for passenger cars must not be much more than the cost of the gas and oil necessary to drive from Chicago to St. Joseph. For trucks and trailers the rates must reflect a substantial saving under the cost of driving through the congested districts at the south end of the lake. Serious studies of competent engineers indicate that these requirements are by no means insurmountable.

That a vessel of this type has not been built and put into service during the last few years is undoubtedly due to the fact that cautious capital will not expose itself to the New Deal brain trust meddling of the present administration. In an effort to entice investors' money from its hiding places congress last June passed the amended merchant marine act of 1938. This provided for federal ship mortgage insurance which is intended to operate in a similar manner to that by which the government guarantees mortgages on buildings financed under the Federal Housing authority. Perhaps this is the assurance investors in a cross-lake vehicle ferry have been waiting for.

ONE OF THE OLD REFORMERS.

Hoyt King has been appointed clerk of the United States District court by Judge James H. Wilkerson to succeed the late Henry W. Freeman. Mr. King will be remembered for public activities which are no longer, fortunately, what they need be in his younger days. He was secretary and attorney for the Municipal Voters' league when a member of that fighting organization needed physical courage as well as public spirit, intelligence, and 100 proof honesty.

Any man who met the political gangsters on the battlefield chosen by them had to stand up to physical dangers to hold the moral front. This was no teatime reforming job. A fighter in one of the various citizens' organizations had to go where the tough mugs were. He had to meet them on their own ground. He had to face them in the city councils, in the legislature, and at public meetings. He had to keep his temper when insulted and protect himself when attacked.

The old plug-uglies of corrupt politics were organized for control of legislative bodies and administrative offices and did not take the challenge of these earlier Chicago reformers tamely or underestimate the probable consequences of the attack upon them. Hoyt King was not a powerful man physically as were, for instance, John Maynard Harlan and George E. Cole, but he was an athlete and had what it took in those days.

Harlan could stand on a platform and quiet a riot of political ruffians by offering to take them on two at a time if they would come up. The worst of them respected that. George E. Cole's pugnacious chin never retreated an inch from threatening fists and cursing only made him smile. Hoyt King was of that breed, and although the occasion for such courage seems to have passed it is pleasant to say a word in remembrance and congratulation to the new clerk of the District court.

TOUGH FOR THE ANNOUNCER.

[Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph.]

Champion Heavyweight Joe Louis has signed a contract for a title bout next month with John Henry Lewis.

First thing that occurs in thinking about this fight is the nice time the radio announcer is going to have in trying to keep his listeners straight as to who hit whom, and how.

We may imagine the announcer coming along with something like this:

"L-o-u-i-s opened the round with a stiff one to the jaw. L-e-w-i-s came back with a straight poke to the right eye of L-o-u-i-s. Then the champion backed the challenger to the ropes, and L-e-w-i-s was hanging on to the neck of L-o-u-i-s as the round ended."

With that kind of slow motion the fight will get several rounds ahead of the announcer and it will be next week before the radio listener will know who wins.

STORY OF A PSEUDONYM.

Why do contributors to newspaper columns often conceal their talents under pseudonyms? For one answer, take the case of Jerome Pugh Gorin, banker, of Decatur, Ill.

A few months ago he invited Sam Tucker, columnist for the Decatur Herald ["As I View the Thing"], to luncheon and afterward took his guest into his private office. He brought out a huge book, bigger than a ledger, and requested inspection. It was filled with clippings of verse and prose, short stories from magazines, and miscellaneous writings which ran back for thirty years. The signature most often used was "Commodore," which appeared frequently in A Line o' Type or Two during the B. L. T. régime. All this represented the career of a banker's other self.

"But why didn't you ever tell any one you wrote such things?" Tucker asked.

"I have had to make my living in business," the banker answered. "I preferred to be known as a business man. You must not say anything about it now, but I wanted you to know."

This was a confession in contemplation of death. A month or two later Gorin died, and then Tucker told the story in a full column.

A SLEIGH ON THE BOULEVARD.

No, no limousine today—
Lock it up, put it away.

Bring out the sleigh with the buffalo robe
That hangs to the ground behind;
Put in the standards of long horse-hair
That float in the frosty wind;

Rub up the harness with silver bells
That ring such a merry chime.
We'll speed once more down the boulevard
In memory of olden time.

The horses will toss their heads in joy
As their feet toss the balls of snow,
And the reins are shortened with loops to hold
As off to the race we go!

Canter slowly up the side lanes,
Then turn to the center track,
And with a lift of the reins we're off
As we speed down the whole way back!

On Christmas day in the afternoon
This was the gift double-starred,
If Some One asked us to drive with him
In the race down the boulevard!

Stars on the Trees.

Last night the tall bare elms bore a star on every tiptop branch. They cradled them in their graceful arms, and seemed to rock them gently, with the wind. Never, I thought, were stars more lovely. But then I stepped out into the clear, where the beautiful dark dome of heaven hung free above my head—and there the beauty was breathtaking. The stars twinkled frostily in the cold night—grouped in strange, exciting patterns. They were friendly stars, bringing heaven and earth together with their sparkling rays. And there was one star—larger, brighter, glowing with a softer radiance, that seemed to fill the very sky with beauty. I held my breath—and my heart heard the brush of angels' wings, as I beheld the Christmas star.

He—You should serve this tea in capsules; it tastes like quinine.

She—It ain't tea, it's coffee.

He—When didya make it?

She—Either Monday or Tuesday.

He—Sure ya don't mean Oct. or Nov.?

She—If I knew where you hid the key to trunk I'd go back to my mother's right now.

He—That's better than bringin' her here.

SANTA GOES HOME.

Old Santa was on his homeward way
With an empty pack and a lightened sleigh
The distance home was steadily shrinking,
But down in his heart old Santa was thinking,
For he had seen things, believe it or not,
And under the collar the old man was hot!

They hurry and hurry
To make more big guns;
Do mothers and fathers
Want their own sons
To hurry and try out
The fine new big guns?

At the top—dictators!
Fierce, strutting men,
How did they get there?
Hard to say, when
One knows underneath are
Average, kind men.

I'm a dictator, too,
In case they don't know;
It doesn't take fear
To keep up my show;
Americans pick me
At Christmas, you know.

Around the last mountain they swiftly flew,
And then old Toy Town came into view;
The lead reindeer set up a pace so brisk, it
Made Santa Claus whoop: "Come on, Seabiscuit!"
He forgot mankind and all their mistakes—
He thought of hot coffee and buckwheat cakes.

Evan S. Tonian.

The day after Christmas may be a holiday without a name for us this year, but in England it's Boxing day, so-called because of the custom of dropping gratuities into boxes hung up by servants and tradespeople. It's also a great day over there for the opening of Christmas shows.

HOLIDAY PRECAUTIONS FOR CHILDREN.

THE holiday season offers an unusual opportunity for the avoidance of many things which may injure health. While this is a negative sort of viewpoint, well nigh every physician can testify that there are many more calls upon his time at this particular period than at any other, unless an epidemic is rife.

In the first place, stores are crowded and there is thus presented a wonderful opportunity for the spread of infections. Excitement brings fatigue, perhaps some indigestion, indiscretions in diet are not infrequent, and sleep may be lost. As a result every one about the home may come to the end of Christmas week worn out—fit candidates for a nice long session with some germ.

But all of this can be shunned through the application of a little common sense. Joy must reign and the bells must jingle. But we need not become hysterical about it with excessive wear and tear upon the nervous systems of our children. Too much hilarity may be seriously exhausting. Too many cakes, pies, and puddings, too much candy, and highly seasoned foods of all sorts can usher in digestive troubles that will take days for recovery.

We oldsters perhaps can withstand considerable loss of sleep but youngsters must not be cheated out of a single hour. Bright and early on Christmas day they will be eager to rush downstairs and surround the tree, but after a morning of busy play they should be ready for an afternoon nap. Exciting evenings are probably the most pernicious in their effects upon our boys and girls. The romp and play, the shouting, are wonderful exhibitions of interest and spirit. But we can schedule the incidents so that the normal number of hours of rest will be secured.

Despite great vigilance mishaps may occur. A little thought, however, will reduce them to the minimum. Be sure that toys are safe. Electrical connections should be firm and tight so that neither sparks nor short circuits can result. If there is a motor operated train, see that it is thoroughly insulated before turning it over to little Bobby. Air rifles are wonderful inventions but they are numbered with the important causes of loss of sight among children.

Every year there is a crop of swallowed articles. If they are not too large or too jagged they will pass through the intestinal tract without injury. But when they are breathed into the lungs, that is another story, and no time should be lost in such a case securing the services of a competent physician.

A balsam or fir tree is so attractive that every home should have one. But lighted candles must never be used. Because the tree dries after a few days great care must be taken to protect against fire. A bit of flame will ignite the whole almost with the force of an explosion. Pitch in the leaves and twigs will burn so quickly that once ablaze a substantial conflagration is upon us. This means that matches must be safeguarded; in fact, smoking may be prohibited in the room in which the tree is placed. Even with electric lights make certain that the connections are firm and that the wires are intact and not worn through. Asbestos snow is the only safe material, as cotton is highly inflammable.

Then there are highway accidents to be watched for and we should remember always that unnecessary hurry is the prime factor. Take longer to arrive and you will reach your destination in safety. Your driving may be all right but look out for the other chap.

During the festivities if one of the little ones becomes ill put him to bed and call the family doctor. It may be nothing more than an upset stomach but it is always best to be on the safe side, as pneumonia is a bit more likely to make its advent at such a time. After all, only a few precautions are necessary to enable every member of the family to enjoy the celebration in comfort.

SENSITIVE TO COLD.

R. L. writes: When cold weather comes my nose runs, which irritates the surrounding skin, causing it to crack and blister. I use individual tissues for blowing. What causes this trouble and what can I do to alleviate it?

REPLY.

A bit of white vaseline placed in each nostril morning and evening will be helpful. You are probably hypersensitive to cold air. While mouth breathing is rarely advised it may be useful for a time in your case.

SPINAL CORD EXPOSED.

R. writes: 1. What is a spina bifida? 2. What causes it? 3. Can it be cured by operation?

REPLY.

1. A failure of the bones of the spine to join, thus exposing a part of the spinal cord covering.
2. Some defect in the development of the embryo. This occurs before birth.
3. Yes, if the condition is not too extensive.

COLD CREAM HELPS.

H. B. writes: My father, 85 years old, has been suffering with itching skin for many years. Is it possible to overcome this condition?

REPLY.

Itching skin is common with elderly persons. Massage with cold cream or a fatty ointment following the bath is helpful. Be sparing in the use of soap as this extracts the natural oils from the skin.

KEEP SKIN CLEAN.

J. S. writes: What is the cause of inflammation of the fingers at the base of the nails?

REPLY.

This condition is called paronychia, which means inflammation about the nails, and frequently begins with a tag of cuticle called a hangnail. Cleanliness is the means of prevention. Wash the hands often and keep the skin about the nails free from tears.

SEND FOR LEAFLET.

B. T. writes: Do you have exercises to improve a poor posture? Are there any books on this subject?

REPLY.

We have a leaflet giving information on both these questions, which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope for it.

THEY SELDOM INHALE.

H. F. B. writes: You state that a pipe is the least harmful form of smoking. Will you explain?

REPLY.

Pipe smokers, as a rule, do not inhale. Hence there is less absorption.

THE LOW NUMBERS.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—I happen to be one of a number of automobile owners whose hobby it is to own a small numbered automobile license plate.

Ever since I started driving an automobile I made it my business to be one of the first to obtain an application blank at the Tribune Public Service bureau on the first day the blanks were out, and on the same day forward the application to Springfield, attaching a note to my application each year requesting that I be given a smaller numbered plate than the one I had the previous year, but without results.

After each Dec. 1, the deadline date for reassigning of plates, I receive from the secretary of state in Springfield the same explanation why my request could not be granted; namely, that due to the requests of plate owners to have their old numbers reassigned there were not other numbers available for me but the one I have had for some years.

Certainly, out of the first 10,000 plates there must be a few each year who fail to renew for one reason or another. I know of two cases where automobile owners had four digit plates in 1938, but they wished smaller plates for 1939 and they received them. I wonder in what respect the 1939 owners of these two 1938 plates have proven their superiority as citizens over me to entitle them to the consideration denied me.

It is my opinion that the present method of assigning automobile license plates is unfair and inequitable. These licenses should be issued in the order the applications are received. If for some reason the above plan should not seem practical, then I suggest that we follow the method of Michigan and assign different letter plates for each county, each county's numbers starting with 1.

Finally, if the present method is to be maintained and if we are to continue favoring the 10,000 motorists over the other million and a half, let these 10,000 preferred motorists pay an additional $10 for each of the first 10,000 plates.

IGLOOS FOR COMFORT.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—One of your contributors called the Milwaukee avenue street cars igloos. Did it ever occur to him that igloos are considered comfortable shelters in the far north? That there are no breezes filtering through them? That in an igloo one need not fear removing one's glove to reach for a handkerchief lest his fingers become numb? And that an igloo would be a cozy shelter after an hour's ride in a Milwaukee avenue street car? Let's have more respect for the homes of the Eskimos.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC A BLESSING.

DELAYED CARS.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—I disagree with the Racine avenue street car rider regarding the inadequate service during the rush hour.

The schedule department of the Chicago Surface Lines is constantly striving to improve the service, maintain ample cars on the lines to transport the public in comfort and safety. The rider apparently overlooks the greatest obstacle that hinders street car service tremendously, and that is the automobiles and trucks, which I think should have more consideration for the street cars. A broken down truck or automobile will block a street car for a few minutes. By the time the track is cleared the car behind is in the same block. What is the inevitable result? The first car must make more stops, pick up more people, get later and later, thus doing the work of two cars. And that is the reason why we so often see the cars running in a bunch.

In a case of that sort it wouldn't be a bad idea if some of the people tried to board the second or third car, and get home in a more comfortable and less dangerous way.

ALFRED BRONZELL.

THE VISITING NURSES.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—As a director of the Visiting Nurse association I am writing to thank you for your editorial this morning. Our board appreciated Miss Winn's article upon our work. The nurses were extremely proud; even our patients commented upon it. Your editorial rounded out the picture that Miss Winn's articles must have made upon the citizens of Chicago. We are truly grateful for THE TRIBUNE'S voluntary help and encouragement.

Coming at this time when our work is particularly heavy and sometimes more than we have any right to ask the nurses to carry, it has been an incentive to all of us to try to do more than our part.

MARGARET B. CONOVER.

THE SCAPEGOAT.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—I can understand Hitler and Mussolini trying to get some natural resources for their people. But why pick on the few Jews? They haven't got any navy, army, or country to defend them. I don't remember any discrimination against them in the world war, no matter what country they fought for.

JACK O'KEEFE.

CLEANING CATCH BASINS.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Approximately 42,000 catch basins have been cleaned in all of the seven city-wide sewage districts during the last eight months by WPA labor. Enough mud, clay, concrete, sticks, brickbats, stone, and about everything else under the sun has been taken out of these basins [if placed in one pile at State and Madison streets] to extend to the top of the store buildings.

Countless thousands of individual home owners in these districts have been greatly benefited by this work. The homes and stores in these districts need have no fear now of their basements being flooded after a heavy rainfall or after a wet snow.

City experts estimate that it takes 3 to 5 years for a "cleaned" catch basin to refill to a point where it is harmful, when the water would back up in basements. The cleaning work is about to close up for want of funds. Would it not be better to continue the cleaning?

MR. GREEN'S CANDIDACY.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—We now have a truly proficient, worthy, and well qualified candidate to head the liberal and progressive Republican ticket for the office of mayor of Chicago, in Dwight H. Green's candidacy. All other aspirants for this office on this ticket would display generous wisdom should they emulate Judge Oscar F. Nelson's act and waive their candidacy as did he in favor of Mr. Green. THE TRIBUNE'S loyal support of Mr. Green's candidacy is respectfully solicited. With such a setup we will have a good chance to win.

R. G. LIPPERT.

COLLECTING FROM YOUNGSTERS.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Mr. Green of the American Federation of Labor should clean house in his own organization before calling other people names. If there is anything or anybody more autocratic than labor at the present time, whichever side of the fence it is on, I should like to know about it. When a mighty organization like the federation, collecting millions of dollars every year, forces schoolboys to contribute, then indeed economic royalists hold sway. Children helping in stores on Saturdays must pay tribute to the money changers. Where are we heading?

PROOF OF HEIRSHIP.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My uncle died three months ago, leaving a will which I cannot locate. My brother and I are sole legal heirs of an 80 acre farm in Missouri which he left. An administrator was appointed because our whereabouts were unknown until just a week ago.

1. How can I put in legal claim for the farm?
2. Can administrator sell the farm in payment of funeral expenses, doctor bills, etc.?
3. Is ther a record of the will made, and if so can I find out its contents?
4. If will was made to other than a relative would I have any claim to the farm?
5. How can I find out if abstract of title is sound?
6. Does a warranty deed protect me as to the right claim to the farm?
7. If will was made at time my uncle was under guardianship on account of an unsound mind would it be legal?

G. D.

1. Ordinarily it is not necessary for the heirs to make formal claim. Proof of heirship will be made in the probate proceedings, if any.
2. Yes, if there are no other assets to pay the debts.
3. Only if there is no record of the will until death.
4. Not unless you could set aside the will by proving undue influence or lack of testamentary capacity.
5. Have it examined by an attorney.
6. A deed conveys no better title than the grantor has. A warranty deed merely means that the grantor is giving you a warranty, but unless he is financially solvent the warranty is worthless.
7. No, if you mean that there has been a court adjudication as to his mental incapacity.

PRAY FOR PEACE AT BETHLEHEM CHRISTMAS RITES

ThousandsAttendAge-Old Ceremonies at Church.

BETHLEHEM, Dec. 25.—(AP)—The Latin patriarch of Jerusalem, who led reënactment today of the drama of Christ's birth, asked prayers for "poor Palestine, watered with the blood of our Holy Redeemer and the tears of the Holy Mother."

Age-old ceremonies were carried out while thousands of British troops, some in armored cars and some at machine gun posts, ringed the little town to frustrate any attempt to mar the celebration.

Following the post-midnight ceremony at the Church of the Nativity multitudes of devout Christians prostrated themselves before the traditional site of the manger and continued fervent supplications for peace.

Troops Keep Peace.

In all, 20,000 British kept an uneasy peace in the land where Christ was born and preached humility, forgiveness, unselfishness, and love.

In a message of good will to the people of North and South America, the patriarch, Msgr. Luigi Barlassina said: "We are praying fervently and we shall continue to pray for universal peace in this sacred land toward which all eyes are turned on this blessed day of Christmas.

"It is only by being faithful to the law of Christ that we will destroy the political and personal egotism which is the real cause of the present distress and unrest throughout the world."

Travel Road of Wise Men.

Legions of black-cloaked, sandal-shod monks and priests, with nuns and pilgrims, filed in unbroken columns yesterday afternoon along the very road which tradition says the Three Wise Men traveled to reach the manger where the Christ Child lay.

Early today the Latin patriarch carried the effigy of the Christ Child from the Convent of St. Catherine to the traditional site of the manger—climax of the ceremony.

Standing under the Star of Bethlehem after midnight, American and English choristers sang the old familiar carol:

O little town of Bethlehem,
How still we see thee lie!
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by.
Yet in thy dark streets shineth the everlasting light,
The hopes and fears of all the years are met in thee tonight.

British Troops Celebrate.

JERUSALEM, Dec. 25.—(AP)—While thousands of British troops spent Christmas day on patrol duty against any new Arab uprising there were Christmas ceremonies for soldiers and officers at the $2,000,000 American Y. M. C. A.

Chimes sounded from the belfry of the building. Later the regiments, including the Black Watch and the Coldstream Guards, paraded through the Holy City and were reviewed by Maj. Gen. Robert Haining, commander of British forces in Palestine.

Romans Celebrate.

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Dec. 25.—The population of Rome today celebrated Christmas in the way that it has been done here for many years. The exchanging of presents is not a part of the Italian Christmas tradition. This is put off to the Feast of the Epiphany on Jan. 6. The celebration consists essentially of eating large quantities of special Christmas delicacies.

Pope Pius XI. celebrated three masses in the private chapel adjoining his bedroom at midnight last night and another this morning. These were private affairs witnessed only by the most intimate members of his household.

Remains in Apartment.

The pope did not leave his private apartment during the day and received no visitors, not even members of his family who are in Rome. It was reported he sent his secretary to his workroom in the state department to fetch a large sheaf of papers dealing with church affairs and spent the day studying them.

King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena spent Christmas at their villa on the outskirts of Rome, where the royal family, excepting Queen Joanna of Bulgaria, gathered.

Returning to the custom which was abandoned when sanctions [economic penalties] were established against Italy during the war with Ethopia, the king and queen set up a Christmas tree for their grandchildren. Another tree was erected for the children of the royal servants.

Courier to Wed

KATHRYN ANDERSON.

Kathryn D. Anderson, Santa Fe courier nurse, made her last ride on the Santa Fe streamlined flyer El Capitan yesterday. After two years' service as nurse on the Santa Fe trains Scout and El Capitan, she has resigned to be married Tuesday to Arthur A. Wohlgemuth. Wohlgemuth is a steward on the Scout.

2 LAWYERS FACE JUDGE TOMORROW IN ROBBERY PLOT

Attorneys Edward Albert Fisher and Francis J. Kennedy, who were charged Saturday with conspiracy to obstruct justice in connection with a holdup case, will be arraigned in the Felony court tomorrow. They were released Saturday evening several hours after their arrest in bonds of $2,500.

Hubert Heintz, 30 years old, son of a wealthy Winnetka broker, the principal in the unusual case, also will be arraigned before Chief Justice Michael F. McKinley in the Criminal court tomorrow. He confessed robbing a finance company office at 3150 Lincoln avenue on Nov. 4, obtaining $62.50.

Heintz told Assistant State's Attorney Joseph O'Connor that Kennedy advised him to bleach his hair and grow a mustache to foil identification. Fisher was associated with Kennedy in the case and is said to have threatened the elder Heintz for a larger fee. Both are former assistant United States district attorneys.

DIES IN CELL; KIN HUNTED.

Police were seeking last night to locate relatives of Charles E. Olson of 6110 Blackstone avenue, who died yesterday in a cell at the Hyde Park police station. Olson was arrested earlier in the day at 63d street and Blackstone avenue. He was 55 years old.

YULE GREETINGS FROM OVER U. S. CHEER BOY'S FIGHT AGAINST DEATH

Doctors were hopeful yesterday that Raymond Potter Jr., 14 years old, who has been suffering from staphylococcus meningitis, will recover. Only twelve persons ever have survived the disease.

Raymond's parents, who live at 11347 Church street, visited him in the Municipal Contagious disease hospital yesterday. Through a glass door they saw him grin and hold up a package of Christmas cards and telegrams received from all over the country in the last few days. Dr. Luther M. Lorance, attending physician, said the boy's condition is favorable, but serious.

You've One More Chance to Become a Good Fellow

Persons wishing the names and addresses of families needing Good Fellow baskets may obtain them from the Good Fellow bureau in the public service office of THE TRIBUNE, 1 South Dearborn street, between 9 a. m. and 3 p. m. today. Many families still are unvisited. Names may be had by telephoning SUPerior 0100.

PILE UP EVIDENCE OF CORRUPTION IN INDIANA ELECTION

Stage Set for Inquiry by U. S. Senate.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Evidence which, in their opinion, is sufficient to justify a United States senate investigation of corruption and fraud in the November election has been gathered in Indiana counties by Republican investigators who now are compiling it for presentation to the senate.

This evidence, gathered principally in Marion, Lake, Vanderburg, and Vigo counties, is said to substantiate allegations that:

1. There was a conspiracy to elect Democratic candidates through the excessive and corrupting use of both public and private money.
2. Thousands of illegal registrations of voters were permitted to remain on the lists regardless of proper efforts to remove them and that these illegal registrations permitted thousands of persons who were not qualified to participate in the election.
3. The names of hundreds of qualified Republican voters were illegally removed from registration lists and an unknown number of voters thereby deprived of their franchise.
4. There was tampering with voting machines and paper ballots and false and fraudulent certification of returns.

Some on State-Wide Scale.

Not all evidence which has been gathered by investigators by the Republican state committee pertains to these four populous counties. Some of the alleged offenses were practiced on a state-wide scale, but were more noticeable in the larger counties.

While the Republican state committee has not yet formally announced that an effort will be made to contest seating of United States Senator Frederick Van Nuys next month, investigators have been ordered to continue their work through the holiday season, and plans are ready to place the results of their investigation before the senate within twenty days after it convenes.

Balked by the ruling of the Indiana Supreme court, which is composed entirely of Democrats, in their effort to obtain recounts in the counties where the greatest number of irregularities occurred, the Republican leaders say they have no other recourse than to request a United States senate investigation of the election of Senator Van Nuys to succeed himself.

Petition First Step.

The procedure is to file a petition asking an investigation and giving the grounds therefor. Such a petition is then referred to a senate committee, before which evidence sufficient to justify an investigation by the senate may be laid.

Advised by his investigators that they have in hand ample evidence to convince a senate committee that the election should be investigated, Arch Bobbitt, Republican state chairman, has asserted that in his opinion an investigation should be asked. This, together with the fact that the investigators have been ordered to continue work, generally is taken to mean the contest will materialize.

Relief Expenditures Bound.

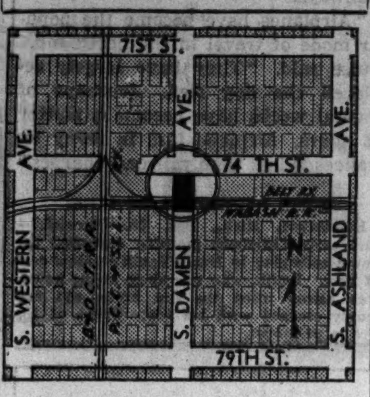
Investigators who have been in the field since the election have not made complete reports, but have indicated to their superiors that they can produce evidence that in the months preceding the election the expenditures of public money for relief purposes was more than $12,000,000 in excess of expenditures for relief in the same months of the previous year, and that a great part of this expenditure was illegal and solely to influence electors.

In this connection, it is asserted, precinct committeemen and election board members were solicited to make claims against township poor relief funds, and, in some cases, were provided with township orders for merchandise which they converted into cash in accordance with arrangements made for them by attachés of the trustees' offices.

It also is alleged that in some precincts more than 25 per cent of the whole electorate received pay from the Democratic local organization under the guise of payment for work at the polls.

Investigators hope to prove that thousands of dollars were raised by levying on officeholders and that this was paid to voters to support the Democratic ticket.

Grant for Underpass



Black rectangle shows location of $500,000 grade separation authorized yesterday.

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday authorized construction of a $500,000 subway-type grade separation in Damen avenue at 75th street under the tracks of the Wabash and the Belt railroads. The project will make Damen avenue a continuous thoroughfare from Bryn Mawr to 95th street.

A federal grant of $221,727 will aid in financing the work. The balance will be split among the city, the railroads and industries owning property in the vicinity. Chicago's share will come from the state motor fuel tax fund.

Now there is no through street between Ashland and Western avenues. The new underpass will take part of the trafic load from these two thoroughfares. Work will start as soon as the weather permits.

LESS JOBS, MORE LIBRARY MONEY AID U. S. READING

Book Borrowing Gains Told in Convention Report.

A marriage clinic for single women and classes in creative writing helped to stimulate the use of library books in Minneapolis and St. Paul in 1938. A trailer which carried books to suburbs, a new hospital service, and a messenger service to homes increased book borrowing in Denver.

These and other explanations of why the American public read more books in 1938 than in 1937 will be described to librarians at a meeting in the Drake hotel tomorrow by Carl H. Milam, secretary of the American Library association.

Library Gains Explained.

Thirty-five cities of more than 100,000 population reported greater use of their libraries last year. Mr. Milam accounts for this by citing less employment and more new library books in cities where library budgets were raised. Other factors he will list before the association convention include:

The European situation, reflected in Chicago and elsewhere by a demand for books on Jews and their history, Czecho-Slovakia, and current events.

A gain in children's reading in every city but one, partly because of progressive methods of education in schools.

Public forums held in Seattle.

Adult education classes sponsored by the government or civic groups to stimulate wider book borrowing in St. Louis.

Non-Fiction Gains Everywhere.

Greater use of non-fiction collections was noted in virtually all cities. Among the most popular non-fiction titles were "The Importance of Living," by Lin Yutang; "The Horse and Buggy Doctor," by Hertzler; "With Malice Toward Some," by Halsey; "Listen! The Wind," by Anne Lindbergh; "Madame Curie," by her daughter; "How to Win Friends and Influence People," by Dale Carnegie; "My Battle," by Hitler; "My America," by Adamic, and "Alone," by Byrd.

Vocational stories, books about animals, books on how to do things, and old-fashioned fairy tales were in most demand among children. Modern fairy tales and fantasies are not popular according to Mr. Milam.

MISSING STUDENT FOUND DEAD ON MOUNTAIN TRAIL

Boulder, Colo. Dec. 25.—(AP)—The body of Nason D. Carey, 20 years old, of Springfield, Mass., a student at Colorado university, was found today on the steep side of a mountain where he fell to his death.

The geology sophomore, who was an ardent climber, apparently had fallen 250 feet from a tail.

Carey went to the Flatirons to climb on Dec. 17. His disappearance was not reported until yesterday when a search was started.

HOW COULD SHE LOSE A PURSE SO BIG?

As an extra service to Tribune Lost and Found advertisers, all such ads are kept for three months after publication in a special register open to the public at the Tribune Public Service Offices, 1 South Dearborn St. and in Tribune Tower, 435 North Michigan Ave.

Purses and pocketbooks, however big they are, frequently slip away from their owners.

Whenever you lose anything of value, be sure to telephone a Lost and Found want ad to the Chicago Tribune. Thousands of dollars' worth of property is restored each year to owners who advertise in the Lost and Found columns of the Tribune.

Regardless of what you may have lost, or where in Chicago or suburbs you may have lost it, there is a good chance that a Tribune reader will find it.

Every day of the week, the Tribune is read by more than 720,000 families in metropolitan Chicago. This is practically as many as read any two other Chicago newspapers combined.

Further, the Tribune is Chicago's big want ad marketplace, carrying far more want advertising, and as a result, attracting far more want ad readers than any other Chicago newspaper.

Call Superior 0100—Want Ad-Viser

and ask for Miss Miller if you have lost something recently. Miss Miller will help you word your want ad. If your name is in the phone book, you may charge your Tribune want ad.

UNCLE SAM PUTS SANTA TO SHAME IN POLAR WASTES

Ladles Out Millions in Sparsely Settled Alaska.

Merle H. Guise.

One of Santa Claus' representatives spent Christmas in Chicago in the person of Merle H. Guise. President of a gold mining company at Fairbanks, Alaska, which is just a short hop from Santa's headquarters, Guise came to visit his brothers, Claude, Alfred, and Floyd Guise of Chicago. Mr. Guise was born here and went to Alaska many years ago.

In Alaska Uncle Sam is a competitor of Santa Claus, Guise reported. In Fairbanks, a town of 2,500, the government has erected a $500,000 postoffice, replacing an old frame structure.

Anchorage, a town of 2,000 is doing even better, Guise said. It got along until lately with a wooden structure but is soon to have a $700,000 postoffice. New postoffices, schools, and hospitals now dot the sparcely settled territory, he said.

The Matanuska settlement Guise regards as something of a mess. It cost the government $5,000,000, ne said, to resettle 165 families in the colony, only a few of which have become self sustaining.

"The $5,000,000 might much better have been spent in developing the Alaskan highway system," Guise asserted. "It would have given employment to 5,000 men and would have aided much in developing the mining industry, from which the territory gets its chief tax revenue, along with the fishing industry. At present, the government matches the $750,000 obtained for roads through taxation annually, but $1,500,000 is barely enough to maintain present roadways.

"Airplanes have become the popular mode of travel in the northland," Guise said. "They have largely replaced the dog sled. Journeys of several weeks have become a matter of hours. Airplane fare in many instances is less than railroad charges."

UKRAINIANS DEFY VATICAN PLEA TO BOW TO POLAND

Effort of Papal Envoy to Settle Row Fails.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Dec. 25.—Efforts of the Vatican to mediate the trouble between the Polish government and the Ukrainian minority have failed, Ukrainian deputies in parliament said today.

They declared Msgr. Filipo Cortesi, papal nuncio in Warsaw, has been unable to reach an agreement with Count Andreas Czeptycki, head of the Uniate branch of the Catholic church which has the largest group of followers in the Polish Ukraine.

Declines to Discuss Parley.

Msgr. Cortesi, who has returned to Warsaw after spending several days conferring with the stricken metropolitan of the Uniate church in his Lwow residence, refused to discuss the negotiations.

The Ukrainian deputies said the Vatican intervened in the Polish-Ukraine conflict as a result of the request of President Ignace Moscicki. Msgr. Cortesi was authorized by the Vatican to assure Count Czeptycki that the Catholic church in Poland had no ambitions to assimilate the Uniate believers as it had the Ukrainians professing the Russian Orthodox faith.

Although Polish newspapers published in the United States have denied previous reports that 173 Orthodox churches recently were destroyed by the Polish government to compel their congregations to attend Catholic churches, this fact is published in a number of Polish newspapers.

Rejects Vatican Offer.

The Ukrainian deputies further said that their metropolitan rejected an offer from the Vatican to make him a cardinal provided he would use his influence to combat the Ukrainian aspiration for home rule.

Count Czeptycki was said to have informed the Vatican envoy that the Polish government's failure to keep its promise to grant the Ukrainians some measure of cultural autonomy and the presence of large military detachments in Galicia precluded any possibility of a compromise between the Ukrainians and the Warsaw dictatorship.

Count Czeptycki also said that the ambition of the Catholic church in Poland to absorb rival churches is largely responsible for the state of insurrection now prevailing over wide areas of eastern and southeastern Poland. The count asserted he was not willing to interfere until Warsaw reversed its attitude.

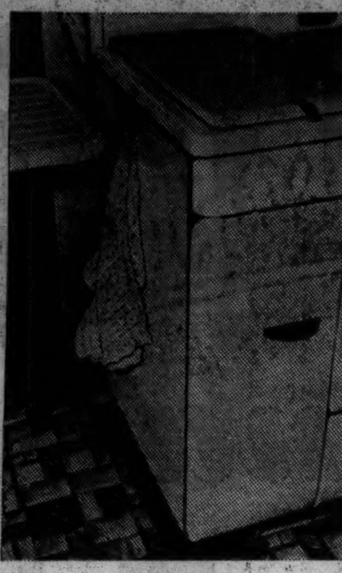
Rejects Autonomy Bill.

The Ukrainian question arose a few days ago when the speaker rejected a projected bill to grant the Ukrainian population full autonomy on the ground that it involved territorial changes and should have been signed by fifty-two deputies. The Ukrainians have only nineteen deputies.

Dr. Stefan Witwickij sought to introduce a motion to permit debate "about the present pacification campaign and massacre of peaceful Ukrainian inhabitants in Galicia by the Polish army and police." The motion was rejected amid disorderly scenes when the Polish deputies shouted down the Ukrainian speakers.

The Polish government warned foreign correspondents stationed in Warsaw that their permits to remain in Poland may be revoked if their reports of events in Galicia reflect discredit upon the government. Polish citizens representing foreign newspapers face severe punishment, including imprisonment in a concentration camp, if their dispatches violate the new press gag law.

Baby Strangles



The 2 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Borgardt rolled off the top of this stove and her sweater (shown hanging from valve) caught on the gas valve, strangling her.

It was a tragic Christmas day for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Borgardt, 5048 Giddings street. Their daughter, Eleanor, 2 months old, was strangled to death early yesterday when she rolled off a pillow on top of the kitchen range and her sweater caught on the gas valve.

Borgardt, 27 years old, and his wife, Olive, 26, left the child sleeping late Saturday night when they went out. They had a little beer, they told Jefferson Park police, and bowled a few games. It was 2:30 a. m. when they got home and found the baby.

After trying in vain to revive her, they called police. A fire department squad under Capt. Henry Spannenberg attempted for 45 minutes to resuscitate the infant.

Reveal $150,000 in Gold Not Aboard Looted Train

MANILA, Dec. 26.—[Monday.]—(AP)—Authorities disclosed today that the robber band which held up the Ilocos express, killed two messengers and looted the train did not get $150,000 in gold bullion which, first reports said, was aboard. The officers said the gold was not on the train. They reported the amount of the loot was undetermined but that it consisted of cash collections and ticket sales.

DISPOSE OF 645 APPEALS.

The Illinois Appellate court disposed of 645 cases this year, Clerk Sheldon Govier reported yesterday. There were 631 appeals filed during the year.

LIMA DELEGATES DRAFT A RECORD OF PARLEY ACTS

Will Be Signed at Last Session Tomorrow.

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 25.—(AP)—The republics of the western hemisphere, on record for solidarity against foreign aggression, today compiled their achievements at the Pan-American conference for signature at a final session on Tuesday.

Three delegations, those of the United States, Brazil, and Haiti, worked throughout the day to write the record in the conference's four official languages—English, Spanish, French, and Portuguese.

The final act must be printed in all four languages by Tuesday. First, however, the drafting committee, on which the United States member is R. Henry Norweb, minister to the Dominican Republic, must compare and approve the translations. Eighteen members and attachés of the United States delegation devoted their Christmas to this work.

Hull to Speak Farewell.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chief United States delegate, worked on the speech with which he will respond to Gen. Oscar Benavides, president of Peru, at a farewell dinner Tuesday night.

Alf M. Landon, a member of the United States delegation, changed his mind about attending the opening of the bull fight season and drove into the country instead. The bull fight, however, was a sellout with many other delegates attending.

With no session scheduled for tomorrow and the deliberative work of the conference completed, Landon prepared to fly home tomorrow by way of Central America and Mexico.

The drafting committee disclosed that the conference had produced no treaties or conventions. It was believed this was the first time such a situation had occurred in many conferences.

All agreements of the eighth Pan-American conference have been put into resolutions or declarations in which, delegates said, stronger language could be used.

Many Pacts Lack Approval.

They pointed out that many past treaties still lacked ratification in some countries and that neither resolutions nor declarations need be approved by congresses.

The final signing on Tuesday, also will be vastly simplified as a result. The declarations and resolutions all can be incorporated in a final act and heads of delegations will have to sign only four documents.

The brevity of the eighth Pan-American conference also was extraordinary. All its work will have been done in sixteen days of sessions, only ten of which were spent in committee meetings. Other Pan-American conferences have been known to last up to six weeks and even three months.

FASCIST EDITOR VIEWS VISIT OF DALADIER TO AFRICA 'PROVOCATION'

ROME, Dec. 25.—(AP)—Virginio Gayda, Fascist editor who often speaks Premier Mussolini's mind, declared today that French Premier Daladier's plans to visit Corsica and Tunisia were a "provocation" toward Italy.

"The visit is not being inspired by any bellicose act of Italy's and is provocative for all Italy," Gayda wrote in the newspaper La Voce d'Italia.

[After Fascist clamor was raised Nov. 30 for Tunisia, French protectorate in North Africa, and other French possessions Daladier announced he would tour both Tunisia and Corsica. The start of his trip has been scheduled tentatively for Jan. 2.]

WAITER ENDS OWN LIFE.

REDUCE CHICAGO'S LAKE DIVERSION NEXT SATURDAY

177 Million System Is Ready to Function.

At midnight next Saturday night, under a ruling of the United States Supreme court, diversion of water from Lake Michigan into the sanitary canal will be reduced from 5,000 to 1,500 cubic feet per second by the Chicago sanitary district.

Ross A. Woodhull, president of the district, said yesterday that all is ready to reduce the flow. This involves a 177 million dollar construction program, for sewage treatment works and sewers, which was started after the Supreme court, in 1930, denied the district the right to divert water through the canal. At that time diversion was 8,500 cubic feet per second.

Cut Flow to Tenth of Mile.

After next Saturday midnight the water in the sanitary canal at Lockport, where the diversion is controled by huge locks, will flow at about a tenth of a mile an hour. The flow is now several times that speed.

Heretofore semi-untreated sewage has been dumped into the drainage canal and purified by flowing down the canal.

About 160 million dollars has been spent on the district's construction program. The program included intercepting sewers which connect with what were formerly sewer openings into the Chicago river, north branch, Desplaines, and Calumet rivers; new west side, southwest, and Calumet treatment works, and the control works at the mouth of the Chicago river.

Halt Backward Flow.

With the reduction in the flow of the Chicago river there will be many times when it will have a tendency to reverse itself, because of heavy rain water, and flow out into the lake. Such an occurence would pollute drinking water. To prevent this the district has constructed a $3,000,000 retaining wall and lock at the mouth of the river so that the river can be shut completely off from the lake when it has a tendency to flow backward.

Boats will hereafter enter the river through the lock.

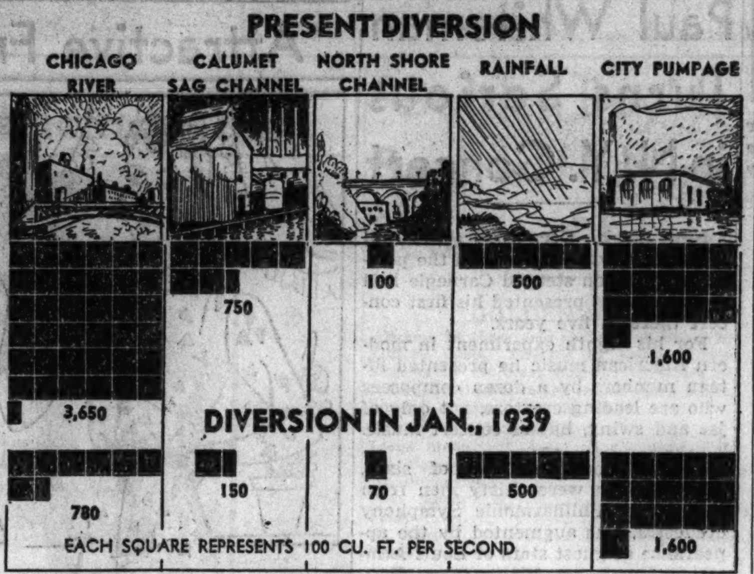
Horace P. Ramey, assistant chief engineer of the district, said the entire flow is computed, not by the flow in the river, but on the amount of water passing through the gates at Lockport. From that amount is deducted an average of 1,600 cubic feet per second or the normal water supply pumpage of Chicago, not referred to by the Supreme court. The remainder is the portion charged against the Sanitary district by the court.

"At present about 6,600 cubic feet per second pass at Lockport," Ramey said. "It is divided as follows: 1,600 is allowed for Chicago water pumpage; 3,650 comes through the Chicago river; 750 comes through the Calumet sag channel; 100 cubic feet per second comes through the North Shore channel, and 500 cubic feet per second average is charged to rain water."

After Saturday night the water passing through the canal at Lockport will be divided as follows: Chicago water pumpage, 1,600 cubic feet per second; Chicago river, 780; Calumet, 150; North Shore channel, 70, and rain water, 500.

Lake Diversion to Be Reduced

(Story in adjoining column.)



How the present diversion of water from Lake Michigan is divided and what it will be after it is reduced at the end of the year. The amount is calculated by the flow through the sanitary canal at Lockport. It is now 6,600 cubic feet a second, including city water pumped from the lake, and will be cut to 3,100 cubic feet a second.

FIND AIR MINDED FOLKS ALSO ARE ABSENT MINDED

Leave Almost Everything on Planes.

If you want to know what the average airplane passenger wears, reads—or leaves behind, just drop into the American Airlines lost and found department. An inventory of unclaimed articles left in stations and on planes in the last year was completed last week. It covered 30 typewritten pages.

The award for most absent minded passenger probably would go to the person who left the saxophone one stewardess found at the end of a run. Others in the race for that honor would include the man who left his bone handled straight razor, and the persons who forgot, [1], a mattress; [2], suitcase, packed with a man's complete wardrobe; [3] a white fur rug.

If you wanted to select an outfit for yourself you could choose from: eleven gray hats, three cowboy hats, seventeen panama hats, a dozen raincoats and topcoats, a lady's black straw hat with veil, umbrellas, canes, gloves, silk stockings, 25 or 30 pairs of galoshes and rubbers, a white tie with orange spots, bedroom slippers, and men's pajamas in black and white checks, red, pink, or green and lavender.

Some one probably wonders where she left that pair of shoes, size 4½A, and some one else is undoubtedly hunting high and low for a silver teaspoon with the initials M. P. F.

The passengers usually manage to take their children with them, but they have forgotten silver teethingrings, teddy bears, toy dogs, dolls, and rubber sheets. Not to mention a pillow and pillow case, a filter for a camera, the manuscript for a radio program, and 300 books, a box of candy [unopened], a tin bank with coins in it, and $17 in bills.

The most unusual thing left, although this was done in a huff, was an armadillo. A passenger in Dallas was forbidden to take it on the northbound plane and stalked out of the station, leaving the creature on the counter. A couple of days later American Airlines had an attack of conscience and sent the armadillo north. It died. They caught another and sent that. A company official delivered it in person, explaining the delay.

"This one," said the passenger coldly, "doesn't mean a thing. I caught the other with my two hands." The official didn't know what to say.

Soviet Russia and Italy Each Eliminate a Consulate

MOSCOW, Dec. 25.—(AP)—A government announcement said today that soviet Russia and Italy had decided to close their respective consulates-general at Milan and Odessa.

QUINTS THRILLED BY PROMISE OF FIRST AUTO RIDE

Callander, Ont., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—The Dionne quintuplets were promised their first automobile ride today. The promise was made after they had enjoyed the thrill of climbing into the Dionne auto when the family called at the quintuplets' hospital for an exchange of Christmas gifts.

While the greatest gift giving and the family holiday feasting will take place on New Year's according to French-Canadian custom, there was a generous yuletide prelude today. The quintuplets received toy animals and presented their brothers and sisters with red stockings filled with candies, fruits and nuts.

With their father, Oliva Dionne, as their Christmas shopper, the girls gave their mother a new black hat and a white angora scarf to be worn with the seal coat which was their father's de luxe present to Mrs. Dionne. They gave bright-colored scarves and ties to their father, pocketbooks to their older brothers and doll trunks to their older sisters.

Resort Styles Forecast Best of New Season

BY RHEA SEEGER.

After the whirl, the letdown! It's a temporary lull, what with the fun of spending Christmas checks for the few things you didn't get, or to plan a midwinter vacation. All the resort clothes have been out for days, giving good competition to the Christmas loot. In the yardage departments the new materials, in linens and cottons, flaunt all the good looking spring and early summer colors, with chartreuse the top shade of the showings.

We've written before about shopping for good looking midseason things when you see them because the snappiest things seldom play return engagements. The most unusual prints, the loveliest colors, the most daring combines in materials as well as clothes need to be taken right out of circulation with the first look. When you try to find such loot late in spring, you're bound to be disappointed. Shrewd shoppers, buy now!

Daytime dresses, all the lusciously tinted play clothes, slacks, stunning knitted sportswear, and accessories are irresistible, especially now when slush and snow and six weeks of winter weather loom ahead. Whether you shop for immediate needs [a resort clothes wardrobe] or perspicaciously for the spring and summer you'll find the best of the collections of the year right now.

Hats, gloves, bags, and sports outfits are plentiful. So are the swim suits and slacks, and beach robes. While they last they're the most exciting things to be found in town and prices are lower than ever before.

Take your Christmas checks and trot to town. All sorts of new and interesting finds are hung around to take your money.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

In reanalyzing the outstanding questions of the recent examination I must register an apology and a correction. There was a typographical error in the demerits assigned on Question 19, which was:

Only North-South vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	2 diamonds	Double	Pass

You are South and hold:
♠Q 10 8 4 3 ♥A K J 5 3 ♦None ♣A Q 3
What call do you make now?

A number of readers gave a three diamond bid for South as the proper answer, a cue-bid in the opponents' suit. This was the next best bid to the correct bid of three hearts and, therefore, should not have been covered by the 44 points demerit for "any other" bid. It was, however, not a truly logical bid, hence readers who answered three diamonds in this question should take ten points demerit, or credit themselves with 34 points if they previously debited themselves with 44 points. [All readers who sent their answers to me were given only a ten point demerit for bidding three diamonds.]

Now let us discuss this three diamond cue-bid. It is quite true that South has a good hand and that, in a sense, he is entitled to show "no losing diamonds." But I must point out that South has not yet informed North that he [South] holds an excellent heart suit. Obviously, the first thing to determine in a hand is the eventual trump suit and, in this case, if South prematurely shows control of the adversely bid diamond suit, he is leaving that selection to the dim future. If South properly shows the two suit nature of his hand by bidding three hearts, and in response North then bids three no trump, South can relax in the assurance that there is no slam, that North has a bad fit for both hearts and spades, probably holds good diamonds and, of course, something in clubs. If, however, South makes his cue-bid before showing his heart suit, and North bids three no trump, South then is obliged to show his hearts at the four level, and if three no trump was the correct contract, it is irretrievably lost.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the club king and, when East played the nine spot, continued with the ace and three. East won and returned a heart, feeling that there might be a diamond finesse in the hand for declarer and that it would be better to let him make his own guess. Dummy won and the spade queen was led. Naturally, since East had four spades, he was not so accommodating as to cover. The queen held and the nine was led through. When West showed out on his round, declarer realized that success depended on precisely one thing: his ability so to shorten himself that he would be able to pick up East's guarded spade king on a coup. To that end a heart was led and ruffed in the closed hand. A low diamond was returned to dummy's ten and another heart was led and ruffed. Now the stage was set. Declarer had reduced himself to East's trump level. The diamond queen was led and overtaken and dummy's last heart was played. East tried to avoid the coup by discarding a diamond, but was helpless. Declarer merely let go the diamond ace. Now all declarer had to do was lead a diamond from dummy and cover the trump that East was forced to play.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's column.

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of The Tribune, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

The Housewife

Small rugs that are really beautiful are not too easy to find. We were elated, therefore, when we came across several most artistic ones. They are just the thing to put in front of your mahogany dresser or between the beds in your bedroom, or at the head of the stairs in the upper hall, or even in the living room. They measure 2 by 3 feet and come in several soft, pastel tones such as eggshell, rose, blue, and beige.

In the center of each is a design of flowers, beautifully worked in varitinted yarns. Their pile is deep and luxurious; they'll last for years. And you'll always be proud of them, too.

Paul Whiteman Turns Serious in N. Y. Concert

New York, Dec. 25.—(AP)—Paul Whiteman, who first opened the portals of tradition steeped Carnegie hall to jaz, tonight presented his first concert there in five years.

For his eighth experiment in modern American music he presented fifteen numbers by a dozen composers who are leading creators, not only of jaz and swing, but of concert music.

His all-American band of sixty, among whom were thirty men from the august Philharmonic Symphony orchestra, was augmented by the appearance as guest stars of Louis Armstrong, Roy Bargy, Walter Gross, Rosa Linda, Lyn Murray singers, Raymond Scott quintette, and Artie Shaw.

Bargy, Gross, Scott, and Shaw also were represented among the composers, who included Duke Ellington, the late George Gershwin, Morton Gould, Ferde Grofe, Richard Rodgers, Bert Shefter, Nathan Van Cleave, and Fred Van Epps.

Whiteman arranged the program, he said, with the idea of giving a hearing to the more serious works of those composers he regards as modern masters.

Several first performances were presented, among them a "nursery ballet" by Rodgers, the musical comedy composer; "Three Ideas for Quintette and Orchestra," by Scott, and "Trylon and Perisphere," a composition of Grofe, inspired by the 1939 New York World's fair.

In tribute to Gershwin, "Rhapsody in Blue"—which he wrote hastily for Whiteman's first Carnegie concert and which became a national sensation—closed the performance.

Select Your Makeup to Harmonize With Tone of Your Skin

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The more conservative woman may prefer to avoid the new "reflection" movement in makeup.

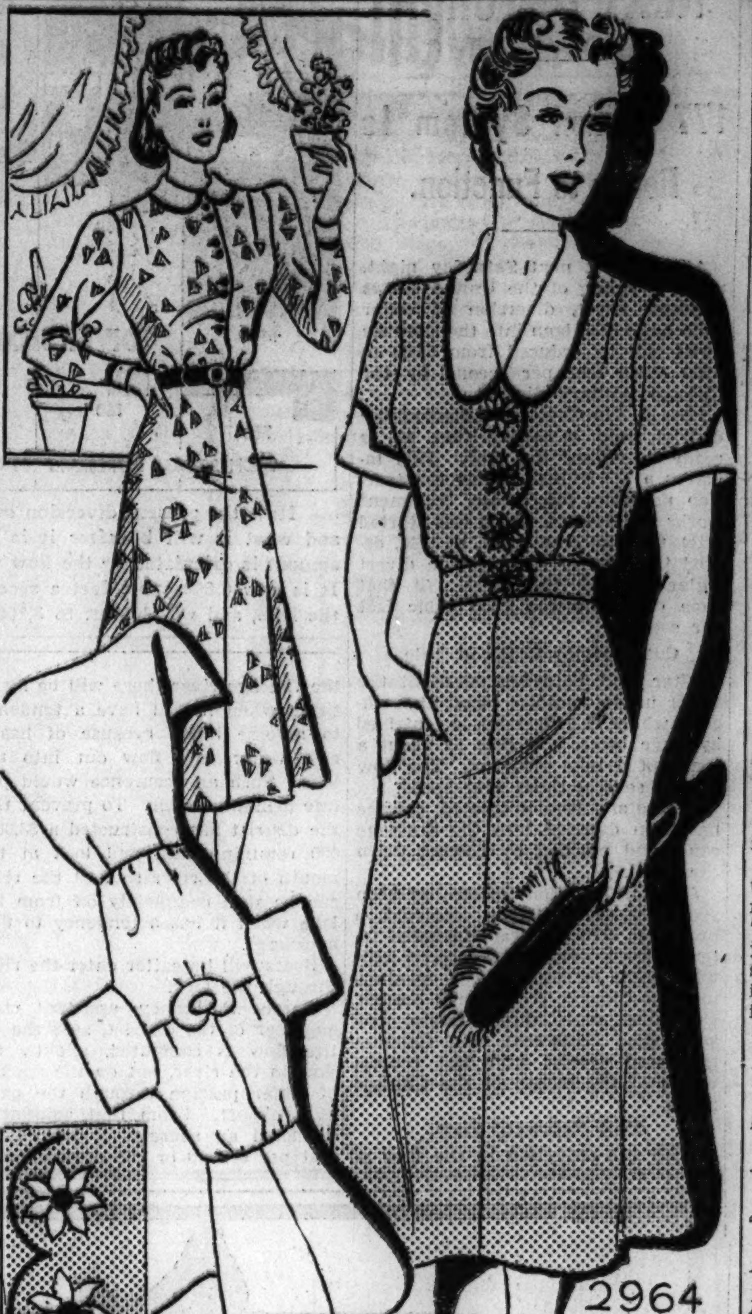
If you are of the older school you should select your makeup and your wardrobe to harmonize with your underlying blood tones.

The dashing, sophisticated type of woman may wish to give added distinction to her personality. In this case, she is permitted to use a darker shade of lipstick than her cheek rouge, but the color tones must be the same—blue-red. Persons with blue skin tones may wear blue, purple, violet, orchid, wine, and fuchsia.

If you are especially blessed by nature with an enviable ivory complexion, have acquired a rich suntan which retains through the winter a bronzed look, or if you have a golden toned skin, you should select a rouge and lipstick of brown, brownish-blue, bluish-yellow, henna-red, or mustard.

The third type of skin is that which has no color at all. If you belong to this group you're safe in using a red-red [the brighter the better] rouge and lipstick.

Attractive Frock for Home



WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOME FROCK.

One of the most important wardrobes in any woman's life is the one she selects for home wear. Wornout street dresses are not nearly good enough for those hours spent within the house, since chance callers are likely to drop in and find one looking anything but her best. In these days of fashion-consciousness every hour of the day is one for chic.

The frock illustrated today has the twin virtues of smartness and practicality. Its lines are utterly simple and comfortable to wear. The neckline may be high and round, or rather low and V. The collar may be Peter Pan or rather wide and soft. Cuffs, on either long or short sleeves, may match. The dress buttons down the front of the bodice. Included in the pattern is provision for making daisy appliques to surround the buttonholes. They are most attractive. A belt encircles the waistline, and the skirt, which may have a pocket if you wish, is flared only slightly.

All types of washable materials make up well, and both plain shades and prints are effective.

Style No. 2964 is designed for sizes 16, 18, and 20, and 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with ½ yard of 39 inch contrasting and 3 yards of binding.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

This new week is going to be hectic. Here are tips for those of you who are weary already and wonder how you can be starry-eyed for all the festivities:

Before you whip off to a party use your face mask. Cleanse the face first, then apply your mask and leave it on for as long as the directions call for. If you can lie down, completely relaxed, while the mask is on, so much the better.

While you're resting use your eye pads. The newest ones on the market, light as feathers and saturated with a preparation that soothes and brightens, are wonderful contributions to the business known as "pulling yourself together."

Give your hands a going over, too. Christmas jewelry can't be shown to advantage on rough, stained hands. For the quick removal of the stains use lemon to bleach. Change your polish. And cream your hands for as long a time as possible, using a cream as rich as that you use at night on your face. After washing use a lotion or cream that is quickly absorbed, or, if you want a particularly flattering finish, a liquid powder.

A half hour of intensive grooming will get you in beautiful shape.

Many of the letters in the cooking department's Christmas mail were interesting enough to be worth printing. But their quantity precludes using anything but excerpts from a few of them.

William W. Upton of Lombard sends us this rimed recipe for English Christmas plum pudding, with the comment: "I learned this in England some fifty years ago as a child. I never have seen the rime in print. You may use it if you see fit. I think it very charming."

"If you wish to make a pudding in which everyone delights
Of six pretty new laid eggs, you should take the yolks and whites.
Beat them well up altogether till they thoroughly combine
And be sure you chop the suet up particularly fine.

"Take a pound of well stoned raisins and a pound of currants dried,
And a pound of pounded sugar and some candied peel beside.
Mix them well up altogether with a pound of wheaten flour
And let them stand to settle for a quarter of an hour.

"Then put the mixture in a cloth and put it in a pot.
Some people like the water cold while some prefer it hot.
Although I do not know which plan I ought to praise,
I know it ought to boil an hour for every pound it weighs."

"There is in this no mention of brandy which, if added, makes a great improvement in the flavor of the pudding," adds Mr. Upton.

Miss Elizabeth Climo of Peru, Ill., has sent us the recipe for dressing which she considers best of all. "It was given to my grandmother when she arrived in Milwaukee as a bride from Germany over seventy-five years ago. It was handed down to the various members of her large family [it was one of those families in which the youngest, my mother, was younger than some of the grandchildren] and has been taken with them to various parts of the country."

The recipe itself is a bit vague, as all old recipes are, but that is a part of their appeal.

Dressing

Enough dry bread to almost fill turkey
Generous half cup of butter
3 eggs
Generous half cup of apples, chopped fine
Generous half cup of raisins
Generous half cup of celery cut fine. Also include the bleached tops cut in pieces

Soak the bread in water and squeeze as dry as possible. Mix in butter and eggs and, when well mixed, add the other ingredients, and season to taste.

A little more than a week ago I quoted the letter of a woman from Christopher, Ill., which described the plum puddings made by her mother at Cardiff, Wales, years ago. A Chicago reader wishes to obtain the Christopher woman's recipe. Correspondent from Christopher, will you please write in again? I have lost your name.

Scouting Fraternity Will Hear 'G'-Man and Boy Explorer

E. J. Gebben, assistant to D. M. Ladd, head of the local division of the federal bureau of investigation, and Less Essig Jr., 15 years old, hunter and explorer, will speak tomorrow at the 10th annual Owasippe lodge banquet in the Hotel Sherman. The lodge comprises Chicago members of the Order of the Arrow, national Boy Scout campaing fraternity.

Mr. Gebben will discuss the work of the "G-men," and young Essig will tell his experiences in Alaska and describe his feat of slaying an 1,800 pound polar bear with bow and arrow. Frank Schreiner, 5130 North Menard avenue, will be toastmaster.

A. H. MacLeod Is Engaged to Pasadena Girl

BY JUDITH CASS.

ONE of the first things Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wadsworth Harris will do when they go to California next month is to congratulate in person their grandson, Albert Harris MacLeod, whose engagement to Miss Laura Wheeler was announced yesterday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis McLaughlin Blankenhorn of Pasadena. Mr. MacLeod is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Langley MacLeod, also of Pasadena.

Miss Wheeler's father was the late Harold Sayre Wheeler of Tacoma and Pasadena. She is the only granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dodge Wheeler of Manistee, Mich., and is the eldest granddaughter of Mrs. Robert Edgar Anderson and the late Mr. Anderson of Tacoma. She has attended the Polytechnic Elementary school of Pasadena, the Westridge School for Girls, and was graduated a year ago from Mount Vernon seminary. She is a member of the Pasadena Junior league.

Mr. MacLeod, whose paternal grandparents were Mr. and Mrs. Murdock MacLeod of Chicago, attended the Polytechnic school and is a senior at Pomona college. The wedding will take place in the summer.

Six Debutantes to Be Presented at Parties Today.

It will not be surprising if the day after Christmas turns out to be the busiest day of the holiday season, at least for the debutantes and their beaux, for there are three dancing parties on the program. Starting at 4 o'clock with a tea-dance at the Indian Hill club and continuing through a dinner dance at the Blackstone, to a supper dance at the Casino, there will be music and dancing until, probably, 4 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Six debutantes are to be presented at the three parties. The tea dance is being given for Miss Jane Cheney, Miss Nancy Dammann and Miss Marie Louise Richards by their parents, the F. Goddard Cheneys, the J. Francis Dammanns, and Mr. and Mrs. Marcus D. Richards, and will be a large and gay affair. The buds have asked two dozen or more of their Winnetka neighbors, debutantes, and school friends to assist them, and in addition to these friends there will be a corps of young men serving as ushers.

Miss Richards' sister and brother-in-law, the William W. Ropers Jr., of Philadelphia, are here for the party, and so are Miss Dammann's brother and sister-in-law, the Thomas L. Dammanns, who arrived from California yesterday and who will leave for Europe next week. Miss Cheney's sister, Mrs. Robert Graves, also will assist. Mrs. Cheney's brother, Dr. Horace K. Tenney Jr., and Mrs. Tenney, have come from Madison, Wis., for the debut.

The music for the party will be supplied by I. Newton Perry Jr., brother of another of the season's debutantes, Miss Sally Perry. Young Mr. Perry, who attends Yale university, will play tonight for the Boys' Latin School senior and alumni dance at the Saddle and Cycle club. He is to play also at the debut dinner dance of his sister and Miss Carolyn Chapman on Dec. 29 at the Casino.

Miss Cheney, Miss Richards, and Miss Dammann all attended the North Shore Country Day school. The first is a student at Sarah Lawrence; Miss Richards and Miss Dammann attend Smith college. Peter and J. Francis Dammann Jr., Harvard students, will be among the ushers.

Dinner-Dance for Miss Mead and Edward H. Bennett Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Bennett are giving the dinner-dance for her daughter, Miss Betty Mead, whose formal introduction took place at a tea in October, and for his son, Edward H. Bennett Jr., who attends Harvard. Young Mr. Bennett will join his stepsister and their parents in receiving their guests at 8 o'clock.

Miss Jane Zimmerman and Miss Mary Louise Corley, for whom their parents, the Earle J. Zimmermans and the Frederick D. Corleys, are giving the supper-dance at the Casino, will dine at the Bennett party. Miss Zimmerman and Miss Corley will have to slip away early from the dinner-dance, however, to change into their debut frocks and to be ready to receive with their parents at 11 o'clock at the Casino.

Miss Zimmerman was graduated from Dobbs Ferry and spent last winter traveling in Europe with her grandmother, Mrs. Charles H. Wacker. Miss Corley, who attended the Girls' Latin school, is at home from Bennington for the holidays. Her Legal Abstraction.

Federal Judge William H. Holly is authority for the story. A few days ago David Twomey, lawyer and lover of Irish literature and music, was on his way to a famous restaurant in the loop when some one stepped up behind and asked for a dime for a cup of coffee. Twomey absent-mindedly handed him the dime. The person dropped in beside him.

"Are you going in here?" asked the lawyer.

"Yes," answered the other, and then he asked his benefactor his name.

"Twomey," answered the lawyer. "What's yours?"

"The same," was the reply as the two entered the restaurant and the man sat down at the same table Mr. Twomey had selected. Only then did the lawyer really look at him.

"My God, Dan, it's you," he said. It was his son, who had just arrived in town for a visit.

Canine Blood Transfusions.

Zona, a wire haired fox terrier (short for Arizona, where she was purchased), is improving from a serious illness during which eight blood transfusions were given her at the North Shore Animal hospital. Zona suffered from tonsilitis and complications. The other day when her mistress went to visit her she found her in a steam room, her wiry fur plastered to her sides with moisture. The blood injected from canine blood donors was typed, exactly as is that of human blood donors. Cost: $8 a transfusion.

Query.

Sounds like a radio gag, but Florence W. Prussing heard it in a department store Saturday. A saleswoman in the boudoir slipper section asked a male customer "Are these for your wife or do you want something better?"

The John Andrews King's: A card with twin old fashioned photographs of Mr. and Mrs. King as children. . . . Vincent Bendix's scarlet and white card, pictureless, embossed with greetings. Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. McPherson's map of directions for reaching their country home, Court Hill, at Pittsfield, Mass. . . . Gertrude (Scoop) Lawrence's: A composite of radiograms and telegrams. . . . John and Frances Gunther's scenic New York greeting. . . . Seymour Blair's Christmas notes in red ink, unusual in context.

'Golden Boy' Is Back with New Leading Players

"GOLDEN BOY."

Drama in three acts and twelve scenes by Clifford Odets. Directed by Robert Lewis. Settings by Mordecai Gorelik. Presented by the Group theater in the Grand Opera house, Sunday evening, Dec. 25, 1938.

THE CAST.

Lorna Moon	Jean Muir
Joe Bonaparte	Phillips Holmes
Mr. Bonaparte	Robert Leonard
Tom Moody	Walter Coy
Tokio	John O'Malley
Mr. Carp	Wolfe Barzell
Siggie	Will Lee
Anna	Adele Wilde
Frank Bonaparte	Nicholas Conte
Roxy Gottlieb	Louis Polan
Eddie Fuseli	Curt Conway

Also Bernard Zanville, Bert Conway, George Spelvin, Alan Wolfson, Alfred Thatcher, William Anderson, Francis Reid, and James O'Rear.

BY CECIL SMITH.

When "Golden Boy," Clifford Odets' strong drama of the young violinist who turned to the more mundane rewards of the prize ring, ended its original Chicago run last October it had by no means used up its potential audience. After four prosperous weeks the play left town, first to fulfill commitments elsewhere, and later to allow some of the cast to enter the New York cast of Mr. Odets' new play, "Rocket to the Moon."

Now, after an interruption of more than two months, "Golden Boy" is back with us again, this time in a different theater, the Grand Opera house, and with different leading players, Phillips Holmes and Jean Muir in place of Luther Adler and Frances Farmer.

The play, of course, is as good as ever. Its best moments—as when the gangster Eddie Fuseli (Curt Conway) muscles into a share of the ownership of the boy wonder, or when the boy breaks his hand in a bout, summarily ending all possibility of returning to his music—are sturdy passages that keep the audience in tense rapport with the stage. And Mr. Odets' sympathetic portrait of Boxer Joe Bonaparte's Italian father still remains one of the most touchingly written characterizations of the year.

In the present performance the values of the play stand out in bolder relief than the values of most of the individual performances. The original cast rejoiced in three players ideally suited to their rôles, Mr. Adler as the bcy, Morris Carnovsky as old Mr. Bonaparte, and Elia Kazan as the gangster. No such miraculous identification with their parts characterizes the work of Mr. Holmes or Robert Leonard or Curt Conway. All, however, are competent and assured, and Mr. Leonard in his best moments senses much of the ripeness of Mr. Bonaparte's human kindness.

In his initial performance on the Chicago legitimate stage, Mr. Holmes approached his assignment studiously and eagerly, without ever quite overcoming the temperamental disparity between his own natural good breeding and the half primitive, striving, confused mental processes of the Golden Boy.

Miss Muir's "tramp from Newark" struck closer to the mark dramatically than that of her predecessor, and fully equalled it in personal attractiveness. In the emotional park scene when she discovers her love for the boxer, she demonstrated a considerable degree of restrained power. This was her Chicago début.

In the shorter parts John O'Malley, Will Lee, Adele Wilde, and Louis Polan were especially happily cast. The whole performance moved swiftly and surely, with consistently good teamwork.

The Federal theater's revival of Augustus Thomas' "The Copperhead," scheduled to open at the Blackstone theater last evening, will be reviewed later in the week.

Good Morning!

This section of the Garrick's double-header is foolish but FUN!

It tells a wacky, fast moving yarn about a little French bride who, incognito as a maid in the home of her American husband's family, straightens out matters for a harassed father- and mother-in-law and for a spoiled and foolish young sister-in-law. . . . Incidentally she does very well for her husband and herself, too.

Olympe Bradna is adorable as the young Mrs. Fix-it. You'll like Ray Milland a lot as her young husband. . . . Irene Hervey gives a sparkling performance as a lovely, eccentric, big hearted rich girl. Janet Beecher, Holmes Herbert, Mona Barrie, Mary Carlisle, and all the other players are tops.

Dialog is bright and situations amuse.

"Say It in French" really does hand you a right good time.

"Gangster's Boy," also on the program, features Jackie Cooper, who, as Larry Kelly, has a hard time "living down" his father.

See you tomorrow.

ENGAGEMENTS

Prof. and Mrs. Arthur E. Holt of the Chicago Theological seminary and the University of Chicago announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence Eugenie, to the Rev. Charles William Arbuthnot, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Arbuthnot of Richmond, Ind.

Miss Holt was graduated from Swarthmore college. She taught for one year at Kobe college in Japan, and did graduate work at Union Theological seminary. Mr. Arbuthnot was graduated from Westminster college, and studied at Princeton Theological seminary and Union Theological seminary. The wedding will take place in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kornblith of 2300 Lincoln Park West announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to Segel H. Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo R. Hess of 915 Hyde Park boulevard. Miss Kornblith was graduated from Wellesley college. Mr. Hess attended the University of Wisconsin. The wedding will take place early in April.

At a cocktail party given yesterday in their home in Wilmette, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Dressel announced the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Jane, to Robert P. Mehren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Mehren of Winnetka. No date has been set for the wedding.

At a luncheon given in their home in Evanston on Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Thomas announced the engagement of their daughter, Kevil, to Charles Phillips Whittemore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey L. Whittemore of Evanston.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Bagdad-on-the-Pacific.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 25.—No gossip today, because Christmas and gossip don't run well together. But if you'd like, pull up a chair and we'll look through some of these Christmas cards. Let's see, let's see: Here's a white parchment that shows Edgar Bergen dressed in knee breeches standing in the snow outside an old English tavern, strumming his mandolin while Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd join in Christmas carols. . . . Instead of a card, a very nice letter from Bob Taylor . . . A winter scene, red church and houses silhouetted against white mountains and a frozen lake, from Hedy Lamarr. . . . A crystal star on a deep blue card inscribed "Noël" from Basil and Ouida Rathbone. . . . Christmas greetings compressed within a band of mistletoe from Anita Louise. . . . A Western Union wire from Joan Crawford. . . . A hoop-skirted little girl, coming full upon Santa Claus screams to her dogs: "Ching, Ching, there IS a Santa Claus."—That's from Shirley Temple.

All of Walt Disney's characters appear on Walt's card, a four-page brochure. Dopey catches your attention first, cuddled up with a turtle for a pillow on the frontispiece. In fact, they're all sleeping, except Grumpy, on the last page, who is cradled in the cauldron over the fire, keeping an eye out for Santa Claus. . . . Two tintype characters on a chaise longue are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hope. . . . Sophie Tucker scratches out "some of these days" and substitutes "may all of these days bring you happiness." . . . Olivia De Havilland's card shows an old fashioned little girl in a red cape, trimmed with ermine, observing the world dolefully.

A gorgeous picture of Priscilla and Rosemary Lane with the holiday greetings in white inking. . . . Sultry Ann Sheridan sends a sultry brown card enlivened by a red and gold poinsettia plant. . . . The Hal Le Roys offer a brilliantly colored picture of a Russian Cossack dancer and his partner, orange, yellow and white against blue. . . . Gold mistletoe with red berries is burdened with the greetings of Alice Faye and Tony Martin. . . . Gold mistletoe outlined against glossy white from Glenda Farrell.

"Merry Christmas—and stuff." That would be Martha Raye. It is. . . . Arthur Treacher, Shirley Ross, Eddie Welch, and hundreds of others sent plain little cards with this explanation: "This may not be a fancy way to wish you Merry Christmas, but my Christmas card money went to the motion picture relief fund." . . . Quite a few, too, instead of sending cards, donated money to charity, and the treasurer of the charity notified you that money had been given in your name. . . . White monogram on a red background from Betty and Borrah Minnevitch. . . . A silver coach and four driving down a blue highway, from Bert Lahr. . . . A stunning picture of Hope Hampton peeking through the aperture of her card.

"Hi ho! Christmas," with a boy and a girl waving at you from ovals in a white card representing Gladys George and Leonard Penn. . . . A cute little girl posed against a fawn on Joan Fontaine's card. . . . Jesse Lasky sends a card and a pencil with his picture on it. . . . Red and silver for Bonita Granville.

"Love, Jane Withers" shows the kid star feeding two does on the lawn of her home, the necks of the little deer garlanded with mistletoe. . . . Kate Smith's card is as unusual as her grand voice, because the card shows a red and white Santa Claus; no one else thought of using a picture of Santa Claus.

But the cards are still pouring in, and this column is running out of breath and space so, perhaps, another day we can go on with this.

SYNOPSIS.

Nora Stacy receives a letter from India from her fiancé, irresponsible Jim Murdock, breaking their engagement. Heart broken Nora writes Jim she'll marry the next man who asks her. Jim's family live next door to the modest English cottage where Nora lives with her aunt, Mrs. Dorothy Callender. When Bob Matherson of Fairways, rich young bachelor and recent neighbor, proposes to Nora she accepts. Three days before the wedding Jim returns and demands that Nora run away with him. Nora feels morally pledged to Bob. Jim gives Nora her love letters to him—except the one in which she vowed to marry the next man who asked her. Mrs. Pearl Almy, a former attachment of Bob's, who rents a cottage on his estate, gets the letter and sends it to Bob, hoping he'll call off the wedding, but Bob goes through with it. Their wedding night Bob tells Nora he married her for convenience, too. They agree their marriage will be in name only. Bob and his sister's husband, David Longton, are in the aircraft armament business for the government. Cissy Longton tells Nora that Mrs. Almy, who used to work in their office, is suspected of giving away the firm's secrets to a rival. Nora dismisses the housekeeper when she finds her conspiring with Mrs. Almy. Bob is in danger of being arrested for double crossing his country. A government man, Capt. Grew, arrives at Fairways and Bob invites him to stay for an informal party. He tells Bob he is investigating Mrs. Almy, Bob's suspected mistress. Nora hears him. Mrs. Almy is plotting with Jim to steal plans that night from the Fairways Tower room safe. Nora dances with Jim and relives the illusion of her old love. Later Bob misses Nora from the room. He finds her in her boudoir and suspects her of having a rendezvous with Jim. Pearl faints just after Jim has pretended to leave, but Mrs. Callender sees him later sneaking out through the housekeeper's quarters.

INSTALMENT XXV.

A JUDAS KISS.

Ten minutes later Aunt Dorothy was trudging through the snow leaning on the arm of Capt. Grew.

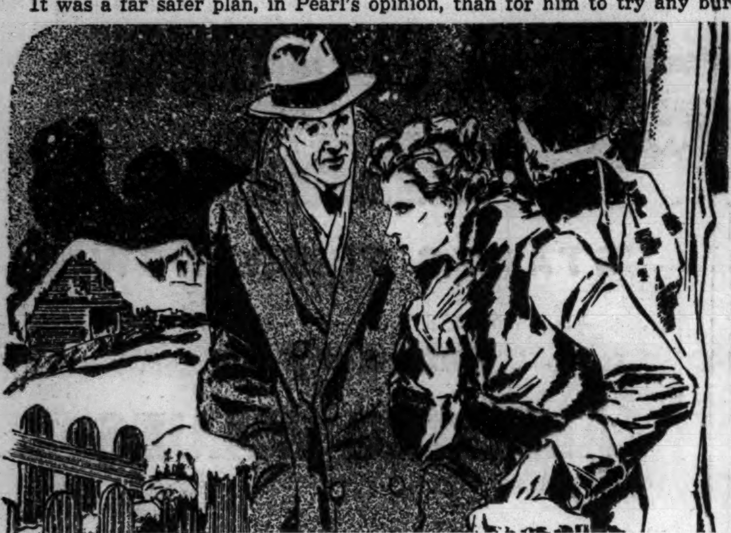
Mrs. Almy had come out of her faint, or whatever it was. The doctor had hardly been needed, after all, for she had regained consciousness a few moments before he arrived.

The doctor thought it was probably a mild heart attack due, perhaps, to indigestion, and Pearl agreed with him. She had been so pleased to find herself alive that she would have agreed to any diagnosis of her case, but at the same time she was on tenterhooks to know whether or not Jim Murdock had carried out his share of their scheme.

It was one that provided them both with excellent alibis.

Jim was to bid his host good night as soon as Pearl had swallowed the capsule that was guaranteed to render her unconscious for about half an hour. Then, when everybody's attention was distracted by her collapse, and most especially Bob Matherson's, Jim was to slip back into the house by way of the housekeeper's entrance, to which Pearl had provided him with a key, and from there make his way to the Tower room, open the safe with the duplicate key and take out the circular metal case containing the blueprints—if she had been right in her reasoning, and the prints had been secreted there.

It was a far safer plan, in Pearl's opinion, than for him to try any burglaring after the household had retired for the night. As she knew, Fairways was well equipped with an alarm system, and Beals was a most careful person when it came to locking up.



"I'm coming in with you," he said firmly.

Pearl felt that they were peculiarly lucky. For who could have known that Bob Matherson would supply them with such a unique opportunity just when they needed it most?

Although at lunch she had thrown out a hint to him about its being so dull at Green Mallows.

Well, Bob had taken her suggestion and given his party.

The question now was—a burning one—had Jim Murdock done his little whack?

She might not know until morning, but all the same she simply had to get home.

They wrapped her in her fur coat and she said she felt quite well enough to walk down the stairs.

On one side she clung to the banisters and on the other she had Bob's arm.

It had nearly stopped snowing and a pale cold moon gleamed high in the midnight sky.

The lights of her cottage at the lodge gates showed yellow.

"Somebody sitting up for you?" Bob asked.

A tremor went over her. Suppose Jim had gone directly there? Would he have been such a fool?

"It's probably poor old Mrs. Cooper. I suppose you heard what happened to her?"

"Yes, Nora told me."

He made no comment.

"She asked if she could stay with me a few days until she got her bearings," Pearl said, panting a little. "I felt sorry for her—the poor old thing!—and in a way responsible."

"Yes, I expect you felt responsible," Bob said. "Well, here we are. I'll just see you comfortably inside."

"No, please don't bother."

There was alarm in her voice.

"I'm coming in with you," he said firmly.

To Pearl's intense relief there was nobody in the living room but Bonzo, sound asleep by the dying fire, and no sign of anybody's having been there. Evidently Mrs. Cooper had left the light on and gone to bed.

"Good night, Bob darling. I'm sorry to have been such a nuisance." Lithe and slender, her green eyes gleaming, she reached up her arms and gave him a Judas kiss.

"For old time's sake," she said. "You do love me a little, don't you, Bob?"

"About as much as you love me," he replied.

Pearl Almy began to laugh softly. There was a smear of lipstick at the corner of Bob's mouth and it looked rather funny. During her recovery she found time to daub her own mouth; it was force of habit, and she could do it in the dark.

Bob didn't stay any longer.

Coming out of the cottage he saw a blazing white light in the Tower room.

"By the lord Harry," he exclaimed between his teeth, "they've done it this time!"

Then he started to run.

For the second time in their so-called married life, and within the space of a comparatively few hours, Bob Matherson burst unannounced into his wife's bedroom.

But it happened that on this occasion Nora was not alone.

Cissy was there, too, sprawled with a cigaret in the little armchair, while Nora sat at the dressing table brushing her hair.

"Good heavens, do you usually come into rooms like that?" exclaimed Cissy.

"Sorry—I thought you were alone, Nora," Bob said, ignoring his sister.

Cissy rose lazily.

"Is that a hint?"

"I wanted to speak to Nora."

"All right, I'll go. . . . Did you get the invalid home without any accidents? Goodness knows you were gone long enough."

"Yes, Pearl's all right . . . and what's the matter with you?"

For Cissy now was staring at him with an expression of transfixed horror, and a slow blush was creeping up from her neck. She made a fluttering little gesture towards her face, as though trying to convey some surreptitious information to him, but he hadn't the least idea what she meant.

Nora silently offered him her hand mirror.

"He's probably scratched himself," said Cissy in a desperate voice.

Bob made a wry face.

"Yes, it looks a nasty one, but I didn't exactly do it myself," he said.

"O, Bob, you are a beast!" Cissy cried.

She rushed from the room almost in a panic.

"Beals said he gave you the house keys," Bob said. "Where are they?"

Nora turned away from him with an overdone air of unconcern.

She wasn't going to let him know that she cared about his kissing Pearl Almy any more than she hoped she had shown nothing when that friend of his, Capt. Grew, had openly referred to Pearl as his mistress.

"I'll get them for you. They're in a drawer of my writing table."

She went ahead of him, slender, disdainful, lovely, and it must be admitted altogether hateful in the eyes of her harassed husband.

As they entered the charming little boudoir she said casually; "It's only fair to tell you, Bob, that I am leaving this house—leaving you."

"I am not surprised. I was expecting it. When do you go? I calculated myself that it would be some time on Monday. After lunch, probably."

She whirled around to face him, balancing herself against the writing table, the long, fur-bordered sleeves falling away from her forearms, her face aflame with angry suspicion.

"How did you know? I mean——"

"It all works together. . . . Will you please give me those keys?"

Avoid Harping on Your Child's Past Mistakes

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Children do "take" a lot from us. When little they're too inarticulate to point out to us our mistakes, because truly, we must get on their nerves sometimes! When they're older they have too much affection and respect for our being grownup to tell us frankly what they think of some of our ways with them—ways we wouldn't presume to have with our peers. I know that children often restrain themselves in justifiable criticism of us.

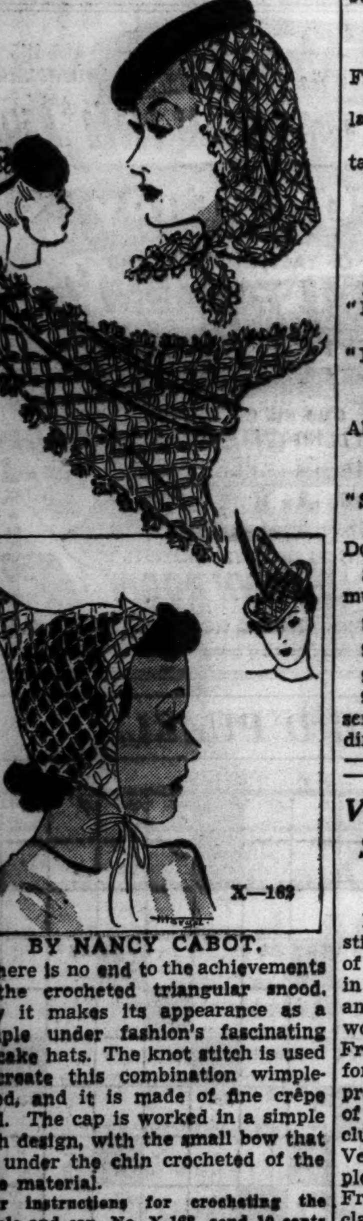
What I have in mind today is the universal human failing of saying, "I told you so"; or of rubbing in your child's past mistakes, going back again and again, in a moment of irritation at some immediate offense, to past misdemeanors. Catching yourself up on this sort of thing is particularly important during the teen years.

Parents, I believe, more than any one else should refrain from "rubbing it in" in dealing with their children. If your daughter leaves her bedroom in confusion and you decide to put it in order, tell her about it, but don't "rub it in." If your son is made responsible for the furnace and lets it go out twice in one week, you can thrash it out with him if you think it necessary but, as he may say, "Gee, Mom—I feel bad enough about it, anyhow—don't rub it in."

And with more serious matters be watchful of yourself. If your girl has lied or your boy has stolen, don't keep harking back to his or her act. It may need settling by talk, or cure by the finding of causes, but it should not be rubbed in. The wholesome thing mentally is for that child to be helped to form a "positive" picture of himself, not a "negative" one of himself doing anti-social things.

Let bygones be bygones, big or little! Help your child to start fresh. Don't be the kind of mother about whom your son or daughter can say, "O, dear, if mother knows about it I'll never hear the last of it!"

Wimple Created in Crochet Adds to Chic of Hats



X—162

BY NANCY CABOT.

There is no end to the achievements of the crocheted triangular snood. Now it makes its appearance as a wimple under fashion's fascinating pancake hats. The knot stitch is used to create this combination wimple-snood, and it is made of fine crêpe wool. The cap is worked in a simple mesh design, with the small bow that ties under the chin crocheted of the same material.

For instructions for crocheting the wimple and cap, No. X-162, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

TODAY'S RADIO BROADCASTS

Today's Features

ON W-G-N.

The Pageant of Melody, conducted by Henry Weber and starring Attilio Baggiore, popular W-G-N operatic tenor, will offer a variety of light classical and concert music from the station's main studio at 9:30 p. m. A medley of love songs will be sung by Mr. Baggiore with the octet and orchestra. These will be Bizet's "Flower Song," from "Carmen," and Liszt's "Liebestraum." Mr. Baggiore also will sing "O Lovely Night" and "I Hear You Calling Me."

Shirley Howard.

A cantata, "The Music of Bethlehem," will be presented over W-G-N and the Mutual system from 2:30 to 3:30 p. m. by the Grace Evangelical Lutheran church choir directed by Louis B. Abraham.

Ernie Fiorito's Studies in Contrast, with Shirley Howard, blues singer, Don Arres, baritone, and the Novelty choir, will offer a half hour variety musical at 7 p. m. At 8 p. m. the mystery drama, the Green Hornet, starring Al Hodge, will be heard.

Venus of the Turnip Patch Still Has Critics Up in Air

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 25.—Art critics are still trying to prove that the Venus of the Turnip Patch, found recently in a field near Brizet, is really an antique Greek treasure and not the work of a living Italian sculptor, Francesco Cremonse. Cremonse came forward after it had been found and produced missing nose, arm and legs of the sculpture, and also the night club model he used in making it. The Venus had been called a fine example of the neo-Attican period. The French government had even proclaimed it a national treasure not to be sold. Now the department of fine arts is investigating to cover up its confusion.

Fill Churches for Christmas Day Services

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Nearly all Chicago attended Christmas services in the city's two thousand churches during the twenty-four hour period ending at 9 o'clock last night. The estimate of the Chicago Church federation that 90 per cent of the city's residents are members of churches seemed confirmed by thronged houses of worship.

The sequence of Catholic masses, beginning in some churches at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, came to its climax at noon in Holy Name cathedral when Cardinal Mundelein presided at solemn pontifical mass, while Protestant Christmas day services may be said to have concluded with a notable service in Chicago's unique church of all creeds, The Sunday Evening club, Orchestra hall.

The Rev. Dr. George L. Gibson, newly installed pastor of Hyde Park United church, was the club's Christmas preacher, with "Christmas Peace" as his subject.

During hours before daybreak, the greeting of "Glad Jul ock Nytt Ar" [Joyful Christmas and New Year], resounded among old friends of Norse birth as they gathered at Julattas and sang their traditional carols and heard retold the old story of the crowded inn and the hospital stable.

Churches where membership is principally German-American were also overflowing with worshipers at the crêche of the Christ child.

St. Luke's Episcopal procathedral, Evanston, presented a midnight Eucharist typical of most churches of that denomination, with Bishop George Craig Stewart, the celebrant. For Catholics, Episcopalians, and Lutherans, Christmas day launches an eight day observance of the Nativity feast when days of specially honored saints are given places on calendars close to Christ's birthday.

Today is dedicated to St. Stephen, first Christian martyr, and tomorrow is set aside for St. John the Evangelist, known as the beloved disciple, on Catholic, Lutheran, and Episcopal calendars. Holy Innocents' or Children's, day is observed by Catholic, and Episcopal churches on Wednesday. This refers to the flight into Egypt of Mary and Joseph and the Christ child to escape Herod's massacre of Bethlehem children. Children who gave their lives for their faith during Roman persecutions are also honored.

A. H. MacLeod Is Engaged to Pasadena Girl

cousin, Miss Elizabeth Hyland, has come from Rye, N. Y., for the party, to remain over New Year's. The Castle twins, Miss Caroline and Miss Josephine Castle, are giving a hocky party on New Year's night for Miss Corley.

Elizabeth Browning Weds F. L. Marshall Jr. Today.

This afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the chapel of the Fourth Presbyterian church Miss Elizabeth Marshall Browning will be married to Fielding Lewis Marshall Jr. The bride will be given in marriage by her brother, Granville W. Browning Jr. She will be unattended. Mr. Marshall will have his brother, J. Waller Marshall as his best man and ushering will be two brothers-in-law, Joseph M. Barton and C. Durand Allen, and John Burton Foley and Anthony Lee Michel.

The Rev. Theodore C. Hume of the New England Congregational church will officiate. Following the ceremony the bride's mother, Mrs. Granville Williams Browning, will give a reception at her home, 2205 Cleveland avenue. Only relatives and close friends will witness the ceremony and attend the reception.

Mrs. Marshall Fleming Becomes Bride Today.

In a quiet ceremony at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Simmons, Mrs. Simmons' sister, Mrs. Marshall Fleming, will be married to David Richardson Fall, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Horton Fall Jr, of Evanston. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Marshall of the Drake, will be unattended. Mr. Fall's father will be his best man.

The Rev. Samuel Harkness of the Winnetka Congregational church will read the service. Only the two families will be present. After Jan. 15 Mr. Fall and his bride will be at home in Asheville, N. C. He is headmaster of the Asheville school.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Childs are giving and eggnog party in their home in Lake Forest this morning to introduce their son's fiancée, Miss Jean Joers, to their friends. Miss Joers and F. Newell Childs arrived in Lake Forest on Saturday morning, and they are leaving again this afternoon for the east. Their wedding will take place on Feb. 3 in the chapel of St. Thomas church in New York, with a reception following at the Colony club.

Sidney Castle Family Holds Open House Today.

The Sidney Castles will hold open house today from 12 to 2 o'clock at their home in Geneva. Their daughters, Mrs. Benjamin Crissey and Miss Janet Castle, and their son, Dick, who is at home from Brown university, will assist. Mr. and Mrs. Crissey and their two little children have come from their home in Kansas City to spend the holidays with the Castles and with his parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Crissey and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Crissey, who also live in Geneva.

Miss Jean Yang, who is a classmate at Vassar college of Miss Patricia Wilson, is arriving this morning to visit Miss Wilson and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wilson. Miss Wilson and her brother, Ted, are entertaining at cocktails this afternoon at the Lake Shore Drive hotel for Miss Yang, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Yang Pao-Ling of Tientsin, China.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Williams are having an open house from 4 until 6 o'clock this afternoon in their home in Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gerlach are having a cocktail party today "after four-thirty" at their home, 2440 Lake View avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Barrett are giving a small tea this afternoon for their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Sherwood Howe of Houston, Tex. The Howes arrived on Christmas eve for a holiday visit.

Miss Jane Harper has a busy week ahead of her, for there are three parties being given for her. Samuel Harper is giving a dinner and ballet party for his debutante niece tonight and Mrs. Graham Aldis is entertaining at a dinner and ballet party tomorrow night. Wednesday Mrs. Edwin C. Austin is giving a luncheon and matinée party for Miss Harper.

The Lake Forest Junior Assembly will be held tonight at the Onwentsia club. It will be a dinner-dance, and Mrs. Laurence B. Robbins is in charge of arrangements.

The University Colony club is giving its annual Christmas ball tonight at the Shoreland hotel. Mrs. Arthur Green is in charge of arrangements.

WEDDINGS

The wedding of Miss Ann Seymour Callender, daughter of Mrs. William D. Callender of 1400 Lake Shore drive and the late Mr. Callender, to Arthur H. Speakes Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Speakes of 2125 Lunt avenue, took place yesterday. The ceremony was performed in the rectory of St. Peter and Paul church in Naperville. A reception followed at Oakhurst farms, the Naperville home of the bride's mother. The house was decorated with evergreen and holly, and the fireplace, banked with white poinsettias, formed a lovely background for the receiving line. Miss Ruth Callender was her sister's only attendant. Glenn Truax was best man for Mr. Speakes.

The wedding of Mrs. Mary Henderson McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Henderson of St. Louis, Mo., formerly of Evanston, to Oliver W. Roesing, son of Mrs. Helen Oliver Roesing of Evanston and Frank Roesing of Chicago, will take place at 11 o'clock this morning. The ceremony will be performed at the home of Mrs. McCoy's sister, Mrs. Selman Schulz, in Evanston. A small reception for the families will follow. After a wedding trip to New Orleans, Mr. Roesing and his bride will be at home in Boston, Mass.

AMERICANS DEFEAT HAWKS, 5-1; TAKE 3D PLACE

C. Y. O. DERBIES OPEN SKATING SEASON TODAY

Hold Annual Meet in Lincoln Park.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Eight ice skating clubs will open the season this afternoon in the fourth annual Catholic Youth organization skating derby in Lincoln park at Waveland avenue. This is the first meet sanctioned by the Illinois Skating association and will be followed next Sunday by the forty-sixth annual Derby sponsored by the Sleipner Skating club in Humboldt park.

Originally scheduled to take place on Garfield park's lagoon, the C. Y. O. Derbies will be shifted to Lincoln park because of better ice. Decision to change was made by Earl W. Solem, president of the Illinois Skating association, and Jack Elder, athletic director of the Catholic Youth organization, with the permission of George T. Donohue of the Chicago park district.

Six, then Tribune's Meet.

Including today's meet, which offers sixteen races, there will be six events before the twenty-second annual Tribune Silver Skates Derbies scheduled for Jan. 14 and 15 in Garfield park.

The schedule follows: Sleipner S. C., Humboldt park, Jan. 1; Illinois State meet, Aurora, Ill., Jan. 2; Chicago Park district, Columbus park, Jan. 4; Northwest Skating club City title meet, Humboldt park, Jan. 8; Glen Ellyn A. A. A., Memorial park, Jan. 11.

Skating clubs competing today are the Northwest, C. Y. O., Tilden skating club, Olympic, Midwest, Winkler skating club, Glen Ellyn A. A. A., and the Govier skating club. The combined membership of the Northwest and C. Y. O. clubs is 150.

Eight Races for Men.

Eight of today's races will be for senior men. Senior girls will compete in two races. Classification in the seniors is divided into Class A, AA, B, C, and Novice and the number of points scored in major competition determines ranking. The remainder of the program includes one race each for intermediate boys, 16 and 17 years of age; intermediate girls, 16 and 17 years of age; junior boys, 14 and 15; junior girls, 14 and 15; juvenile boys, 12 and 13 years of age, and midget boys, under 12 years of age.

Entries will be accepted until 12:30 this afternoon. The age classifications are the same as those for the Silver Skates Derbies Jan. 14 and 15. However, no post entries will be accepted by the officials conducting the Silver Skates races. Individual and team entries must be filed by midnight Jan. 7.

The season championship is determined by the composite score for the sanctioned schedule. While the year's title is the goal of each club, there is unusual interest in today's events because of the development of new stars, some of whom may be able to win places on the United States speed skating team in 1940.

Record Holder Competes.

Five ranking juvenile skaters [13 years of age and under] are expected to fight it out. They are Buddy Solem, Midwest A. C.; Donald Fahrenbach, Jackie Burke, and Bob Christanson, of the C. Y. O., and Edward Planert Jr. of the Olympic Skating club.

Buddy Solem is the son of Earl W. Solem, president of the Illinois Skating association. He won a pair of Silver Skates in 1937 in the boys' midget class. Last year he won the National indoor title in the same class and he holds the accepted world's records in the midget class for 440 yards and 660 yards.

2 PENNSYLVANIA SWIMMERS SET WORLD RECORDS

Coral Gables, Fla., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Two world swimming records were broken today by two Pennsylvania aquatic stars taking part in a Christmas day meet in the Miami Biltmore pool. Peter Fick of the Broadwood Athletic club, Philadelphia, set out to break the 50 meter record but he was thrown off his timing when his foot caught in a rope at the last turn on the 25 yard course. The judges determined he broke the 50 yard mark but failed on the 50 meter attempt. Fick shared the 50 yard record with Duke Kahanomoku and Johnny Weismuller with a time of 21.7 seconds before today's race. He cut the time one-tenth of a second.

Miss Dorothy Evans, also of the Broadwood Athletic club, covered the 50 meter straightaway course in 30.7 seconds to break a record of 31 seconds set fourteen years ago by Ethel Lasky at Coral Gables.

Notre Dame Club Will Hold Its Annual Banquet Tonight

The Notre Dame club of Chicago will hold its annual banquet at 8 o'clock tonight in the Drake hotel. Ed Beinor, star tackle of Notre Dame, will lead the grand march. Dan Ryan is president of the club.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

BOTH basketball and hocky attendance at the University of Minnesota are far ahead of any previous season. . . . The hocky crowds have doubled. . . . This may be the last of the East-West games in San Francisco. . . . The Shrine committee, which sponsors the game for crippled children, is considering a contest between two college teams for next year. . . . The growth of Bowl games has cut heavily into the talent for the present setup. . . . George Sauer, New Hampshire football coach, had to use his brother Eddie in every position except tackle the last season. . . . Sam Francis, Chicago Bears' full back, is selling insurance [we hope] in Lincoln, Neb. . . . When the official 1939 White Sox roster is published the pitchers will include the name of Monty Stratton, who last month lost his right leg in a hunting accident. . . . Joe Sheeketski, recently appointed Holy Cross football coach, who was slated to serve as Eddie Anderson's back field coach, received a salary check from the Iowa athletic department two days before his appointment at Worcester was announced. . . . His contract at Iowa began Dec. 1 and the check was for the first two weeks of the month. . . . Tom Lieb, who a few weeks ago resigned as football coach at Loyola university of Los Angeles, hopes to return to a position in the middle west. . . .

Mrs. Keith Molesworth, wife of the former Bear quarter back, is recovering from an appendectomy performed in Annapolis. . . . Molesworth is an assistant coach at the United States Naval academy. . . . President William Harridge of the American league and Lew Fonseca will go east next week to attend premièr showings of the league's new baseball film. . . . Chicago Stadium corporation rates Sonja Henie and Golden Gloves the biggest attractions the building houses. . . . In the event Tex Carleton fails to make good with the Milwaukee Brewers, he won't have to worry about having a roof over his head. . . . He recently moved into a new $25,000 home in Fort Worth, Tex. . . . Walter Tewksbury, who won the high and low hurdles in the 1900 Olympic games in Athens, is a dentist in Tunkhannock, Pa. . . . Charley Beer, tackle at the University of Detroit, played 426 minutes of a possible 600 this season. . . . Oscar Vitt of the Indians, with such tempermental agents in his employ as Rollie Hemsley and Johnny Allen, finds his troubles doubled by the addition of Johnny Broaca and Ben Chapman.

A Salesman's Lament.

'Twas the night before Christmas—and all through the store,
The noise and the clamor was making him sore.
"Yes, madam, and thank you—and DO call again"—
"Merry Christmas—Happy New Year [you stuffed up old hen].

Extras and bosses, shoppers, and bums,
Shoplifters, house dicks—ain't they the ones,
Who manage to get in your hair every night
And make you desire to get very "tight."

Registers ringing—"My baby is lost!"
"Lady you're getting this strictly at cost!"
Pretty girls with make-up smeary,
Mascara running from eyes so teary.

Tomorrow we rest—O, boy, what a break,
To be able to finish a nice juicy steak.
No more headaches—no more pain,
Till next Christmas—then again—

The work will be hard—the pay will be small,
But I'll keep on smiling, and the heck with 'em all. —Nella.

Ten Years Ago Today—A. A. Stagg, for thirty-two years track coach at Chicago, resigned that position. He picked Ned Merriam as the new Maroon coach. . . . Dana X. Bible, Texas A. and M. football coach, was named head coach at Nebraska.

BRIMSEK YIELDS A GOAL AT LAST; RANGERS WIN, 1-0

Boston Rookie's String of Shutouts Snapped.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 25.—(AP)—The New York Rangers beat the Boston Bruins, 1 to 0, before an overflow crowd of 16,000 in the Boston Garden tonight. It was the National league leaders' first defeat in eight games and the first one of the season on their home ice.

The Rangers' triumph, resulting from Phil Watson's second period goal, was gained while the brilliant rookie, Frank Brimsek, was outdoing himself in the Boston cage. He had twenty-four stops during the contest and, because the Bruins maintained a five man attack during the last thirty-four minutes of play, seldom had any protection.

Performs Brilliantly.

Time after time he turned back Rangers, who had trapped all of his teammates down-ice, kicking out or smothering vicious shots fired at him from a range of from three to five feet.

Brimsek was scored on for the first time in 220 minutes and 20 seconds when Dutch Hiller launched the Rangers' decisive thrust during the twenty-sixth minute of play. Hiller carried into the right corner, passed out to Bryan Hextall and the puck was relayed to Watson at the mouth of the Boston net. Watson's lightning jab decided the game.

Four times thereafter the Bruins caught the Rangers short-handed, but Lester Patrick's defense-minded players refused to crack under the pressure.

Pull Goalie Out of Cage.

Brimsek was pulled out of his cage eighty seconds before the bell to enable an extra forward to go into action. While the six mobile Bruins battled against the Rangers' five, they recorded four faceoffs in the New York zone as they battled furiously but vainly for the tying goal. The lineups:

WINGS WIN, 4-1

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 25.—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings took a firmer grasp on sixth place in the National Hocky league standings and shoved Montreal deeper into the cellar by beating the Canadiens, 4 to 1, tonight before a crowd of 7,200.

Detroit moved in front with two second period scores. First Alex Motter beat Goalie Claude Bourque with a hard drive into the corner from fifteen feet out. Late in the period Hec Kilrea scored from close in, taking a double relay from Marty Barry and Syd Howe, to make it 2 to 0. Detroit's other goals came in quick succession to open the third period, the youthful line of Motter, Liscombe, and Pete Kelly scoring twice in less than three minutes.

Southern Methodist Quintet Invades Chicago

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

It was a joyous Christmas day as Southern Methodist university basketball players arrived in Union station yesterday for their game tonight with Loyola. Christmas carols were in order as the athletes entered into the spirit of the holiday season. Left to right: Capt. J. D. Norton, Wilbur Keith, Coach Forrest C. Baccus, Chelsea Crouch, Grover Keeton, J. W. Coppedge, and Mrs. Baccus, wife of the coach, singing carols. Second row: Guy Dougherty, Warren Lillard, Arvil Jones, Virgil Wilkerson, and Billy Dewell.

LOYOLA, S. M. U. QUINTETS WILL MEET TONIGHT

Games Tonight

Penn State vs. De Paul at 132d armory.

Southern Methodist vs. Loyola at 132d armory.

Ohio State at U. C. L. A.

The Mustangs from Southern Methodist and the Nittany Lions from Penn State will make their first basketball appearance in Chicago tonight, the former playing the Loyola Ramblers and the Lions meeting De Paul's Blue Demons. The games will be played in the Madison street armory, 2653 Madison street, in the second double header sponsored by the Chicago Intercollegiate Basketball association.

Close Contests Anticipated.

Although Loyola and Penn State appear the favorites in their respective games, two close contests are anticipated tonight. The Mustangs are one of the tallest college teams in the country, averaging approximately 6 feet, 3 inches in height. Two of their players, Captain Jim Norton, a forward, and Center Virgil Wilkerson, are regarded as two of the best scorers in the Southwest conference.

Coach Jim Lawther of Penn State will send virtually the same team against De Paul which won runnerup honors in 1937-1938 in the Eastern conference, trailing Temple. The team has played together three years, a factor which makes it one of the cleverest ball handling teams in the east. The Lions use a fast-break offense and a man-to-man defense.

De Paul Hasn't Hit Stride.

De Paul, in Coach Tom Haggerty's opinion, has one of the best teams in the history of the school, but the boys haven't hit their stride. They lost a close game to Purdue on the latter's floor and bowed to the University of Iowa last Monday because the Demons were unable to capitalize on free throws.

Loyola and Southern Methodist will play the first game tonight, starting at 8:15 o'clock.

A Lovelier, Livelier Sonja Captivates 14,000 in Stadium

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Sonja Henie and her company of 102 last night rounded out a Merry Christmas for 14,000 of her adorers with the merriest of all the popular shows she has brought to Chicago since the days when she was known entirely as the ten time world champion figure skater and the three time Olympic titleholder.

Since then, of course, millions of movie and ice carnival spectators have come to know her as one of the world's most lovable performers. But last night she reached new heights in her new show named, commonly enough, Hollywood Ice Revue.

Partner Idea Clicks.

The little lady who makes the turnstiles whiz last night performed as eagerly and pleasingly as ever. And she generously gave her brilliant supporting cast a greater chance than in some previous engagements here.

This broadening of scope included her first Chicago appearance with a male skating partner. The crowd noisily conveyed to her that her idea is a good one. Greatest applause of the colorful evening came during and after her number with Stewart Reburn, Canadian figure skating champion. Miss Henie and Mr. Reburn appeared in "Tango" and were able to bow themselves off the ice only after repeated encores.

The pair skated not only with charming grace, but through some timing maneuvers delighted the cheering spectators immeasurably.

Sonja Converts Skeptics.

The skeptics who used to opine that "when you've seen one ice carnival you have seen 'em all" quit right during that tango, after being softened in their cynicism by other innovations earlier in the show.

Sonja made five solo appearances. In "Liebestraum" and "The Swan" she conformed to her once favorite ballet style. But on other occasions she appeared in less serious moods. Some of these saw her skating the Lambeth Walk and other gaieties not featured in some of her four earlier carnival appearances here.

Sonja, of course, restrained herself from taking part in any of the comic scenes, but she let the funny skaters have several hilarious innings. The most riotious of the slam bang scenes was staged just before the big finale, by Jimmy Sisk and Bernard Lynam.

Another comedy skit, "The Merry Widow," knocked them out of their seats, as the saying goes. Mabel Jackson, a really robust lady, was the Merry Widow and Bert Clark, who is on the half-pint side, was Prince Danilo. The pair got a lot of fun out of Lehar's famous waltz. Clowning, but not too much clowning. The 14,000 loved it.

The spectacle winds up with a pretentious "Alice in Wonderland," in which Miss Henie, of course, is crowned "Queen Alice."

Comic Gets Hand.

The overture and four numbers were given before the Henie fans got their first glimpse at their heroine. Though they may have been impatient, they didn't show it in their reception of the earlier routines, all of which were in the lighter vein.

After the ladies and gentlemen of the ensemble, dressed in varied and pretty costumes, had been introduced in "Winter Fashions of 1939," four teams presented "Stompin' at the Savoy," seemed to get the folks in a rhythmic mood. Irving Gregg followed with one of those sprawling comic numbers, very well done, called "The Skating Lesson."

Still no Sonja as the members of the ensemble gave the Susi-Q, truckin', boogie walk, the rhumba, shag, and Lambeth walk.

But Sonja was next. Came down a slide, like the last time she was here, maybe in a prettier sled and certainly in as gorgeous a costume as heretofore. It doesn't make much difference. Sonja had arrived, in radiant health, and obviously eager to please all her friends.

Only One Encore.

In her first number Miss Henie contented herself with a few excerpts from her several movie successes. Only one encore for the customers this time, though goodness knows they asked for more.

"Change Partners," by five girls and ten boys, had the anti-climax spot immediately following Sonja's introduction, but got along all right.

No. 8 on the program was called "Tropic Fantasies." Not a very descriptive title, but wait till we tell you. Eight of the most beautiful, and lithe, ladies in the hall did the hula.

The entire production was constructed in Hollywood under direction of Arthur M. Wirtz, executive vice president of the Chicago Stadium corporation. Miss Henie's tours for the last two years have been directed by Mr. Wirtz.

Officials—Clarence Campbell and Norman Shay.

New York, Dec. 25.—(AP)—Christmas night was anything but a time of merrymaking for Chicago's Blackhawks. They came to town tied with the Americans for third place in the National Hocky league standings, but the New Yorkers refused to enter into the holiday spirit, pounding out a 5 to 1 victory and dropping the visitors to fourth place.

The game, witnessed by 13,416, was marked by frequent juggling of lines on the part of Manager Bill Stewart of the Blackhawks. Chicago avoided a shutout late in the first period when Paul Thompson scored on passes from Phil Besler and Baldy Northcott.

Penalties Are Costly.

Otherwise the game was largely a New York production with the Hawks attracting chief attention from the officials, who handed Joffre Desilets and Johnny Gottselig, the league's leading scorer, major penalties. Desilets was set down in the first period for slashing and Gottselig enjoyed a ten minute rest for arguing with Umpire Clarence Campbell in the third.

Nels Stewart scored twice for the Americans, Lorne Carr picked up two goals, and Johnny Sorrell accounted for the other.

Desilets drew an automatic major penalty for slashing Tommy Anderson early in the first period. Stewart soon followed him to the penalty box with a minor for interference and play slowed down until he returned.

The Americans scored in the ninth minute, Sorrell poking the puck past Karakas from about four feet out with LeRoy Goldsworthy and Art Jackson drawing assists.

Joe Jerwa was banished for charging Northcott and the Hawks attacked with five men up the ice, but Jerwa was back when Chicago tied the score, Thompson picking up a loose puck ten feet in front of the goal and slamming it past Earl Robertson. Besler and Northcott were given assists.

Schriner Starts A Play.

Schriner started the play that put the Americans ahead in the third minute of the second period. He passed to Chapman who relayed to Carr at center and the latter took his time with a long shot which beat Karakas cleanly.

Stewart was parked right in front of the net when Wiseman and Anderson pushed the puck through. He flipped it past Karakas to make the score 3 to 1.

Russ Blinco shot wide on one promising Hawk rush and Desilets hit the boards with another shot at the net. Gottselig was penalized for tripping and Manager Dutton put five forwards on the ice. Earl Seibert broke away for a hard drive at Robertson but a moment later the Americans made it 4 to 1 when Carr scored from close in on a pass from Schriner.

Karakas Stops at Hot One.

Karakas made a great save from Stewart when the latter broke through in the third period. The game slowed down considerably as the Americans, defending their lead, used defensive tactics and the Hawks seemed unable to get their attack into high gear.

Gottselig was penalized for holding and when he argued with Referee Campbell a ten minute misconduct penalty was added. Stewart scored the final goal on a pass from Schriner and Chapman.

2 EIGHT ROUND MATCHES HEAD MARIGOLD CARD

Cianciola and Patterson Are Rivals.

The fiftieth and last boxing show of the year will be held tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Tony Cianciola, Milwaukee star, and Verne Patterson, 1937 Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight champion, will meet in an eight round bout at 155 pounds.

It will be Cianciola's second appearance in the Marigold arena in one week. He scored a three round technical knockout over Eddie Meleski of the Catholic Youth organization last Monday. Patterson whipped Jimmy Sheppard of Peoria in his latest bout in White City Dec. 8. In earlier matches he knocked out Keith Graves, also of Peoria, Nov. 30; scored a draw with Dick Kist Nov. 14, and conquered Bob La Monte Nov. 4.

In the eight round secondary attraction Don Swenson, Minneapolis 138 pounder, has been substituted for Tito Taylor against Chico Romo of Los Angeles. Romo whipped Taylor Dec. 12 and Lorenzo Lovings Dec. 23 in earlier fights in this city. Frankie Kainrath, former Golden Gloves bantamweight titleholder, will be in quest of his ninth consecutive professional victory in a five round event against Eddie Lander of Franklin Park. Four round contests involve Pat Murphy, Danville, Ill., 152 pounder, and Alex Pug, and Tony Motisi, 145 pound stablemate of Kainrath, and Owen Woods.

Promoter Fred Kohler will offer a double windup to wrestling fans this evening in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Fritz von Schacht meets Bert Rubi, and Jack Hagen faces Misteree Mann. Each struggle is set for one fall with a one hour limit. Pierre La Belle is matched with Joe Dvorak, Tommy Mix with Babe Kasaboski, and Ken Fenlon with Roy Rickenbacher.

Casters! Here's Your Chance in Tribune Tests

BY BOB BECKER.

Fishermen, hunters, canoeists, campers, and others interested in the outdoors are making plans to compete in events at the international outdoor sportsmen's show in the International amphitheater Jan. 21 through Jan. 29. THE TRIBUNE will sponsor casting events and award handsome trophies to the winners of contests each day. There will be events for casting club groups and also for fishermen using regular fishing equipment. Lady casters and youngsters under 16 also will compete for trophies donated by THE TRIBUNE. Most of the competition will be for bait casters, but one night will be set aside for a dry fly accuracy event.

The schedule of casting events is as follows:

Saturday, Jan. 21—Casting platform open for practice.
Sunday, Jan. 22, 8:30 p. m.—Dry fly accuracy.
Monday, Jan. 23—Chicago Fly Casting club.
Tuesday, Jan. 24—Illinois Casting club.
Wednesday, Jan. 25—Lincoln Park Casting club.
Thursday, Jan. 26—Jackson Park Casting club.
Friday, Jan. 27—Ladies' casting event.
Saturday, Jan. 28, 3:30 p. m. — Children's event: 7 p. m.—Fishermen's event.
Sunday, Jan. 29, 3 p. m.—Finals for winners of events held during the week.

William J. Butler of the Shedd aquarium will manage the tournament and also have charge of assigning professional casters for exhibitions and instruction periods. At least eight well known bait casting and fly rod experts will take part in the exhibitions, including Tony Acetta, Stuart Pritchard, Cal Johnson, Chief Collier, Max Shannon, Harry Gephart Jr., Jack Reihl, and Doc Wellman.

Aside from the casting events there will be competition in indoor trap shotting, ski jumping, pistol and rifle shooting, table tennis, badminton, horse shoe pitching, archery, wood chopping, log sawing, and canoe tilting. There will also be a dog show for all sporting breeds, a puppy match for pups less than a year old, and a retriever trial.

Young Is Voted Big Ten's Leading Athlete for 1938

Jewell Young, Purdue star who hung up an all-time basketball scoring record for the Western conference last winter, was named the outstanding athlete in the conference during 1938 in a poll of sports writers, coaches and officials conducted by the Associated Press.

Young won the honor, given last year to Indian's famed Don Lash, after a close contest with Ralph Heikkinen, Michigan's football guard.

The Boilermaker was practically unstoppable on the court for two straight seasons. His 172 points was a new Big Ten record in the 1936-'37 season. Last winter he got sixty-nine field goals and forty-six free throws for another new mark, 184 points.

Heikkinen, a great analyst of plays and a standout in Michigan's strong 1938 line, was followed in the voting by another Michigan star, Bill Watson, the colored track star who won three firsts and a third place in the conference outdoor meet in Columbus. Next in line was Howard Weiss, Wisconsin full back, followed by another Wisconsin star, Charles Fenske, brilliant mile runner.

Also prominent in the balloting were Al Patnik, Ohio State's champion diver. Joe Mihal, Purdue's fine all-around athlete and student; John Townsend, Michigan; Edwin Prasse, Iowa and Bob Voigts, of Northwestern.

Marquart Will Renew Drills for Roth Today

Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, Man., lightweight puncher, will go back to Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon to resume his study of ways to defeat Al Roth in a ten round bout in the Coliseum Thursday.

Marquart, whose winning spree was interrupted recently, hopes to redeem himself at the expense of his New York opponent.

With this thought in mind Marquart will box five rounds today with two partners. Bill conducted himself especially well before his embarrassment suffered at the hands of Mickey McIntyre, Dec. 14. He had scored four triumphs in a row, his victims being Hank Pershing, whom he knocked out in two rounds Dec. 5; Orville Drouillard, technical knockout in one, Nov. 18; Wally Hally, decision in ten rounds, Oct. 21, and Lloyd Pine, decision in eight rounds, July 6.

His 25th Victory.

The Pershing conquest was Billy's twenty-fifth triumph in twenty-eight starts.

Roth whipped Young Chappie in New York, Dec. 17. Since the victory over Day Roth has had twenty-six fights. Of these he won fourteen, five by knockouts, scored three draws, and lost nine decisions.

Roth's victims include Bat Battalino, Red Cochrane, Irish Eddie Brink, Pete Mascia, Joe Marciente, Bus Breese, Chang Collura, and Jack Lyden.

Rodak to Meet Efrati.

Other contestants also will return to action today. Among them will be Leo Rodak and Leone Efrati, junior lightweight opponents; Johnny Barbara and Harold Brown, welterweight foes; Verle Davis and Babe Sabino, lightweight rivals, and Frankie [Kid] Covelli, Brooklyn featherweight who meets Al Mancini.

Roth and Mancini will arrive from New York tomorrow. F. M.

C. Y. O. Hocky Team Defeats Planerts, 4-1

The C. Y. O. Shamrocks dealt the Planerts a 4 to 1 defeat in the first game of a hocky double-header in the Arena yesterday. The Hornets and Pepsi-Cola teams, for the second time this season, ended their game in an overtime tie. The score was 1 to 1.

Ray Thormen, Wilbert Savela and Frank Grossman did the scoring for the C. Y. O., Grossman's two goals giving him the lead in the race for scoring honors. Milt Howie made the Planerts' only goal.

The first score in the Hornet-Pepsi-Cola game came late in the second period when John Catherwood of the Hornets connected on an unassisted play. Pepsi-Cola made the tying goal midway in the third period, Stan Evoy scoring on assists by Jeff and Stelle Dorffi. Lineups:

CHICAGO ALUMNI OF PENNSYLVANIA TOHONOR MUNGER

Chicago alumni of the University of Pennsylvania will hold a luncheon in the Union League club on Wednesday to honor George Munger, head football coach, and Rae Crouther, line coach.

Munger, one of the youngest coaches of university football in America, and Crouther will be in Chicago to attend the annual meeting of the American Football Coaches association.

Dr. William E. Lingelbach and Dr. Edward P. Cheney of the history department of the University of Pennsylvania also will be honored. Dr. Lingelbach and Dr. Cheney will be in Chicago to attend a meeting of the American Historical association.

National Junior Tennis Tourney Starts Today

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—The twenty-third national junior indoor tennis tournament will start tomorrow morning in the Seventh Regiment armory with a record field of ninety-seven entries. Joseph Fishbach, defending champion, heads the seeded list. Fishbach will meet Burton Hellman in his first round match. Seymour Greenberg follows Fishbach in the seeded list.

Bonura Enjoys a Last Laugh as Best Fielder

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Zeke Bonura gets kicked around from one team to another but you can't keep the bulky New Orleans Italian out of the public prints. Zeke, traded less than ten days ago by Washington to the New York Giants, is back in the headlines this morning as the peer of all the first basemen who performed in the American league last season.

The league's official fielding averages disclose that Zeke, playing in 129 games with the Senators, had an average of .993, and while defensive figures are deceptive, there are other ways of showing that Bonura must be better than contended by the critics. He played nineteen fewer games than Hal Trosky of Cleveland and George McQuinn of the Browns, but excelled them in total chances handled. This makes the third time Zeke has been at the head of his class.

Tigers Best Among Teams.

Detroit's Tigers, for the fifth consecutive year, lead the league in team fielding but their defensive ability apparently didn't help them in the won and lost column—they finished in fourth place. The poor Yankees, who won their third straight pennant and third straight world series, were fourth as a fielding team, but handled more chances than any of the other entrants. The White Sox, excused because of injuries, fielded themselves into seventh place, only two points ahead of the Athletics, who are accustomed to tail-end honors.

Nineteen pitchers who were in thirteen or more games went through the campaign without an error, but more important than this is that Ted Lyons, the White Sox perennial, actually committed one fielding blunder. This one slip meant something only because the Louisiana bachelor, even at this late stage in his baseball life, still rates high on his defensive ability. Ted erred in the game of June 18, his first mistake since Aug. 5, 1934. During the interval he took care of 172 chances.

Gehringer Suffers Slump.

Charley Gehringer of the Tigers was No. 1 among the second basemen in 1937, but he experienced somewhat of a percentage slump during the last race. He finished second to Buddy Myer of Washington. Joe Gordon, the Yankee whose second base skill can't be questioned, was so far down that he was close to the bottom notch, which was occupied by Boze Berger, recently traded by the White Sox to Boston for Eric McNair.

A league record for plays at shortstop was established by Frankie Crosetti, another of the Yankee stalwarts. He was a participant in 120 double killings, a total which erased by one the record set up by Luke Appling of the White Sox in 1936. Lou Gehrig was in on most of the Crosetti double plays, so he, too, set a mark of 157 for first basemen. The previous mark of 150 was held by Joe Kuhel and Bonura, who traded places last spring.

CROWLEY AND HIS GANG BEWILDER MORE FRENCHMEN

BORDEAUX, France, Dec. 25—(AP)—The American football squad closed its demonstrations today with a Christmas day exhibition game won by the All-Stars, 37 to 34, before 6,000 bewildered Frenchmen in Bordeaux municipal stadium.

The teams, All-Stars and New York, will leave tomorrow for Paris and will proceed back to New York from there. Coach Jimmy Crowley and 24 players make up the squad.

Father of Carl Hubbell Dies in Meeker, Okla.

Meeker, Okla., Dec. 25.—(AP)—George Owen Hubbell, 69, father of Carl Hubbell, New York Giants' pitcher, died today of an intestinal disorder. Funeral services were planned tentatively for Tuesday. Six other sons and a daughter survive.

Atlantic City Hockey Team Beats Rover Sextet, 2 to 1

New York, Dec. 25.—(AP)—Two goals scored midway through the second period gave the Atlantic City Sea Gulls a 2 to 1 victory over the New York Rovers in an Eastern Amateur league hockey game today. A crowd of 8,164 saw the game in Madison Square Garden.

Fenger Ready for Game with Texans Today

Waco, Tex., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—A stiff workout on the Municipal stadium gridiron following the long ride to Waco today had the Fenger High school football team of Chicago in trim shape to meet Waco's Tigers tomorrow afternoon.

In spite of drizzling rain during the early morning the weather man predicted a clear sky for the game. That means from 10,000 to 15,000 fans from all parts of central Texas will attend.

Waco, coached by Paul Tyson, has devoted most of its time this week to pass defense. The Tigers suspect Fenger will strike frequently through the air.

More than 500 greeted Coach Chuck Palmer and the Fenger team at Katy station upon their arrival yesterday afternoon. After a parade up main street, led by the Waco High school band, the Chicagoans went to their hotel and after a short rest, took their first workout.

Don Griffin, Fenger star, is receiving much attention. It is believed he can outrun and outkick any high school player in this part of Texas. The lineups:

California Is Favorite Over Ga. Tech Today

Berkeley, Cal., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Georgia Tech and the University of California will close the 1938 collegiate football schedule tomorrow in a game expected to attract 25,000. The game has no particular significance other than to complete a home and home series.

In the last contest, in 1936, an overconfident California team journeyed to Atlanta, losing 13 to 7. In 1937 California went to the Rose Bowl, so the Tech game was postponed.

They've played four contests to date, each winning two. Each time California lined up as the favorite. The same situation prevails this time. The Bears, much to the embarrassment of Coach Leonard Allison, have been made 2½ to 1 favorites mainly because they have lost only one game.

Coach Bill Alexander, who has been connected with Georgia Tech football for 26 years, has led Tech to three victories, three defeats and tied three games, but those who know say it is much stronger than its record would indicate.

Both elevens have competent aerial games, Tech operating from an unbalanced line. California probably has the most powerful ground attack. Probable lineups:

GEORGIA TECH.		CALIFORNIA.
Allen	L. E.	Reginato
Cushing	L. T.	Lang
J. Anderson	L. G.	Rosso
Chivington	C.	Breeden
Brooks	R. G.	Willson

SEMI-PROS SIGN FOR WORLD SERIES WITH PORTO RICO

Wichita, Kas., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Raymond Dumont, president of the National semi-pro baseball congress, announced today he had signed a contract with Teofilo Maldonado, Porto Rican commissioner of athletics, for the first semi-pro world series—a four-out-of-seven-game play-off at Mayaguez, P. R., starting Sept. 6, 1939.

United States and Porto Rican champions will meet in the series.

The United States champion will be determined at the national tournament here Aug. 11 to 23. The Porto Rican championship will be decided in eliminations to end March 15.

Dumont said the United States champion would receive a minimum guarantee of $5,000 plus expenses and a share in gross receipts of which 20 per cent will go to the winner and 15 per cent to the loser.

Fox Opposes Michelob in North End League Match

The North End Traveling Bowling league will roll its regular schedule of matches tonight with the Fox-Michelob match on the North Town alleys topping the card. The schedule:

Kruse vs. Pepsi-Colas at the Milford.
Birks vs. Farwals at Sportsmen's Recreation.
Fox De Luxe vs. Michelobs at the North Town.
Sid and Mikes vs. Gills at the Gold Coast.
Samuelsons vs. Keeleys at Stack and Ryan.

STARS OF SPORT MEET IN SUGAR BOWL CARNIVAL

Carnegie, T. C. U. Teams Face Final Week's Work.

New Orleans, Dec. 25.—(AP)—Sailors, oarsmen and boxers, will open New Orleans' mid-winter calendar of sports tomorrow.

They were the first performers of the week of events sponsored by the New Orleans Mid-winter Sports association which will come to a climax Jan. 2 with the Sugar Bowl football games between the Carnegie Tech and the Texas Christian elevens.

The teams have been hard at work at Bay St. Louis, Miss., and Fort Worth, Tex., respectively, training for their contest.

By contrast, the sailors merely will go out to Lake Pontchartrain, climb into their boats and sail.

Eleven Events Planned.

There will be eleven events, for cutters, schooner yachts, 21-foot cabin sloops, both marconi and gaff-rigged, star class sloops, gulf one-design sloops, auxiliary sloops, yawls, fish class boats, and classes A and B knockabout sloops.

The fish class race will be the feature, with Robert Brodie of the Biloxi, Miss., yacht club defending the title he won last year.

The sailing competition will be preceded by a rowing race, over a mile and a quarter course in the new basin canal, between the four-oared shell crews of the Orleans rowing club and Rollins college of Winter Park, Fla.

Boxing Winds Up Day.

Tomorrow's program will end with boxing matches in Municipal auditorium between fighters of Clemson college, of Clemson, S. C., champions of the Southern conference, and Loyola University of New Orleans. There are amateur champions on both squads.

Tuesday will be a rest day in the Sugar Bowl calendar. A four-day tennis tournament with nationally ranked stars opens Wednesday, and that night there will be a basketball game between Arkansas, Southwestern conference champion, and Purdue, big ten titleholder.

On Sunday there will be a track meet featuring such stars as Glenn Cunningham, Don Lash, Allan Tolmich, Joe McCluskey, Chuck Fenske and Blaine Rideout.

All events are amateur, with trophies awarded winners. However Tech and T.C.U. will each receive 37½ percent of the receipts from an expected crowd of 50,000 in Tulane stadium. The Mid-winter Sports association, a non-profit organization of local business men, will keep the remaining net proceeds for promotional expenses.

DUKE AND U. S. C. REST

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 25.—(AP)—The Yuletide spirit hit the rival Rose Bowl football camps of Duke and the University of Southern California today with Santa Claus packing the sock of the U. S. C. team an extra pleasant surprise.

Tony Tonelli, the 200 pound right guard from Thomas, West Virginia, was restored to the Trojan eleven fully recovered from a knee injury.

It had been feared Tonelli, a senior, would miss the game with Duke Jan. 2.

Christmas day was spent quietly in both quarters. The Duke players surrounded by fans who accompanied them west from Durham, N. C., were honor guests at an informal party in their hotel, and the Trojans spent a similar uneventful day in nearby Los Angeles.

SOONERS GO SOUTH

Norman, Okla., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Members of the University of Oklahoma football squad plucked gold footballs from their Christmas tree today and headed toward Miami, Fla., where they meet Tennessee's unbeaten volunteers in the Orange Bowl, Jan. 2.

The trophies were presented at a Christmas party. Squad members gathered in the fieldhouse in the forenoon. After exchanging gifts, they worked out for the last time on their home field and then ate Christmas dinner together. Head coach Tom Stidham, properly attired, played Santa Claus at the party.

Coach Stidham, still gloomy over the fact three of his top hands will be out of the Orange Bowl game because of injuries, had little to say after the one hour practice, but admitted the boys looked pretty good.

STARS KEEP BUSY

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 25.—(AP)—College football stars from the east and west, who will meet in the charity game here Jan. 2, mixed brisk workouts today with their Christmas celebrations.

The eastern players, training in Berkeley, put in a two hour session running through signals, adding new formations and perfecting their passing game.

The drill indicated the squad will rely strongly on passes with John Pingel of Michigan State handling the bulk of the work while he is in the game. Howard Weiss, Wisconsin full back, was praised by Coach Andy Kerr, who said the Big Ten conference star was one of the most powerful plungers he had ever seen.

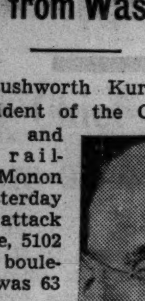
In Palo Alto, the western squad pounded through two and one-half hours of routine before tackling a huge Christmas dinner. Coach Orin Hollingbery, searching for kicking talent, discovered he had four great punters—Billy Patterson of Baylor, Bill Paulman of Stanford, Al Bragg of San Francisco and Jimmy Johnston of Washington.

Although no attempt has been made to select a starting eleven, the most important back field duties will be shared by Patterson and Vic Bottari. Each will run the team when in the game, playing at left half back and do most of the passing.

H. R. KURRIE DIES; PRESIDENT OF THE MONON 24 YEARS

Heart Attack Is Fatal on Return from Washington

Harry Rushworth Kurrie, for 24 years president of the Chicago, Indianapolis, and Louisville railroad—the Monon—died yesterday of a heart attack in his home, 5102 Hyde Park boulevard. He was 63 years old.



Harry R. Kurrie.

Mr. Kurrie returned from Washington, D. C., Saturday. He complained of illness and retired. In the morning a physician was called, but he died soon afterward. His widow, Mrs. Henrietta Brunt Kurrie, and son, Thompson, were with him. A second son, Harry Jr., was spending Christmas in Fort Wayne, Ind.

President at Age of 39.

Mr. Kurrie became president of the Monon in 1914 when he was 39, the youngest railroad president in the country at that time.

He was born on a farm near Paoli, Ind. He was graduated from the Indiana university law school in 1895 and began his practice in Rensselaer, Ind. He became assistant general counsel of the railroad in 1902 and was promoted to general counsel in 1910.

In 1935 he became co-trustee. His clubs included the Chicago, Union league, and South Shore Country club.

Funeral Services Tomorrow.

Mr. Kurrie married Edna Thompson of Rensselaer, in 1909. She died in 1919. He married the present Mrs. Kurrie, a Chicagoan, in 1920.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. in the chapel at Michigan avenue at 18th street with burial in Rensselaer.

FILIPINO BAD MAN GIVES UP AFTER A 72 HOUR ESCAPADE

MANILA, Dec. 26.—[Monday.]—(AP)—The No. 1 "bad man" of the Philippines, Anselmo Balagtas, calmly surrendered at constabulary headquarters here today after a 72-hour escapade in which an innocent man was killed when mistaken for the desperado.

Balagtas, sentenced to life imprisonment for killing W. W. Gibson, navy radio man, last August, escaped Thursday from two guards while being taken to Bilibid prison to serve his sentence. The guards said they allowed him, on his promise as "a gentleman," not to attempt escape, to go into a saloon and buy a glass of beer. Balagtas left the saloon by the rear door. He had vowed to kill seven men who helped prosecute him.

On surrendering Balagtas said he had stayed in the house of a friend on the outskirts of Manila.

LAUNDRY THIEF'S STORY ALL COMES OUT IN THE WASH

Bruce Syne, 25 years old, who gave his address as 902 Leland avenue, had a simple explanation for the three Town Hall policemen who caught him in the James Hand laundry, 948 Leland avenue, yesterday. He admitted he had broken a transom to gain entrance, but insisted that all he was after was his laundry. In fact, he said, he was just looking over the tags trying to find his name when the police interrupted him. Policemen Frank Mudloff, Eddie Kane and Tom Benn didn't like to doubt Syne's story, what with it being Christmas day, but by the time they reached the station the Christmas spirit had Syne too. He had no laundry, he said, a little sadly.

3 PERSONS DIE, 4 ARE INJURED IN HOME BLAST

Kinsley, Kas., Dec. 25—(AP)—Christmas dawn brought death to two children and their mother and injuries to four other persons when an explosion wrecked the home of Mrs. Lillie Riley, where a family group had assembled to await Santa Claus.

The dead were Mrs. Dewitt Craft and her two sons, John, 15 years old, and Rufus, 3½ years old. Mrs. Riley, grandmother of the boys, her daughter, Miss Sarah Riley, and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Riley, suffered serious burns.

Relatives an dneighbors said a water heater exploded in the basement.

Harry Myers, 56, Comedian of Silent Films, Is Dead

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Harry Myers, 56 years old, a film comedian who rose to prominence in silent pictures, died today of pneumonia. He had been ill three days. Myers and his widow, Rosemary Theby, were among the screen's early players. The actor was best known for his portrayal in the star rôle of "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" and that of a man about town in Charlie Chaplin's "City Lights."

Sarah Bryan, 92, Pioneer School Teacher, Is Dead

Tuscola, Ill., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Sarah E. Bryan, who celebrated her 92d birthday Oct. 16, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Samuel [illegible], 5 miles northwest of Tuscola, Christmas eve. She came with her parents from Indiana to Illinois in 1861, became a school teacher and was an early friend of Uncle Joe Cannon.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Frances A. Terry.

Mrs. Frances Atchinson Terry, 97 years old, widow of Dr. Milton S. Terry of the Garrett Biblical institute and mother of Prof. Arthur Guy Terry of the Northwestern university history department, died yesterday in her home at 624 Clark street, Evanston. A daughter, Minnie Ruth, also survives. Mrs. Terry was born in Hamden, N. Y., and had lived in Evanston for the last 54 years. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the Methodist church, with burial in Rosehill cemetery.

Karel Capek.

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Dec. 25—(AP)—Karl Capek, Czecho-Slovak author and journalist, died tonight of pneumonia. He was 48 years old. Capek was a close friend of the late Thomas G. Masaryk, first president of the republic. One of his books, "Talks with T. G. M.," presented an interesting word picture of Masaryk. Two of Capek's dramas, "R. U. R." and "White Sickness," were produced on the London stage.

Mrs. Edwina Booth Crossman.

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Edwina Booth Crossman, 77 years old, only daughter of Edwin Booth, died today at the home of her son, Edwin Booth Crossman. It was to Mrs. Crossman that Edwin Booth, in 1888, gave the first recording of his voice. Members of the family were not certain whether these rare discs, of fragile construction at that date, are still in existence.

Dr. E. J. Higgins.

Funeral services for Dr. E. J. Higgins, 67 years old, health commissioner of Joliet for the last twenty-one years, will be held at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow in St. Raymond's Roman Catholic church, Joliet. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery. Dr. Higgins, who lived at 306 North Raynor avenue, Joliet, died Friday night. His wife, Mary, and son, Robert, an attorney, survive.

Merrick A. Richardson.

Merrick Arthur Richardson, president of the Inland White Lead company, died yesterday after a brief illness at Miami, Fla. He had gone there about a month ago to spend the winter. Mr. Richardson, who was 67 years old, lived at 925 Keystone avenue, River Forest. He leaves the widow, Jessie, and three children, Jean, Marvin A., and Willard H. Services will be at Miami tomorrow.

Marshall Scott Collingwood.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Marshall Scott Collingwood, treasurer of the trustees of the Presbyterian board of publication and sabbath school work, died at his home here today at the age of 73.

ECCLES LASHES BYRD'S PLEA TO CUT U. S. COSTS

Reserve Chief Pats Spenders on Back.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the federal reserve board, said tonight that sudden and drastic curtailment of federal spending would reverse the recovery trend. Such a move, he added, would "jeopardize the salvation of our democracy."

Marriner S. Eccles.

In a public letter to Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] he strongly opposed the retrenchment program which Byrd outlined recently in an address at Boston, Mass.

Denying that the Roosevelt administration's expenditures represented waste, Eccles said they had increased the nation's income and its assets. He criticized Byrd for "name calling" and "intemperate denunciation."

Opposes Substituting Dole.

The federal reserve chairman opposed the substitution of a system of relief doles for the more costly work relief which the government now provides for the unemployed.

He wrote Byrd:

"You assert that 'millions of able-bodied citizens rely upon the government for support and have ceased to exert their efforts for self help to obtain private employment.' So far as I know, there is not the slightest evidence to support such a sweeping assertion.

"You stated that you are concerned about 'the character of the individual citizen' and 'the dignity and the rights of the individuals.' So am I.

Backs "Right to Work."

"I believe, however, that the most basic right of all is the right to live, and next to that, the right to work. I do not think empty stomachs build character.

"We cannot expect to preserve our free institutions in this country if we condemn a substantial proportion of our people to prolonged idleness on a bare subsistence level of existence."

In his recent address before the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' associations, Senator Byrd demanded an end to "nine years of fiscal insanity."

Byrd to Make Reply.

Berryville, Va., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Senator Harry F. Byrd said at his home here tonight he probably would answer "on the floor of the senate" a letter from Marriner S. Eccles.

Steel Industry Slackens; Ready to Take Inventory

The steel industry last week cut production 6 points to 52 per cent of capacity, the magazine Steel said yesterday. It attributed reduction to the holiday season and preparations for inventory taking. The production of ingot steel in 1939 will be 40 per cent larger than this year, the journal predicted.

BUSINESS SHOWS FURTHER UPTURN IN MIDDLE WEST

Business conditions in the seventh federal reserve district continue to improve, according to H. P. Preston, first vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago. Preston predicted yesterday that December retail trade in the district will approach, if not equal, that of the corresponding month last year.

"There was a 5 per cent increase in November over October in 7th district department store trade, the gain comparing with a recession in the 1928-'37 average for the month," Preston said.

"The margin of decline from last year was narrowed to only 5 per cent, and preliminary data for December indicate that the decrease for that month from the 1937 period will be even smaller, if not eliminated."

Preston said production of automobiles in the district has continued to expand.

Great Western's November Revenues Exceed Year Ago

The Chicago Great Western railroad yesterday reported net railway operating income of $209,607 for November, compared with $128,741 in November, 1937.

Investors' Guide

Bond Coupons.

Investors' Guide: My coupon bond carries attached coupons that say payment will be made "on the first day of January." Does this mean that the coupons must be submitted on this exact date or could they be held indefinitly and the cash still be obtained? May they be sent to the trustee by ordinary mail or would registered mail be the safest method?

F. C. H.

Answer: Your coupons may be submitted for payment any time after the due date, but it is to your advantage to cash them at once. The money due you does not draw interest while in the hands of the trustee.

If you send bond coupons to the trustee for payment you should by all means use registered mail.

Bond Commissions.

Investors' Guide: What are the commission rates for buying bonds listed on the New York Stock exchange? Is there a minimum fee? I bought a $100 bond for $97 and had to pay $5 commission. This seemed pretty steep to me. Do bonds sell in "odd lots," the same as stocks?

A. G. T.

Answer: Bond commissions are usually quoted in terms of a $1,000 face value bond. If the bond is selling for 10 cents or more on the dollar, the rate is $2.50; if from 1 to 10 cents on the dollar, it is $1.25; and if less than 1 cent on the dollar, 75 cents is charged.

Some brokerage houses do have minimum charges per transaction. A flat fee of $1 on a $100 face value bond transaction is commonly used. The fee of $5 which you had to pay is exorbitant. The term "odd lots" is not applied to bonds.

Fruit of the Loom, Inc.

Investors' Guide: What is the business of the company called Fruit of the Loom, Inc? Where is it located?

G. R.

Answer: Fruit of the Loom, Inc., is engaged in converting and finishing cotton fabrics. It closed its cotton spinning mills in 1935 and has been liquidating them since that time. The finishing plant is at Pontiac, R. I.

Investors' Guide: I should think stocks of air lines would have a bright future. What about Seaboard Air Line, listed on the New York Stock exchange?—B. O. H.

Answer: The full name of this company is the Seaboard Air Line railway company. It is a railroad and operates no air lines. Its name actually antedates the Wright brothers' invention by several years.

U. S. MAY SEEK 750 MILLION FOR FARM BENEFITS

Wallace Will Push Processing Tax.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—(AP)—Administration farm leaders said today that unless agricultural prices improve in the next few months the new congress probably will be asked to apropriate at least $750,000,000 for benefit payments to farmers for the 1940 crop year.

Subsidies which congress appropriated for the 1939 season totaled $762,000,000, the largest amount ever made available for a single year.

Agriculture department officials said it will be necessary to have an appropriation of at least three-quarters of a billion dollars to obtain farmer compliance with production programs.

Some officials said they believed considerably more than $750,000,000 would be requested.

It was emphasized, however, that the department would not decide on an estimate of subsidy needs for several weeks. It was indicated administration farm leaders will concentrate during the early part of the session on efforts to win support for recommendations of Secretary Wallace that processing taxes be reënacted to provide a permanent source of revenue for benefit payments.

Opponents of processing taxes contend they place a burden on consumers and serve to impede expansion in the textile industry.

Lumber Orders in Week 40 Pct. Above Year Ago

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—(AP)—The National Lumber Manufacturers association said today new orders in the week ended Dec. 17 were 40 per cent above bookings in the corresponding week of 1937.

Everyday Economics

Trucking Industry—2.

The motor truck transport industry consists of two general divisions. One is the for hire section. The other is the private carriers group. Together they put about $400,000,000 a year into governmental coffers in special taxes.

The for hire section is made up of 61,000 operators of a total of 188,000 trucks. They do an annual business of half a billion dollars. Of these, 5,000 operate in interstate commerce, and 10,000 are intrastate. The rest are local. Thousands of them are one truck companies, in which the owner is manager, driver, freight clerk, and dispatcher.

In the early days of the industry a down payment on a truck was usually enough to start in business. Public highways were available, and operators paid something for highway maintenance expenses in taxes. Unlike the railroads, truckers were not required to build their own right of way. There was little or no state regulation. Nothing regulated interstate commerce until the federal motor carrier act was passed. Forty-two states and the District of Columbia now regulate intrastate and intracity commercial trucking operations.

When the government took over the railroads during the war priority orders for government work were given preference over private shipping. This proved a help to the trucking industry. It resulted, however, in a scramble for business and price cutting was widespread. Fatalities were high. In the years before 1935 about 38 per cent of all for hire operations in half the states were conducted at a loss.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

Nature's Scene Shifts

December 25, 1938.

REAL winter weather hit the DuPage county farm yesterday. The early morning snowstorm set the stage for Christmas. Nature's scenery shifters dropped mysterious lace curtains of white, gray, and brown across the woods. All the trees are decorated with snow.

There are signs of winter all over the farm. The heavy snow, splattered like pulp, stuck to the southwest side of the tree trunks and piled up an inch thick on the branches. When the sun peeks from behind the clouds the snow covered twigs glisten under natural domes formed by the arched branches of oaks and elms.

Bare plowed fields are now covered with white snow. Snow covered stubble and weed fields are tinted with shades of brown. The snow is so damp that it has drifted little.

Tame and wild animals and fowl apparently welcomed the snow. When the horses were turned out of the stables yesterday morning they snorted excitedly when they found the pastures covered with snow. They pawed back the snow and nuzzled their noses deep into the bluegrass to find frosty green blades.

Steers Curious, Too.

The steers were curious about the snow, too. They left their warm barn to stand out in the feed yard where the snow covered their backs.

When the guineas came off their roost early yesterday morning they decided it was time to try out their dependable foot warmers. At the barn a half dozen of the spotted potracks had their toes dug deep into the wool on the backs of ewes. For hours they sat on the backs of sheep contentedly picking away at the seed and chaff collected on the fleeces.

The flat footed muscovy ducks marched down back of the orchard to make fresh tracks in the snow. But all outdoors seemed spooky to these red faced clowns and with a medley of quacks they flapped their wings, sailed high into the air and back to their favorite roosting place near the barn. Each duck "dusted" off a spot on a flat topped fence and settled down for a round of straightening feathers.

Rabbits Live in Igloos.

Down in the thickets in the timber, rabbits were found in their grassy nests waiting for the snow to cover them. Each rabbit has his own miniature igloo. Many of them are so secretly tucked under the grass and leaves and snow that dogs have difficulty routing them out. Their tracks are covered with fresh snow and the trail is cold. Men at the farm sometimes find that rabbits stay under the snow for several days with only a small spot melted away immediately above their heads.

Bare spots under dense bushes furnish ideal gathering places for birds. All day yesterday the birds chirped their Christmas carols and this morning found that Santa Claus had left each one a present—tasty mixtures of seeds and grains scattered around the feeding stations near their natural shelters.

REPUTATION

There is an old saying in our business that "A Used Car usually is no better than the dealer from whom you buy it."

We don't say that Community Motors is the only place where you can buy a good used car. We know there are a lot of other good, reliable dealers in Chicago.

BUT we do say that for twenty years Community Motors has served Chicago people faithfully by selling them dependable used car transportation at prices that are right, and our business has grown and prospered because of this.

It will pay you to visit any one of our neighborhood branches listed below, to find out what we mean by Community "Re-Newed" Good-Will Used Cars.

We urge you to get acquainted with Community Motors, just as thousands of other satisfied buyers have done.

HERE ARE JUST A FEW EXAMPLES OF THE TYPICAL EXCEPTIONAL VALUES WE ARE OFFERING FOR SALE.

Local Loan Gives You the Service You Want

Most of our loans are to employed men and women on their signatures only. LOCAL LOAN originated and perfected this service because the great body of employed people —young or old and regardless of occupation —are entitled to a simplified loan method.

Our aim is to offer you whatever plan will enable you to borrow most easily. LOCAL LOAN makes liberal Furniture and Auto Loans, but if you are steadily employed we prefer to make you a loan on your signature only. You may borrow

SALARY LOANS

On Your Signature Only

WITHOUT CO-MAKERS OR ENDORSERS.

You may make your own repayment terms [repaying any time within 20 months] and you are charged only for the actual time you have the money. Service does not stop when the loan is made. If an extension is necessary just speak to the cashier or manager and your request will be promptly handled.

We cannot tell you all about our service in our advertisement. Just phone one of the following offices. Your loan request can be taken over the telephone so you can obtain the money more quickly when you call in person.
